

NO VERDICT IN CARROLL CASE

JURY WAS DISCHARGED EARLY THIS MORNING

WERE OUT FOR THIRTY-SEVEN HOURS

During All of the Time the Voting Stood About Even on the Findings of the Case

After arguing in vain among themselves for thirty-seven hours in an effort to reach a decision the twelve jurors in the Carroll case were discharged at 3 o'clock Sunday morning without bringing in a verdict. The jurors were Tom Stephens foreman, Dan Griffiths, C. N. Snow, William Bassett, H. Whitelaine, Fred Stevenson, A. E. Crance, H. D. Stout, R. I. Sloan, J. C. Smith and Fred Stahlman.

At the time the first ballot was taken the vote between innocence and guilt was about evenly divided, and this condition of affairs remained throughout their session. The matter of fixing the value of the sheep was not taken up at all, as the jurors wished to fix the verdict before tackling that proposition.

It will be necessary to try the case again, but this will hardly be done at the present session of the court.

HOW SOUTH AMERICA CAPTURED FRANCE

How is it that two South American nations, Argentina and Brazil, whose credit and importance are not comparable to the credit and importance of the United States, have within recent years succeeded in selling, each of them, over 2,000,000,000 francs of their securities in Paris? This will appear really wonderful if we bear in mind that the Argentine Republic scarcely consists of 5,000,000 people.

The answer, however, is simple. Partly by private initiative governments, partly by private initiative, Argentina and Brazil have each of them opened in Paris an information bureau intended to make known to the French public the development, the virtual wealth, the possibilities and the future of two young nations. Paris has now become familiar with these remote countries, their efforts and their success. In one word, Argentina and Brazil have succeeded in creating what we call in Paris an "ambiance favorable aux affaires," something like an atmosphere of business to which the Frenchman has now become accustomed, and who ever he is asked to lend his money or to buy stocks he is half-prepared and ready to do so, while, on the contrary, he is prejudiced against Wall-street securities.—Mare de Vallette in Moody's Magazine.

SCARLET FEVER EPIDEMIC BLAMED TO LETTERS

Epidemic of Scarlet Fever at Medical Lake Believed Traceable to Letters Received

SPOKANE, Wash., March 3.—Because several cases of scarlet fever have appeared in the institution for the feeble minded at Medical Lake, it is believed by the authorities that the disease was transmitted by letters sent to one of the patients from a town in the Inland Empire where the disease is prevalent.

Dr. T. C. Barnhart, in charge of the institution, has ordered a quarantine placed over the asylum, while efforts will be made to learn if the disease was really brought in through the United States mail.

While twenty-eight of the patients have been affected in the last few weeks, no new cases have appeared for the past thirty days, and it is believed by the officers that the malady has been effectually checked.

ANOTHER BOMB SPREADS HAVOC IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 3.—The ninth Black Hand bomb explosion in New York within a week occurred recently in a block of tenement houses on East Sixty-second street. The bomb, equipped with a fast-burning fuse, was thrown from the roof of a five-story tenement down a narrow air shaft, exploding in the air between the second and third floors. The force of the blast in the narrow shaft was terrific, throwing the walls on both sides out of plumb and hurling fragments of brick and plaster upward in a shower over the adjoining roofs. The building rocked as though about to collapse, and the tenants, fifty in number, were thrown from beds as if shaken out of a hammock. Nine persons were injured, none seriously.

"FIGHT NOTHING" SAY SOLDIERS WHO THEN GO ON STRIKE

Bulgarian Soldiers Did Not Want to Be Sent Against Rebels, So They Quit

PHILIPPOLIS, Bulgaria, March 3.—Mutiny by the garrison of the Yildiz palace, which objected to being sent against the rebels of the Yemen district, is reported in dispatches received here from Constantinople.

With the Yildiz mutineers is a battery of artillery and the rebels are fortifying themselves in the palace against expected attack by a large detachment of troops and police which surround the fortress. A fight is likely today.

Little news of the crisis has come out of Constantinople, as the censorship is of the strictest character. It is believed that the strongest measures will be taken to suppress the revolt, as there is great danger that it may spread from Constantinople to the army.

Jews Say It Will Eventually Mean Persecution for the Members of Their Race

BALTIMORE, March 6.—Plans for restricting immigration by educational tests were condemned by Judge Leon Sanders of New York, head of the Independent Order of B'Rith Abraham, in an address here.

"If these restrictions are put in force," said Judge Sanders, "it will mean that only 5 per cent of the Jews in Russia and Roumania, whose opportunities for education is withheld from our people, will be able to enter the United States. The other 95 per cent will be subjected to the cruelest persecution, and there will be nowhere for them to flee."

He was arrested yesterday morning and a search for the girl failed to reveal her until late in the afternoon, when she was found in a slightly dazed condition on a downtown street.

PARISIANS ARE ANXIOUS TO SEE WILLIE HOPPE

Expulsion Order Makes People More Desirous of Seeing Cue Wizard—May Get Ban Removed

PARIS, March 3.—That the warrant for Willie Hoppe's expulsion from France has made the people more desirous of seeing him play than ever was evidenced when the Olympia billiard hall was crowded to the doors and great throngs were unable to gain admittance. Hoppe defeated Curtiss, his fifth victory over the Frenchman.

Hoppe hopes to have the expulsion warrant cancelled. He says it was issued in 1907, at a time when betting in billiard halls had become a craze, and the police issued expulsion warrants against foreign players, with a view to stopping the evil.

PASADENA STARTLED BY PECULIAR SNOWSTORM

PASADENA, March 3.—For fully fifteen minutes it snowed in Pasadena for the first time in twenty years. It was so unusual an occurrence that for hours afterward people were wondering how it happened. The sun came up clear and warm and shown brightly for three hours, when suddenly a black cloud appeared over the mountains and within five minutes it suddenly grew dark and the snow began falling. Every one rushed into the streets to scrape up enough to make snowballs. Suddenly the snow turned successively to hail and rain and then the clouds rolled away and the warm spring sun shone again. The entire performance lasted just forty-five minutes.

"STOCK DOING WELL AT LORELLA," SAYS ANDERSON

M. L. Anderson, a well known rancher of Lorella, is in the city for a few days. Mr. Anderson states that while hay is getting a little scarce in his section of the county, there has been no serious loss of stock reported more than what is usual every year. Mr. Anderson came here about two years ago from the East, and he has not yet adjusted himself to the custom of depending too much for feed on the winter range. He believes that if the stockmen would feed more hay in the winter and handle less cattle they would make more money and turn off better stock.

NEWS NOTES FROM OLENE

The ground hog certainly knows his business.

With the assurance of the Pot Valley lateral and diversion canal being completed this summer (if summer ever comes) the Lost River country will soon take on an air of activity heretofore unknown in this section.

'Tis an ill wind that brings no good." While the farmer is shivering in winter's icy grip, under his old hat band, there is the cheering thought that everything indicates a bumper crop this coming fall.

Last Friday marked the close of the six months school originally contracted for at Olene. The following is a list of those promoted:

Mabel Bour, James and Nellie Moore, and Fred Davenport from 3d to 4th grade. Carrie Andrews, Stanly Masten Zetta and Zella Taylor to 8th grade. The school term has been extended two months, much to the satisfaction of both pupils and parents.

SAVE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

O. A. C. HELPS FARMERS IN MANY DIFFERENT WAYS

Several Make Voluntary Reports of the Benefits Derived From the Winter Short Course

CORVALLIS, March 6.—An actual saving of over $1,000 in horse feed resulted from the information gained by a prominent business man and farmer of Salem, Ore., in the winter short course at the Oregon Agricultural College. Last year he came himself to the course, and this year, being unable to attend he sent his ranch foreman. The knowledge gained in the course on feeding horses alone netted him a saving of over $1,000 in his feed bills, and his animals are in finer condition than ever before he says.

Over $5,000 would have been saved by S. W. Jamieson of Dell, Ore., he estimates, if he had taken the short course two years ago. Inexperience and lack of training when he came west two years ago to develop his holdings of 4,000 acres of fruit lands, caused Mr. Jamieson to make the usual mistakes of the beginner. Upon attending the course at the college this winter he discovered his mistakes, and made a careful computation of his consequent losses, which amounted to over $5,000.

These are but two of a large number of similar cases which have come to the attention of Dean Arthur B. Cordley of the college. It is a special aim of the college not only to equip young men to go out after graduation and develop the new lands to their utmost capacity, but to help the farmers, stockmen and orchardmen of the state who are already caring for lands of their own or in charge of large estates, to get the greatest possible value out of the land, and to help them to solve the problems that arise, and to get rid of the pests which injure crops.

A. E. Whitman and wife of Medford have been in the city for several days. Mr. Whitman was formerly treasurer and manager of the Eagle pharmacy of Medford, and he is investigating the possibilities of the drug business in Klamath Falls.
