

THE MURDERER MAKES HIS ESCAPE

HEAD OF ONE MAN IS SEVERED FROM BODY WITH AN AXE

Officers Throughout This Section Are Keeping a Close Watch for the Fugitive

Further details of the murder of the two Newell boys were received here today by Sheriff Barnes, and they would indicate that the crime was one of the most horrible in the criminal annals of the state. When the report first reached Lakeview it was presumed that the crime had been committed yesterday. The indications now are that the murder was committed one or more days before the authorities learned of it.

Dick Harrold, more generally known by the nickname of "Bolliver," is the name of the herder who committed the crime. He was employed by the Newells in the capacity of herder of a band of sheep owned by the boys. No information is available as to the trouble that led up to the killing, but the belief is gaining ground that the murderer was either crazy drunk or insane at the time he killed the two men. The information in possession of Sheriff Barnes leads to the belief that an attempt was made to hide the bodies, as they were found a considerable distance apart. Nothing will be known until the man is apprehended and he makes a confession to the authorities.

The Newell boys were known throughout Eastern Klamath and Lake counties as young men of exemplary habits. They were aged 20 and 23 years respectively, and have always borne an excellent reputation. They were owners of about 3,000 head of sheep, the nucleus of which was formed by the boys purchasing with their pin money a few lambs at a time. This practice was continued until they finally increased the band to its present proportions. Throughout Lake county the keenest sympathy is manifested, for wherever the boys were known they had friends.

The sheriff's office was notified this morning that a man answering the description of Harrold stopped at the Welch home in Langell Valley, but Mr. Barnes does not think it can possibly be the man wanted, as he would not have had time to reach that point. A close watch will be kept, and every clew investigated.

FIRE CONSUMES SIX BLOCKS ON SEATTLE'S WATER FRONT

No Lives Were Lost, and Spread of Fire Was Due to Thirty-Five Mile Gale

United Press Service.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 11.—Six blocks are in ruins and fifty persons are missing as the result of a fire on Seattle's water front. It is not believed that many, if any, are dead. The spread of the fire was due to a thirty-five mile gale that was blowing when the flames broke out. The firemen were helpless until a heavy fall of rain came and aided them in conquering the fire. The fire threatened North Seattle for a time. The loss will be close to $1,000,000. The refugees have been quartered in the school house.

SEATTLE, June 11.—All of the missing have been accounted for. Two firemen were seriously injured by flying timbers, but they are not in a dangerous condition. As a result of the conflagration 300 are homeless.

PULLMAN COMPANY MUST REDUCE UPPER BERTH CHARGES

Federal Court Decides Is Amenable to the Commerce Commission

United Press Service.

CHICAGO, June 11.—The Federal circuit court this afternoon unanimously refused the injunction asked for by the Pullman Palace Car company to restrain the Interstate Commerce commission from ordering a reduction of the rate charged for upper berths. The court decided that the company was engaged in interstate business, and was therefore under the control of the Commerce Commission. It rejected the plea that the company simply operated hotels on wheels, and said that the testimony showed that the upper berths were less desirable than the lower ones.

MEXICAN WAY WITH DOGS

The City of Mexico has a law, almost a century old, requiring storekeepers and business men in general to keep pans of fresh water in the doorways of their business establishments for the relief of dogs. The law was secured through the efforts of the kind-hearted women of the city, and in consequence Mexico City never has a mad dog "scare," and hydrophobia is unknown and muzzles are unnecessary. In enlightened New England, in sharp contrast with "barbarous Mexico," when and where is provision made for man's best friend, the dog?

Only a small proportion of the public drinking fountains are so constructed that dogs can drink from them, and the thirsty dog must wander disconsolately about until his sufferings become so acute that he is pronounced mad, and the usual tragedy is the result. The matter is one that can be regulated without the aid of law. Let the householder spare a thought for the dog as well as for the horse. A pan of water near the house will soon attract attention and may be the means of preventing another one of those "scares" which speak so ill for public common sense.—Haverhill Gazette.

WOMEN'S CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

No Meeting Will Be Held for Three Months—Substantial Success of This Worthy Institution

The Women's Library club, which suspends its regular sessions for three months during the heated term, held the last meeting of the club Friday afternoon. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Rounsevell; vice-president, Mrs. Leavitt; secretary, Mrs. Cogswell; treasurer, Mrs. Johnson; executive committee, Mesdames Talbot, Stearns and Rounsevell; librarian, Mrs. Talbot. Plans for replenishing the treasury to some extent at the expense of the vacation visitors to the city, were suggested and adopted; whereof more will be announced later.

This Library club, to which Klamath Falls is indebted for the maintenance of one of its most useful and creditable institutions, began some years ago the work of establishing a public library and free reading room. With the co-operation and generous assistance of most of the prominent citizens of the time, the desired institution opened its doors in a rented up-stairs room November 28, 1895. Since that date the place has been continuously at the service of the people every afternoon and evening, and has afforded a comfortable and profitable resort for the leisure hours of both stranger and citizen. At present thanks to the same civic spirit and generosity which first made this well-patronized accommodation possible, the commodious building has been purchased and suitably fitted and furnished, the number of books has been increased to about 1,200 volumes, and a large number of daily and other newspapers with the principal literary magazines are always to be found on the reading table. Besides the many donations of private citizens, the city government appropriates a monthly sum to the enterprise, and the county gives the gratuitous use of the present convenient site. The club has the best wishes of everyone for an abundant continuance of its past success in adding to the educational and social advantages of the city.

RULES COMMITTEE INVESTIGATE ALLEGED PERSECUTION OF MEXICANS

United Press Service.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Kenneth Turner, the magazine writer, today recited to the rules committee of the house the alleged activities of President Diaz's agents and the moneyed interests of the nation in the arrests of Mexicans who are charged with fomenting trouble in the southern republic. Champ Clark, member of the committee, stated that "the charges ought to be investigated thoroughly, and the court records of Arizona and California should be produced. Oscar Lawlor, who is now assistant attorney general, and who was district attorney at the time the Mexican refugees were imprisoned at Los Angeles, is easily available, and should be summoned before the committee and given an opportunity to explain why he imprisoned these people." Following the suggestion of Mr. Clark, Mr. Lawlor was requested to appear before the committee.

White, legal representative of the local Church Federation association, asking him to turn the question of preventing the Jeffries-Johnson fight over to Attorney General Webb. He is also requested to notify Webb that District Attorney Fickert refuses to act. This action gives the governor an opportunity to slide out of the muddle gracefully.

ROOSEVELT STARTS HOME

LARGE GATHERING OF FOREIGN NOTABLES BID HIM FAREWELL

Expects to Arrive in New York on the Eighteenth, Where a Mammoth Celebration Awaits Him

United Press Service.

SOUTHAMPTON, June 10.—The Roosevelt party sailed at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the Kaiser Augusta Victoria. An immense crowd of notables gathered and gave the ex-president an enthusiastic send-off. Colonel Roosevelt, his wife, Ethel, Kermit and Alice occupied two flower decked suites forward of the promenade deck.

The ex-president spent last night at the home of Sir Edward Gray. As he boarded the steamer this morning, he remarked: "Now for home. I tell you I am glad of it. I have had a great time. It could not have been finer. I have enjoyed every minute of it, but I am glad to get back home."

IRRIGATION CANALS ARE SCREENED TO PROTECT FISH

Project Engineer Patch was asked today if the service had taken any steps looking to the screening of the headgates of the various government canals to shut out the small trout and other fish. He stated that the service had screens on all of the canals, and that everything that could be has been done. Owing to the large amount of vegetable matter carried in the waters of the Upper lake, it is impossible to place at the headgates screens of a mesh sufficiently small to keep out the little fish. If such screens were installed it would be a matter of but a few hours before they would be clogged up and the water shut off. The question of keeping the fish out of the canals has received the careful attention of the service, and it was only after extensive experiments that the screens now in use were adopted.

CURE FOR LOSS OF MEMORY

"Nothing disgusts me more," said a woman who goes abroad every summer, "than to meet in Europe Americans who seem to be ashamed of their own language. I have often come across them, but a woman I met in Carlsbad last summer took the palm. "She was introduced to me as the Countess Komoffsky, or something that sounded like that. She married a Russian or Pole about three years before, and so far as I can gather she had hardly been any nearer Europe than a New York table d'hote before that time. She looked American, but her English was all broken into bits. She did not even say 'the,' but pronounced it 'ze.' She had great difficulty in recollecting phrases, and the result at times was a lot of French.

"Next morning I was breakfasting in the Kaiserpark with a party of shawl-wrapped Americans who had drunk the requisite number of glasses from the Sprudel or the Marktbrunnen, and had walked out according to prescription. One of those at the table was a New York physician who is none the less popular because he is frank in speech almost to brutality and will not stand for affectation. The countess came along and was invited to join the party. The doctor, as it turned out, had known her since she was a child.

"Somebody asked her a question, and she started to reply with that accent of hers. I saw the doctor fidget. Then she made another remark in half French. The doctor said something that sounded like 'damn!' Then he blurted out:

"For God's sake, Maria Smith, you don't mean to say that three years in Europe have made you forget your native tongue?"

"There was a hush, and then some of the women in the party smiled; but when the countess next spoke it was in purest United States."—New York Sun.

TITLE TO LANDS IN INDIAN TERRITORY CLOUDED

United Press Service.

ST. PAUL, June 9.—The title to thousands of acres of farming and mineral lands in the Indian Territory, worth millions of dollars, was forfeited and the land restored to the Indians by a decision of the Federal Court of Appeals today, reversing the case of James P. Allen, which the government lost in the Oklahoma District Court. The government alleged that the Indians were not authorized to lease the property, except under certain restrictions. Over 200 similar suits are pending. It is expected that an appeal to the United States Supreme Court will be taken. This decision clouds the title to 20,000 parcels of land that has been acquired by white settlers.
