

MANY MEET MR. BALLINGER

RECEPTION GIVEN HIM IN MADDOX-WHITE HALL

TELLS IMPRESSIONS OF PROJECT

Congressman Hawley and Others Talk at Banquet—Much Depends on Board of Engineers

The reception and banquet tendered Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger in Maddox-White hall Monday night was attended by over 100 of the leading citizens of Klamath Falls and vicinity.

An elaborate spread had been prepared and after the inner man was satisfied Chairman W. A. Delzell, toastmaster for the evening, introduced Secretary Ballinger, who touched upon a number of phases connected with the reclamation work here. He was frequently interrupted by applause, and he created much enthusiasm by his remarks.

Referring to Crater Lake park he called it one of the world's greatest wonders that could not be described by words, and that congress ought to make appropriations to develop the wonderful natural object of beauty.

He also referred to the Klamath Indians in complimentary terms, and stating that congress would probably ascertain the land that would satisfy the allotments due to the Indians and set aside the remainder for settlement by homesteaders.

Referring to the use of the money which had been appropriated by congress for reclamation work, he said:

"Transportation, climatic conditions and soil all affect the possibility of securing the use of the money appropriated. The development can go only so far as the burden can be sustained. The burden should be no heavier than can be carried by the land to be reclaimed." A responsive chord was struck when he said:

"When the contract is entered into the person whose land is burdened should know the cost."

Mr. Ballinger also believed that it is the duty of the government to complete the work that has been planned, instead of engaging in new projects.

He also expressed himself as not being able to see why this part of the state could not become as great a stock raising district as could be found anywhere.

Following Mr. Ballinger, Congressman W. C. Hawley spoke on some of the questions in which he had been interested in congress and which were of particular benefit to this section of the country, especially that where in the agricultural department was endeavoring to secure a species of corn suitable for feeding swine which could be grown here.

Supervising Engineer Hopson, I. C. Applegate, John Shook and Judge Noland also spoke.

In answer to a question by a Herald reporter respecting his intentions in relation to the Klamath project, Mr. Ballinger said:

"So far as I have been able to visit the project and become familiar with its possibilities I am anxious to see it completed in so far as it can be done as rapidly as possible. There are, however, a number of complications existing here that may impede the full completion of the project as planned by the service.

"I hope, however, that there will be no serious delay, and there will be none further than is absolutely necessary. Much will depend on the report of the board of army engineers."

Mr. Ballinger and party left for San Francisco and the Yosemite this morning.

MAKES TRIP TO WONDERFUL NATIONAL PARK

Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger and party and a number of members of the chamber of commerce and directors of the Klamath Water Users' association and newspaper men, left this city Sunday morning at 7 o'clock on the steamer Klamath for Agency landing, where automobiles were secured and the party went up to Crater lake, where the secretary viewed that great natural wonder for the first time.

Mrs. Ballinger, who is accompanying her husband on the trip, stopped at Eagle Ridge tavern on the way up and waited her husband's return.

The steamer reached Agency landing about 10:45, but it was nearly half an hour later before the start was made. The party arrived at the crater and took dinner at the hotel and arrived at the steamer landing about 6 o'clock.

Stopping at Eagle Ridge on the way back they satisfied the cravings of a keen appetite with a delicious dinner that had been prepared under the direction of Mrs. Griffith.

When the repast had been finished Judge George Noland, with a few brief remarks, introduced Secretary Ballinger.

Mr. Ballinger congratulated Klamath county on the many beautiful places that nature had provided for the enjoyment of the residents and visitors to this favored portion of the state, and then said, in part:

"Every acre of agricultural land in the United States is bound to be needed to raise food products for our own people. The time is past when we can skim the cream and ignore in this country a system for making the best use of everything we have. Of course there will always be some waste, as there is waste in every effort of human life. There is waste of time; there is waste of things produced. Even the housewife cannot save everything, however industrious she may be and however well schooled she may have been in domestic economy. While we may have seemed wasteful, we have been progressive, but we have got to be frugal and economical, and we have got to use common sense in the handling of the resources we have. That's all there is in conservation. So far as I am concerned, and so far as my department is concerned, I am intensely interested in the development of the public domain, and in those matters which are committed by congress to the department of the interior. I am intensely interested that the people of this country as a whole and particularly the people of the West, who have to bring forward this development, should profit while they live in some of this.

"But while they profit and have the right to profit in this development, they should not be over-wasteful or destructive so that this country may continue to prosper and the people who come after us, generations upon generations, may bless us as well as our forefathers for having established this government and having taken care of and transmitted to their children the blessing that are transmitted to them, and I believe that the spirit exists throughout this country without any hurrah, but in a plain, common-sense, straightforward, hard-headed manner to go straight to the point and do our duty.

"I believe it will be safe to say that there is only a small proportion of these Western people who are public land criminals and disposed to take advantage of the federal government. Wherever they are I believe in rigid enforcement of the law and prosecution, and I believe the protection of the federal government is due to the honest man who is seeking his rights under the law. That's all there is in administration—administer the law as you find it. Administer in a fair and open manner, no matter whether it is Smith or Jones who is seeking the benefits; but if he is entitled to them let him have them, and if he is not, be sure he does not get them."

Two Indian guides were secured and they tracked the men to Callahan's ranch, twelve miles northwest of Dairy. Here they found the stolen horses in a pasture, but the men were not to be seen. They made their camp some distance from where the horses were and the pursuers did not notice them. Brewer stood guard over the horses. This was early in the morning.

De Mose got up and went to look after the horses and when Mr. Brewer saw him approaching he shot him through the heart.

Kuhl fled into the hills. Coroner Whitlock, Deputy Sheriff Schallock, District Attorney Kuykendall and Court Reporter Richardson went to the scene of the tragedy in an automobile, and after an inquest a coffin was prepared and the body was buried in the tiber near Callahan's ranch.

Kuhl was acquainted with Deputy Sheriff Schallock, and when Kuhl saw the officer he surrendered. He was afraid that he would be shot if he approached anyone he did not know and stayed in the woods until he recognized Mr. Schallock.

He was brought to this city and placed in jail.

Kuhl is only about 22 years old, and the officers believe that, although he knew that the horses were stolen, he did not intend to share in the proceeds of the raid, but simply helped De Mose drive the animals away.

BALLINGER SAYS THERE IS NOTHING IN RUMOR

Reports, none of them verified, however, have been coming from Beverly, Mass., during the past few days intimating that Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger would resign on September 15th.

In order to verify the rumor a reporter for this paper called on Mr. Ballinger and asked him if he would make some statement concerning his purported resignation as secretary of the interior.

Mr. Ballinger said: "I know nothing about any resignation and do not intend to resign. I have denied any such intention and still deny it. The president has never given me any intimation that he desires my resignation, and until he does I will continue as secretary of the interior."

When asked if anything would be done about Mr. Newell, he replied: "I have nothing to say about Mr. Newell for publication."

The Klamath project has been the first one that Mr. Ballinger has visited this year.

Monday he went over the Klamath project with some of the reclamation officials and returned to the city about 6 o'clock in the evening.

With Mr. Ballinger are his wife, Edward C. Finney, assistant to the secretary, and who has recently been appointed chief law officer of the reclamation service, and H. F. McCabe, Mr. Ballinger's private secretary.

The party left for San Francisco and the Yosemite Valley Tuesday morning.

SCHEME TO OUST HIM FALLS THROUGH

BEVERLY, August 16.—Taft's scheme to reorganize the party and eliminate Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger, Speaker Cannon and Senator Aldrich has fallen through.

Inside information says that Cannon and Ballinger refuse to quit. The politicians expected that Mr. Ballinger would quit on the ground of a party exigency.

BODY OF DE MOSE IS INTERRED

COMPANION OF SLAIN HORSE-THIEF SURRENDERS

Bernard E. Kuhl Now in County Jail Here Awaiting Arrival of the Lake County Officers

Bernard E. Kuhl is in the county jail here awaiting the arrival of officers from Lake county to take him to Lakeview, where he will be tried on the charge of stealing horses from near Silver lake.

Al T. DeMose and Bernard E. Kuhl had homesteads in the Silver Lake country and last week DeMose asked Kuhl to help him round up a band of horses and mules and drive them in this direction. Kuhl did so, and the result is that he is now facing a term in the penitentiary for horse-stealing while his companion lies in a grave in the hills near Dairy.

The first of last week a number of horses were missed from the vicinity of Silver lake and suspicion was directed to DeMose, and when Mr. Brewer, a rancher in that part of the country, discovered that the stock was missing he at once notified his neighbors and four of them immediately started in pursuit of the thieves.

Two Indian guides were secured and they tracked the men to Callahan's ranch, twelve miles northwest of Dairy. Here they found the stolen horses in a pasture, but the men were not to be seen. They made their camp some distance from where the horses were and the pursuers did not notice them. Brewer stood guard over the horses. This was early in the morning.

De Mose got up and went to look after the horses and when Mr. Brewer saw him approaching he shot him through the heart.

TRAMP RISKS LIFE TO SAVE HIS COMRADE

Hobo Riding on Rods of Sleeping Car Has Narrow Escape from a Horrible Death

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., August 11.—A story of rare heroism and fortitude under the most harrowing conditions in the human undertow came to light at a local hospital when James Morris was brought in with his leg broken in several places. He was accompanied by Earl Howe. Both said they were wanderers of the "hobo" variety, and had no home. Howe said they were riding on the iron rods under a sleeping car, and were having a hard time to keep awake so that they might not fall and be ground to death under the train. He said Morris must have dozed, for suddenly he felt a shower of gravel in his face and knew instinctively that something was wrong. He soon discovered that Morris had slipped and that his feet were dragging. His left foot had been torn off and the right leg broken: His body was resting on the axle, but he was conscious and holding on.

Howe then crawled to the side of the car, bracing himself, reached out, the weeds and wind slashing his face. With a board upon which he had been lying he broke a car window, thus attracting attention. The train was stopped and their rescue effected.

Oklahoma has the greatest Indian population of any of the states. The last time they were counted there were 117,370 of them.

GALLAGHER NOW SORRY FOR HIS ACT

Claims He Was Discharged From Office Because He Did Not Countenance Graft

JERSEY CITY, August 11.—James Gallagher said to the newspaper men today:

"I intended to kill Mayor Gaynor; that is all there is to it. I hope now that he will recover."

His favorite author is Shakespeare, although he has read Dickens, Henry George's Progress and Poverty is the only modern book he read constantly.

"Neither Henry George nor Shakespeare inspired me to shoot Mr. Gaynor," he said. "I simply felt that I had no other way of remedying the wrong. I had to do something. If I am wrong I'll take my punishment. I do not think I was wrong. I am a follower of William R. Hearst. When he was a candidate for mayor I voted for him and tried to get my friends to vote for him because I believe in him and what he says. Until recently I was a democrat, and stuck to Tammany Hall, but when I found I was not getting justice I turned to Mr. Hearst. I told my friends that I had a reason for that, because Mr. Hearst's writings and his teachings are right. Nothing is too good for a man like Hearst, who tells the truth and should get any reward the people can give him."

Gallagher's statement in the presence of Assistant Prosecutor McCarthy to the United Press yesterday was:

"I am sorry now for what I did. I hope that Mayor Gaynor recovers. I think I acted the way I did because I had been robbed of employment. I wrote a letter to Mayor Gaynor asking him to give my job back to me, but he would not listen. When I left home I had no intentions of shooting Mr. Gaynor. I bought a paper and read that he was going to start on a vacation, and when I thought of him so prosperous and me a bum it occurred to me to rid the country of this man who refused to right my wrong. It was because I was opposed to graft that I was fired."

Miss E. Canon was here from Merrill last Thursday.

CONTEST NOTICE

Serial No. 01448 Contest No. C-121 Department of the Interior, United States Land Office.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Edward E. Byers, contestant, against Homestead Entry No. 3794, Serial No. 01448, made July 11, 1907, for NW 1/4, SW 1/4 Section 13, Township 39 S., Range 10 E., Willamette Meridian, by Gilbert E. Trobi, Contestee, in which it is alleged that said Gilbert Trobi has not resided on the land for more than two years last past; that he tried to dispose of the land just prior to leaving the same; that he has not resided on or cultivated the land as required by law. Said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond, and offer evidence touching said allegation at 10 o'clock a. m. on September 1, 1910, before Commissioner R. M. Richardson, Klamath Falls, Oregon (and that final hearing will be held at 10 o'clock a. m. on September 8, 1910, before) the register and receiver at the United States land office in Lakeview, Oregon.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed July 19, 1910, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

Something New In Kitchen Ware

The "1892" Pure Spun Aluminum Ware is rapidly coming into use for cooking purposes. It is taking the place of agate and enamel ware because while its first cost is a trifle more than ordinary ware, it is really much cheaper in the long run, as it is guaranteed for twenty-five years and will last practically a life time.

The genuine "1892" Ware, made only from pure SPUN (not cast) Aluminum, will not crack, scale, peel, break, scorch or burn.

It looks like silver but weighs only about one-quarter as much, is easily cleaned and handled, and will not rust, corrode or tarnish. Absolutely pure, non-poisonous and wholesome; saves money, time and doctor's bills.

Be sure you get the original and genuine ware stamped with the McMurray Cross. At your dealer's.
