SHERIFF'S SALE

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Klamath.

Henry Haberman and J. E. Redmond, doing business as the Comet Realty Company, Plaintiff, vs. James Wallace Yandle, Defendant.

Notice is hereby given that, by virtue of an execution duly issued out of the above entitled court on the 6th day of July, 1911, upon a decree made and entered of record in said court and in said state on the 29th day of December, 1910, in favor of the above-named plaintiff, directing me to satisfy the sum of $100, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, from the 29th day of December, 1910, and the sum of $13.50, costs and disbursements, and the accruing costs.

Now, therefore, by virtue of said execution, and in compliance with said writ, I did levy on the said premises therein and hereinafter described, and will on Saturday, the 12th day of August, 1911, at 2 o'clock p. m. of the said day, at the front door of the county court house, in Klamath Falls, Klamath County, Oregon, sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, all the right, title and interest of the above named defendant, in and to the following described real property, situated in Klamath County, State of Oregon, to-wit:

The NW 1/4 of the NW 1/4 of section 10, township 41 south, range 12 east, Willamette Meridian, in Klamath County, Oregon, and containing 40 acres, more or less.

Or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said execution. Together with the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging or in any wise appertaining.

The proceeds of said sale will be applied in the satisfaction of said execution, order and decree interest, taxes, costs and accruing costs, and the overplus, if any there be, to be paid into said court to be further applied as by law directed.

Dated at Klamath Falls, Oregon, this 7th day of July, 1911.

MADE QUICK TRIP TO CRATER LAKE

W. Paul Johnson of the Klamath Development company, having as his guests Charles K. Field, editor of Sunset Magazine, Sam M. Evans, who is preparing an article on this section for that publication, Joseph A. McDonald, Morris Johnson and Arthur Arlett last week established a record for a quick trip to Crater Lake and return.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday morning the party left in the big Thomas, made the trip to the crater and saw the lake, and reached Klamath Falls at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. The trip was made with no accident whatever.

ONE AUTO NUMBER MUST BE DISPLAYED AT NIGHT

SALEM, July 27.—In an opinion written by Attorney General Crawford it is held that providing an automobile is equipped with a light which illuminates the rear number of the car, it is not necessary to paint the number of the machine on the large glasses of the front light. He also holds that any motorcycle or motor vehicle operating without a rear light, must be equipped with a headlight bearing the number of the machine.

The attorney general also wrote an opinion in which he holds that the Astoria centennial souvenir watch fobs cannot be registered as a trademark with the state, for the reason they are not a piece of merchandise nor are they classed as a salable article by a merchandising firm.

RECLAMATION AND COST OF LIVING

EX-HEALTH COMMISSIONER GOES INTO THE QUESTION FROM AN ENTIRELY NEW, THOUGH A VITAL STANDPOINT

CHICAGO, July 27.—Dr. W. A. Evans, former commissioner of health for the city of Chicago, and a member of the board of control of the national irrigation congress, which has its nineteenth annual meeting here in December is greatly interested in the reclamation of lands, and has analyzed the unoccupied land situation, swamp and arid, as it relates to the national health and to the food supply and the elements which rule the price thereof. Having for four years served the city of Chicago as commissioner of health, Dr. Evans is one of the most prominent medical authorities of the United States, and at various times has been mentioned as the most suitable appointment to the post of national commissioner of health should such an office be established at Washington. Of the efforts of the national irrigation congress to further the work of land reclamation, he says:

"The irrigation of dry lands and the drainage of wet lands are health questions as well as economic questions. For it is not healthy for human beings to live one thousand or more to the acre, as they live in our cities. They cannot get their share of sunshine or air. With them there is not the proper balance between animal and vegetable life, and this lack of balance is always prejudicial to their welfare. They become unhealthy and discontented and every health officer is interested in the movements that offer out-of-doors opportunities for dwellers in cities."

"In time our millions of unoccupied acres will have been put to use. When this has been done, and the now unused areas no longer act as safety valves for our cities, we should have learned the science and art of city life, something we do not know now. Cities with us now are great breeders of disease and discontent. Eventually we will learn the proper spirit of them. There will be greater freedom of the individual through limitation of his selfish liberties, more planning, more co-operation, more pleasures. Until then health officers will be for decentralization."

"Something is wrong when wheat is piled high in one locality and the people in another are without bread. Our transportation, icing and storage industries are now so developed that supply and demand work uniformly over all parts of the country. The surplus of the summer is carried over to the lean days of the winter, and so seasons as well as space as factors in supply and demand have been eliminated."

"When we come to people the evenness stops. There are acres where 1,500 people live; there are other parts of the country in which 100 square miles there will be but few human beings. The people have not piled up in the one because they wanted to. They had to, or thought they did, which amounts to the same thing. They have not left the other vacant because they wanted to. They thought they had to. They thought the land would not support life. Paradoxically, this land is the most fertile in the world. The nourishment is there to support more life than any other land will support."

All the fertility in the world counts for nothing if the water to dissolve it is not just right.

"Since time began the wind and weather have worn the rocks. The crumbling shale is the fertility of the soil. Each rain dissolves some of this richness and the solutions made are taken up by vegetable roots and built into leaves, flowers and fruits. The stream that runs muddy to the ocean robs the soil in a wild riot of waste."

"It is different in the arid regions. Here nature is found in an economical mood. Here the rocks have added their riches to the soils since the world began and there has been little loss. Here is nature leading the conservation way—nature's great saving bank. Nor does the reign of reason stop when water is put upon the soil, because, when this is wisely done the fertility put in solution is proportionate to the needs of useful plants, and the run-off is low in soil chemicals."

"From the health standpoint swamp lands undrained are of more consequence than negative factors. They serve as spreading foci for disease so that they are not only unprofitable themselves, but radiate a pall of inefficiency on those who live on near-by lands."

"Waste areas of land put under cultivation make possible a greater food supply. One of the most earnest contentions of the medical world is that there are many diseases which are directly influenced by the high price of food or a scarcity of it. A number of years ago an Englishman plotted a curve showing the range in the price of wheat and added to it a curve for consumption. The two curves ran suggestively near parallel. He who increased the quantity of food or lowered its price is a great conservator of health and life.

Going to Ashland

Councilman E. S. Grigsby, wife and daughter Elizabeth will leave this city the latter part of August for Ashland. They will spend some time in that city, and may decide to locate there. Mr. Grigsby, however, will retain his property interests here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Courtade came down from Odessa Thursday to spend a few days in Klamath Falls.

MEDFORD MAN LIKES OUR ROADS

JOHN D. OLWELL SAYS OUR HIGHWAYS ARE IN FINE CONDITION, AND URGES FURTHER WORK ALONG THIS LINE

"You should keep up your good work on the improvements of the roads," said John D. Olwell of Medford, who arrived here Thursday evening from a trip to Crater Lake.

"We came down the west side of the lake to try the new road, and I was surprised at the wonderful improvement and the excellent condition of this road. The trip from Crater Lake to Rocky Point and on to Klamath Falls was a delightful one, and I consider it much more pleasant that the road on the east side of the lake, as it is in fine shape and runs for the greater part through the timber, and the scenic effect is grand."

Mr. Olwell, who is one of the prominent men of Medford, is a good roads enthusiast. He states that Jackson county has done an immense amount of work on the roads the past few years. The county owns probably the best equipment of road building machinery of any county on the coast, and has been making an effort for a special session of the legislature in order to pass a law enabling the counties to issue bonds for road improvement. Mr. Olwell does not believe it will be possible to secure a special session, but states that Jackson county is going to continue building roads, just the same.

Mr. Olwell was accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Fleishner of Portland. The ladies of the party were just as enthusiastic over the trip as the men. Mrs. Fleishner was delighted with Crater Lake, and was highly pleased at the unexpected accommodations received at the partly constructed hotel at the rim of the lake. Preparations were being made for the crew of men who arrived there yesterday to complete the structure, and Miss Crane had just arrived to take charge of the hotel.

Mrs. Fleishner tells of an amusing incident which happened shortly after the party left Rocky Point, and which caused them to lose about an hour's time. They came across a road crew which was putting in a new bridge, and were informed that it would be necessary for them to make a trip of a mile or so around, as the stringers had already been taken out of the bridge. They were instructed as to the direction to take, and after traveling for about an hour they came out at the same bridge where they started. They had gotten on the wrong road and circled around to the other side. After getting more complete directions they proceeded on their way to Klamath Falls without any mishaps.

NO CHANGE APPARENT IN FOREIGN SITUATION

LONDON, July 28.—England is waiting. Her position is outlined positively, and her war fleet is ready and her Moroccan situation remains without change until the negotiations between France and Germany have been disposed of.

The outcome of the matter hinges on whether Germany recedes from its demand on the Moroccan port.

Diplomatic experts concede that if France cannot concede this, it is expected that Kaiser Wilhelm and his ministers will tonight agree as to concessions.

Kaiser in Conference

BERLIN, July 28.—Chancellor Bethmann Hollweg and Foreign Secretary von Kiderlin Waechter will join Kaiser Wilhelm at Swinemund tonight. The German position in the Anglo-Teuton controversy will then be discussed.

The general feeling here is optimistic, but the fact is not disguised that a misunderstanding might precipitate serious trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sharpless, P. E. Sharpless and B. Sharpless came in on Thursday night from Whittier, Calif. After spending the night at the Lakeside Inn they left this morning for a trip to the Upper Lake resorts.
