

VOTING HEAVY IN EASTERN STATES

SNOW AND COLD WEATHER MARKS THE DAY

MUCH SCRATCHING IS BEING DONE

Indications Are Harmon Will Be Re-Elected Governor of Ohio—Stimson Expected to Win

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—It is snowing today, and the weather is the coldest known here for years at this time of the year. The same condition prevails at other points east of here. In Chicago, however, the weather is perfect.

The voting at all points is very heavy, and early returns show that much scratching is being done. Nebraska reports that voting is the heaviest in years, while Illinois makes the same statement. In Iowa there is much scratching.

In Wisconsin the vote is very heavy and the democrats claim they will be victorious.

In Ohio 40 per cent of the voters had gone to the polls at 11 o'clock. President Taft went to the polls at Cincinnati at 10 o'clock. Early indications are that Governor Harmon will sweep Hamilton county, which means his re-election.

The voters in New York got out early, and so far the vote for Stimson will win by 20,000 plurality.

RIOT AT OKLAHOMA POLLS

NEGROES DRIVE OUT THE WHITE OFFICIALS

Trouble Arises When the Blacks Are Refused the Right to Cast Their Ballots

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 8.—The negroes attacked the whites at Fussy Creek, a precinct in Wagoner county, today, and drove out the whites. They then took possession of the polls.

Fussy Creek is in the heart of the negro settlement, and the nearest white town is Coweta. The election officers have dispatched runners asking for help. Two automobiles carrying fifteen men armed with rifles have been rushed to the scene.

The blacks are heavily armed, and it is feared trouble will ensue. The negroes offered affidavits of qualification to vote, but were not permitted to cast their ballots. That was what started the trouble.

BACON GETTING INTO THE TERRAPIN CLASS

No Longer the Mainstay of the Poor, Is the Lowly Hog, But Going Into the Aristocratic Menu

What is the matter with our hogs? They are not doing their duty to the country, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. They die frequently, but not often enough to provide the toothsome broiled bacon for the breakfast table of the humble. It is not so many years ago that bacon cost 10 cents a pound and was considered rather vulgar, only fit for the ignoble vulgus, while the rich ate spring chicken. Now bacon sells at 40 cents a pound and is getting into the aristocratic class along with terrapin.

Look also at scrapple. A generation ago it was the pride on Pennsylvania, one of its great claims to world-wide fame. No family so poor that it was not able to eat scrapple for breakfast in season, and often it furnished forth the supper table. Now it is getting into the luxurious class and is soon to appear on the menus of high priced restaurants among the delicacies to tickle the palate after the opera. And as for sausage! We cannot speak of the subject without uncommon emotion. It is getting too dear.

The hog has done this, and he is living up to his exotic reputation, which we did not presume that he understood ethically. The hog is either practicing race suicide or has gone on strike. Boiled ham and cabbage are no more the basis of a wash-day dinner because we can't afford them. The pig is at the bottom of a conspiracy and we think that the state department should send a man to Servia to investigate the chances for improving the hog, since there he seems to have reached his highest development. In Servia the hog is on, if not exactly his native heath, the place where he counts for most. Even the present king of Servia is descended from an humble herdsman of hogs. This, because during the centuries Servia was under the Turk the Serb raised hogs and little else, since the Mohammed-dan would not eat pork, and so his goods were immune from seizure.

But the hog issue is closer at home. In the great and glorious West there must be many unimproved opportunities for making two pigs grow where now only one munches his corn. It is an issue which cannot be longer postponed. America expects every hog raiser to do his duty.

ASK AMERICANS AND BRITISH TO CAPTURE VALLADARES

SAN SALVADOR, Nov. 8.—The American and British consuls at Amalpa are conferring over President Davilla's appeal that the American and the British gunboats capture the rebel Valladares. It is feared civil war will break out if this is not done. Valladares is seeking to aid the revolutionists in Honduras.

GRAHAM RE-ELECTED IN ILLINOIS

HITCHCOCK WILL BE NEXT SENATOR

Foss, Democrat, in the Lead for Governor of Massachusetts—Harmon is Ahead in Ohio

OMAHA, Nov. 8.—The vote today is the heaviest in the history of Nebraska. At noon the reports forecasted a republican victory. The election of Hitchcock to the federal senate is freely predicted.

Graham is Re-Elected

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 8.—The re-election of Congressman Graham, democrat, and a member of the Ballinger-Pinchot committee, is conceded.

Harmon Carries Cuyahoga County CLEVELAND, Nov. 8.—Recorder Maschke, the republican leader, concedes that Harmon has carried Cuyahoga county, in which is the city of Cleveland, by 10,000. In 1908 Harmon's plurality was 1,700.

Champ Clark is Safe BOWLING GREEN, Mo., Nov. 8.—Champ Clark's re-election by a safe majority is assured.

Foss Wins in New Bedford NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 8.—The indications are that Foss, democratic candidate for governor, will carry New Bedford by 800. Last year Vahey's (republican) plurality was 503.

WILL CALL GOOD ROADS CONVENTION SOON

Appeal to be Made to the Legislature For an Up-to-date Law Relating to Highways.

PORTLAND, Nov. 9.—Arrangements are being made by the State Roads Association upon the expected passage of Amendment No. 354 to the Constitution, giving the privilege to counties to bond themselves, to call a convention of good roads enthusiasts to be held in Portland immediately after the election. This convention will be made up of delegates to be appointed from the State Thresher's Association by Secretary Phil S. Bates, from the County Good Roads associations organized by Chairman L. R. Webster, and will also include all county judges as well as members of the State Automobile Association. At this convention the proper methods of the state expenditure of the bonding issues will be discussed as well as the appointment of a state highway engineer and the utilization of the state convicts and county prisoners in the work in view.

The result of this convention will be the basis for an appeal to the next session of the legislature at which time it is expected that Oregon will place the most advanced good roads laws on her statute books of any state in the Union. Oregon is now leading nationally in good roads work and this meeting will be the largest of its character ever held in the United States.

The 1911 national convention of the Christian church will be held in Portland, it having been secured for this city through Portland churches, the Commercial Club and the co-operation of the whole coast.

A temporary structure, which will house 10,000 people, will be built to care for the gathering and thousands of delegates from all parts of the country will attend. The convention bureau of the Commercial Club has under consideration plans for the entertainment of the visitors.

A CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA

SERUM DISCOVERED WHICH PREVENTS THE DISEASE.

Tested on Healthy Animals and the Results Are More Than Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—The bureau of animal industry of the Agricultural Department has demonstrated that hog cholera serum, if properly applied, will result in the saving of millions of dollars to the farmers and hog raisers of the United States.

A successful demonstration of the value of the new government serum for preventing hog cholera has been concluded at South Omaha, Nebraska, where, in co-operation with the Union Stock Yards company, it was severely tested and proved to be satisfactory in every instance. The stock yards company purchased thirty pigs which weighed from forty to sixty pounds each. They were obtained from a farm that had been free from hog cholera for many years. Four of these were inoculated with blood from hogs suffering with cholera and isolated in a pen by themselves. Within five days they were, according to a report issued by the department, very sick pigs.

Eighteen of the remaining hogs were then inoculated with the serum while the other eight were not treated in any way. All were then put in the same pen. As the result of this the four which were inoculated with the blood of the cholera hogs died; the eight untreated and apparently healthy hogs all contracted the disease. The eighteen which were given the serum and had been penned with the cholera hogs, remained perfectly well and were turned over to the officials of the stock yards upon the completion of the experiment.

Experts from the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station and from the Nebraska Swine Breeders' Association witnessed the experiment and all were convinced of the thoroughness of the experiment and its satisfactory results.

The Department does not distribute this serum to farmers, but is endeavoring to bring the value of this method to the attention of the stock raising interests in order that they may arrange to secure state legislation for the manufacture and distribution of the serum.

RISKS IN PATENT MEDICINES

Sure-Cure Remedies Are Usually Compounds of Prevarications and Narcotics

It must be frankly recognized in considering patent medicines that, broadly and philosophically speaking, two risks have to be taken with all of them; the risk that the medicine, though a useful remedy in this disease, may not fit your particular case or stage of it; and the further risk that you may not have the disease you think you have, in which case, of course, the poor medicine will be a hopeless misfit, says Wood Hutchinson, M. D., in the Delinicator.

Bearing these facts in mind, it is obviously only the course of prudence and good sense to avoid all powerful or drastic remedies of this class, such as, if they do not do good, have the power to do harm. Remedies, therefore, which are advertised to cure immediately, "like magic," "over night" that are guaranteed to cure every case or money refunded; that "have never been known to fail," etc., are good things to let alone, even if you give credence to their claims. Usually, as a matter of fact, the claim of these "sure cure" remedies are based upon one of two things—prevarications or some narcotic, most commonly opium or alcohol.

There is also another universal source of risk which it is only fair to mention, and this is the impossibility of knowing what you are taking. The vast majority of so-called patent medicines have nothing that it patented about them except the name or trademark. Really to patent a remedy it would be necessary to disclose its ingredients and to prove that they have never before been used for the cure of this disease; and this, for obvious reasons, is the last thing that the proprietors of these remedies would think of doing. The composition of the remedy is their most valued secret, which naturally they guard with most jealous care, and it is inevitable in the very nature of the case that anyone who takes a dose of it is taking it in the dark. If he chooses
