

PACKERS OBJECT TO JUDGE

SAY LANDIS IS INCOMPETENT TO HEAR TRIAL

Ask for Change of Venue to Circuit Court Because Jurist Heard Other Beef Cases

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Judge Landis today refused to grant the packers' petition for a change of venue to the federal circuit court, but he agreed to grant a change to Judge Carpenter's district court instead. He held that their objection to him because he was incompetent, owing to his participation in the ninety-five beef prosecutions, was well taken. The packers' attorneys protested his refusal, and the court announced that he would decide the question next Monday.

MEN AND RESOURCES BUILD A CITY, SAYS R. P. LATHROP

Get Together and Boost for Your Town and Develop the Agriculture of the County

R. P. Lathrop dropped off the train last week, and stood with amazement stamped all over his face as he gazed at the magnificent $40,000 depot that the Southern Pacific has erected in this city. Climbing into the bus he sat as a man in a dream as he traveled to his hotel. All the time he was wondering how so great a transformation could take place in the short space of four years. It was just four years ago when Mr. Lathrop came to Klamath Falls. He had heard much of this city in his home town of Hollister and came to see for himself. He was well pleased with what he found, and invested quite heavily in Klamath avenue property and residence lots in some of the additions.

Returning home with the intention of annually visiting Klamath Falls, he let four years slip by before he found time to come again. And what he found seems like a tale from the Arabian Nights.

"I have been told that I would not know the city, and that it was making great strides, but I put a good deal of it down to the exuberance of those picturing the wonderful growth of this city. But all they told me is true, and more. When here four years ago the property I bought was on the outskirts of the city. In fact, it was in the country. Today it is virtually in the heart of the city. The change has been beyond my imagination, and I must be excused when I saw the magnificent depot and the great development in the business section of the city.

"I am well satisfied now that Klamath Falls is to be a big city. I have only one regret—that I did not invest more heavily. If the people here take advantage of their opportunities they will see rapid development. Men and the resources back of it make a city. Get together and boost. Have only one thought in mind—the building of a great city here. Let the stranger know that Klamath Falls is the dwelling place of a happy family, that it is surrounded by a great agricultural and timber and scenic country second to none on the coast. If I were asked to pick out a motto for a city I would say 'Pull together.' That will do wonders. See that the agricultural resources of the county are developed to their fullest extent, and when this is done half the battle is won."

Mr. Lathrop was accompanied by W. J. Fosgate, who comes here for the purpose of looking over the city as a possible place for making investments. Mr. Fosgate is owner of 800 acres of land practically in the city of Santa Clara, on which he raises garden seeds. He is known all over the coast as a wholesaler of seeds. He stated that he was well satisfied that Klamath Falls had a greater future than the people had imagined, and that as far as he had seen here was well pleased with conditions here. Both gentlemen expect to leave for the South in the morning.

MAHEL AND THE MAYOR SET A PRECEDENT

This thing of kissing babies may be a cultivated taste which political sycophancy has developed into an art of war, says the Baltimore News, but they have a live one for mayor out in Rock Island, and he has set a pace which will make public office a personal ecstasy. He took a night off this week and ran over to Moline, where a burlesque troupe of candied blondes displayed their evening charms as "Morning Glories." The piece de resistance, so to speak, was a cooing little croon, "Has Anybody Got a Kiss to Spare?" sung by a fairy named Mabel.

At the moment so justly celebrated as psychological she cast her glances upon the chief executive of Rock Island, who sat in the stage box. He was not the man to wound the sensibilities of a lady, so with the courage of Siegfried in the enchanted forest he leaped upon the stage and kissed the audacious Mabel where the rosa-line was thickest. The audience of 3,000 rose as one man with shouts of "Smack her again, Mac!" So Mayor McCrackin "spared her" another which smothered her roundelay into reality. While the very echo ricocheted against the distant summit of Black Hawk's watch tower and danced on toward the headwaters of the Mississippi, the assembled multitude roared like a Roman rabble. The mayor had shown a Roman courage, and they were ready to nominate him for anything in the gift of the people.

We shall hear from Mayor McCrackin later on. He is not a man to cover up his head when opportunity knocks at the door. But in the meantime he has redeemed politics from the limited fields of kissing babies. The candidate may canvass where his favors will be more gratefully received.

COW GIVES 49 QUARTS OF MILK EVERY DAY

BERKELEY, Nov. 18.—The University of California, to all accounts, has the University of Missouri "cowed." Not long ago a dispatch received from Missouri State Agricultural college of the University of Missouri stated that their prize Holstein cow, "Josephine," has been giving 32 quarts of milk a day. But California, as usual, comes back with a trump card and even goes the "show-me" state one better.

In a letter from Victor Henderson, secretary of the University of California Regents, written to the students through their daily, he says: "Lest a prophet be without honor in her own country, let me tell you that Take Leon, at the university farm at Davis, a week or so ago, was averaging 49 quarts a day."

SURGEON FINDS PURSE CALF HAD EATEN

The Paper Money Was Recovered, But No Light Is Thrown on Effect on Calf

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Nov. 18.—While going milking Mrs. Luther Calvert, who lives at Clinton, dropped a pocketbook containing five $20 bills, a ten, a five and three ones and a silver quarter. The money was missed an hour later, and thorough search revealed the quarter, which showed signs of having been chewed on. A young heifer in the yard had a guilty look, and a veterinary surgeon was summoned. The roll was extricated from the stomach of the heifer in a badly mutilated condition. The bills were sent to Washington to be redeemed.

CRACK BASKET BALL TEAM

MAY VISIT KLAMATH FALLS ON THEIR TOUR

Amateur Champions of the Middle West Will Make a Visit to the Pacific Coast

The basketball team of Company B, First Regiment of Wisconsin militia, from Portage, Wis., expect to make a tour of the West, leaving their home town soon after Thanksgiving. They are crack players, and it is the intention of the team here to persuade them to visit Klamath Falls and play one or more games here. G. A. Krause, one of the Klamath Falls team, is well acquainted with the players on the champion team, and he is sure they will stop in this city while on their tour.

The local team has had their measurements taken for suits, and they will begin practicing in a few days, and expect to be able to put up a good stiff game in a short time, as they are all experienced players, and know the game well already.

HEALTH BROKEN BY SON'S PLIGHT

FATHER OF DR. CRIPPEN PASSES AWAY

Believed His Boy Was Innocent—Dependent on Charity During Last Days

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—Penniless, dependent on the charity of strangers in his last moments on earth, but still believing in the innocence of his boy, Myron Crippen, the aged father of Hawley H. Crippen, who, in the cold cell of an English prison, is awaiting the day when he shall pay the penalty for the brutal murder of his wife, passed away this morning after a lingering illness which his feeble frame could not withstand. The old man was 83 years of age, and the misfortune to his son grieved him so that his condition became such that he could not withstand the privations which overtook him.

Since Dr. Crippen's arrest his remittance to his father ceased, and the aged man became dependent on the charity of his landlady. Worry over his son's plight broke his health, and the lack of nourishing food aggravated his condition and his vitality has been slowly ebbing for some time. During the last few days before his illness he haunted the news stands awaiting the editions containing news of his son's case. He was delirious yesterday, and last night. During his lucidity he said: "I will not be long before I go, but my boy is innocent. He was a good boy." The physicians attribute his death to old age, coupled with privation and his son's arrest.
