

ARMY OFFICERS COMING HERE

ARE SEEKING PLACE FOR FIELD
MANEUVERS

WILL INSPECT THE RESERVATION

Klamath County May Be the Scene of Future Military Tournaments
Instead of American Lake

Brigadier General Maus, commanding the department of the Columbia, and an aide, and Colonel James Jackson and General Finzer arrived here last Saturday night and went for an outing on the steamer Klamath on Upper Klamath lake, stopping at Eagle Ridge Sunday night. They were accompanied by Will G. Steel of Portland, and were joined here by Alfred L. Parkhurst, Judge Benson, Judge Baldwin and B. St. George Bishop.

Inspect the Reservation.

Monday the army officers left for Fort Klamath and the Klamath Indian reservation, to look over the grounds in that vicinity, with a view to ascertaining their suitability for military maneuvers.

The expense attached to the use of the grounds at American lake, near Tacoma, Wash., where the military exercises have been held has led to a search for suitable grounds elsewhere. The farmers and landowners near American lake have been "holding up" the government by their exorbitant charges, and it is to avoid the unnecessary expense as well as to provide grounds where the troops of the regular army and the militia of California, Oregon and Washington can be drilled together that Klamath reservation is to be inspected.

General Finzer is the adjutant general of the Oregon National guards.

Veteran of Indian Wars.

Colonel Jackson is a retired officer of the United States army, and is now inspector general of the Oregon militia. He resides in Portland at present, but formerly was located in this county, having been stationed at the old Fort Klamath during the times of the Indian wars. His son, who is now an officer in the regular army, was born at Fort Klamath, and Colonel Jackson has a personal interest in this part of the state.

Fought Captain Jack.

When Captain Jack, the Modoc warrior, first started his campaign against the whites many years ago, Colonel Jackson, then a captain, commanded the first troops that were sent against the Indians, and participated in the battle below Merrill on the morning of November 29, 1872. All through the bloody conflict that followed Captain Jackson took a prominent part until Captain Jack was captured the following spring.

Afterwards the gallant officer was engaged in the Nez Perce rebellion in which Chief Joseph gave the army so much trouble, the soldiers chasing him from the Willamette river across the Rocky mountains to Montana, where he was finally captured. Colonel Jackson served under General O. Howard in that war, and distinguished himself by his gallantry.

Excellent Place for Maneuvers

The Klamath reservation furnishes all that could be desired in the way of grounds for army maneuvers. There are ample open spaces for parades and wooded and hilly portions for maneuvers of any character. Besides there are ranges for artillery practice that will be difficult to obtain elsewhere.

Grounds Easily Accessible.

The accessibility of the grounds is also a feature that should not be overlooked. When the Southern Pacific completes the line which is now being constructed through this city there will be a through line from Portland to San Francisco, passing directly through the reservation, giving the most complete facilities for the transportation of troops and equipment from any part of Oregon, Washington or California, and providing a centrally located meeting place for the troops of each of the states mentioned.

Can Choose Lands.

Being on a government reserve such land as is necessary can be selected, and nothing need be omitted that will hamper the comfortable quartering of a large body of men and the laying out of such grounds as may be necessary for the maximum of results in the way of putting the theories of warfare into actual practice.

The Klamath reservation furnishes the most complete grounds that can be found on the coast, and the central location is also something which should be considered in choosing the permanent grounds for future military maneuvers.

THE BOXING CONTEST GOES TWENTY ROUNDS, TO A DRAW

Preliminary Contest Is Ended in the Third Round in Favor of Linkenbach

Lovers of flatcuff were treated to a real exhibition of that gentle (?) pastime Friday night in this city, when "Kid" McLellan and "Young" Sullivan strove for supremacy in a twenty-round contest that went to a draw, with both men fighting to the very last. It was a neat, clean, orderly affair from the tap of the gong calling the men to the center of the ring for the first round until the last tap sent them back to their corners and the referee gave his decision.

In the early stages of the contest McLellan had a good lead, and had the bout been called for ten rounds instead of double that number it is possible that he would have been given the decision on points, as his leading, blocking and generalship had given him a lead up to that stage of the game, but Sullivan seemed to be getting stronger from that time on, and more than evened up matters. Under the circumstances there could have been no decision other than the one given, and everybody was satisfied with it and considered that they had received their money's worth.

The preliminary, scheduled for ten rounds, brought out two game fellows in Linkenbach and Richards, who lost no time in getting into action. Both boys worked hard, and while Linkenbach ended the affair in the third round with a knockout, Richards lost no friends in his defeat, and was warmly cheered when he was helped from the ring by his seconds.

"Spider" Welch challenged the winner of the main event at welterweight, and was heard to say after the show that he hadn't intended to put up such a job on himself, as it looked like he would have to fight 'em both—but not at one time.

Jimmy Carroll also issued a challenge from the ringside to the winner for $150 side bet, winner to take all the purse.

Roy Taber refereed the preliminary event, and attended to his business in a workmanlike manner, even if it was a short job.

Mr. Al W. Pape of Reno, Nev., was the third man in the ring in the main event, and he also gave satisfaction. Mr. Pape, by the way, is the champion oarsman of America.

Taken altogether it was a very neat entertainment, and fault could be found in only respect. The first event was scheduled for 9 o'clock, and as usual there was quite a wait after that hour before the men began their show. And again, the wait between the preliminary and the main event was enough to make the crowd lose patience—but it didn't. When there are only two events to be pulled off it does seem that it could be arranged by the managers of the club so that the patrons of the game could start for home before midnight.

PLEASED WITH THE SOURCES OF THIS COUNTY

A. W. Slover has just returned from a trip through this part of the country with Captain O. C. Applegate, and he was surprised at the crops that can be raised on the ranches in this section of the state.

"I didn't hear anyone complaining," said Mr. Slover, "although this is a dry year. I am more than pleased with the country. I believe the Shook place is the finest stock ranch I ever saw."

"I must say that I was surprised at the fruit that can be raised in this part of the state. I don't believe I ever saw finer apples than were to be found on the D. W. Anderson place. They were large and of excellent flavor, and the trees were loaded with fruit. But I don't see why they don't raise more fruit here."

At the Shook ranch a variety of birds seldom seen here took all of the fruit. They resemble the apple-eating birds of Germany, and have been seen in this part of the state but very few times.

The most plausible reason assigned for their devouring the fruit is that this year the crop of choke cherries and berries has been very short, and the birds have been driven from their forest homes and are nearly starving. At any rate, Mr. Shook will not have much of a crop of fruit this year.

HOG EATS DYNAMITE; IS KICKED BY A MULE

WINSTED, Conn., Sept. 17.—Attempts to confirm the report of an unusual tragedy on the farm of Albert Koegle in Thomaston proved futile, as Koegle was away. One of his hogs escaped from the pen recently, the story ran, and while rooting around swallowed a stick of dynamite left by a state road worker. Soon the hog went nosing around the heels of a mule. The mule kicked and the dynamite exploded. So did the hog. The remains have been pronounced an unusually fine quality of sausage meat.

ROOSEVELT OPENS CAMPAIGN AFTER THE SUGAR TRUST

MAKES FIRST SPEECH IN NEW YORK FIGHT

Pays Tribute to Taft; and Says President
Deserves a Great Deal of Credit

SYRACUSE, Sept. 17.—That the new issues outlined in the West must become the national issues for the people to decide Colonel Roosevelt declared in his speech opening the New York campaign today. He predicted the adoption of his principles, and paid a high tribute to President Taft, saying:

"The country owes to him many new laws. But his services are deserving of no greater credit than his criticism of the judiciary when he said the opportunity to freely criticize the judiciary is of more value to the body politic than having the judiciary free from unjust aspersions and attacks."

PARTY MUST UNITE OR LOSE OUT

PRESIDENT WISHES TO PLACATE
THE INSURGENTS

In a Letter to Iowa Politician the
President Says All Differences
Must Be Forgotten

BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 15.—The fight between the republican insurgents and the administration is ended so far as the administration is concerned. All efforts will be made now to heal the breach.

The first conciliatory move came from President Taft. In a letter which he authorized to an Iowa politician he announced that the patronage heretofore denied the insurgent senators and representatives would be restored, indicating that the administration was ready to recognize the insurgents. The move is believed to be the result of a decision that the administration must unite the party or the party will lose generally in the coming elections. The letter, signed by the president's secretary, Charles Norton, read:

"President Taft desires me to express to you and your friends his appreciation of the work and powerful assistance extended the administration, and which contributed much to the legislative and other success of the past year.

"The president recognizes that your efforts have been wholly disinterested and that you fought steadily and generously for the welfare of the party. The president believes it necessary to withhold patronage from certain senators and representatives who were opposed to the administration in its efforts to carry out the promises made in the party platform. That attitude, however, ended with the primary elections and nominating conventions. The people have spoken. At the fall election must be settled whether all the differences of the last congress shall be perpetuated or forgotten."

A. M. Sutton is ill at his ranch four miles south of town, with an attack of bilious fever. He has been sick four days now, but is getting along nicely.

SUIT FOR DISSOLUTION TO BE FILED

Attorney General Wickersham Will
Personally Direct the Action.
Filed in New York

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17.—A suit seeking the dissolution of the sugar trust is being prepared by the department of justice and will be filed in New York. Attorney General Wickersham is personally supervising the action. The suit is similar to the government's suit against the Standard Oil company.

STANDPATTER IS NOM- INATED IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Sept. 15.—Latest returns show that Humphreys, a standpatter in the first district, will probably be nominated.

"INSURGENTS" WIN IN ILLINOIS

CONGRESSMAN BOUTELL IS DE-FEATED

Friends of Lorimer Who Helped Him
to Secure His Seat Are Returned to Office

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—The most complete returns so far indicate that the insurgents have carried the Ninth, Eleventh and Thirteenth districts.

Congressman Henry Sherman Boutell, who has served the Ninth Congressional district since 1897, went down in defeat.

Joseph Gurney Cannon ("Uncle" Joe) was renominated in the Eighteenth district, but his majority was decreased from last election.

In the Tenth district George Edmund Foss, a regular, narrowly escaped defeat, but James R. Mann won by a safe margin in the Second.

Ira Copley was nominated in the Eleventh, while John C. McKenzie won in the Thirteenth. Senator William Lorimer's friends swept the legislative nominations and Browne, who was just found not guilty of bribing the members of the legislature, Shepard, Wilson, Broderick and other "jackpotters," were renominated. Twenty-one out of thirty-two democrats who had supported Senator Lorimer were renominated.

SEEKING KNOWLEDGE OF A STOLEN HORSE

Man Posing as Klamath Falls Newspaper Man Gets Animal From an Indian

Sheriff Barnes is in receipt of a letter from Marion E. Wolf of the Fort Bidwell Indian reservation, at Lookout, Calif., in which information is asked about a horse which was stolen from one of the Indians on the reservation.

The letter was written to Indian Agent Watson at the Klamath reservation, and by him turned over to Sheriff Barnes.

In July a man calling himself George Leon, and claiming that he was coming to Klamath Falls to start a newspaper, procured the horse and a saddle from an Indian named Ivan Quinn. He was to pay $200 for the horse and saddle, but after he had gone he wrote to the owner of the horse and offered $100 for the animal and the saddle. The Indian wrote that he would take $150 for both, but that is the last that has been heard from either the man or the horse.

The animal is described as being a black 2-year-old, with a white spot on the forehead and weighing about 1,200 pounds.

Professor Howard was taken suddenly ill while at the Livermore hotel last night, and for a few minutes was rather faint. But he recovered and was taken to his home. He has not been feeling very well for the past few days, and the excess of work required of him by the illness of Professor Faught proved somewhat too strenuous for him for a while. He is all right today, however.

OREGON FOR SAN FRANCISCO

OUT FOR THAT CITY AS EXPOSI-TION SITE

Acting Governor Bowerman Says This
State Will Help All That It
Possibly Can

SALEM, Sept. 16.—Acting Governor Bowerman of Oregon has wired Governor Gillett of California pledging Oregon's support in aid of the Panama-Pacific exposition, and expressing himself as being heartily in favor of San Francisco as the site for the big fair, and that this state will co-operate in every possible way.

Golf balls coated with luminous paint have been tried with some success by English enthusiasts at night.
