

GOOD ROADS MAY NOT BE FAR

ASSESSMENT AS RECOMMENDED BY GOVERNOR'S COMMISSION WOULD YIELD ABOUT ONE MILLION DOLLARS

Judge George T. Baldwin believes that Governor West has hardly had time to fully consider the good roads plan drafted by the commission when it met in Portland last week.

"I saw the governor on Wednesday evening at the Imperial hotel in Portland, where nearly everybody meets on an occasion of the kind," said Judge Baldwin today. "At that time the governor was on his way making a trip to some other city, and was looking over the two evening papers to see what they had to say about the result of our deliberations. The governor is a very busy, energetic man, with a great deal of work on his hands, and it does not seem likely, to my mind, that he has yet considered the recommendations of the commission and come to a conclusion."

"The good roads bills that were passed at the last legislature were of no avail. The governor vetoed them for features that he found objectionable, and his object in appointing the good roads commission was with a view to getting the proposition into the hands of men interested in good roads and to free the matter from partisan influence. There is no politics in the good roads commission as far as possible every element that is really interested in good roads is represented."

"In choosing his commissioners the governor endeavored to get men who have had experience in road problems such as those who may have held county office or have farming interests for example. In the case of John H. Albert of Salem, a member of the commission, the governor secured the co-operation of an exceptionally prominent worker for good roads, and who is an experienced agriculturalist as well as banker and capitalist. He represented the farming interests and city people as well."

"It is figured that by a tax of 1 1/10 mills, as proposed by the commission, the state will have approximately $1,000,000 for the purpose of improving the country highways, and about 60 per cent of this will come from the cities, who are perfectly willing to be assessed for their share. The city of Portland, for instance, now pays 35 per cent of the taxes paid to the state, and will gladly furnish her share of a road fund."

DRIED EGGS ARE ### BEING SHIPPED

In German China, according to the report of Consul J. C. McNally at Tsingtau, the destination of eggs is successfully carried on and the product is shipped in large quantities to Germany.

One shipment has also been made to the United States, with the expectation that the eggs will comply with the food and drugs act and that a thriving trade may be built up with this country. It is said that this product can be kept indefinitely if stored in a dry, cool place.

It requires about seventy yolks to make one pound of the dried product and the whites of about 200 eggs to make a pound of the egg albumin.

The price of the whole dried eggs is 31 cents a pound; of the albumin, 44 cents, and of the yolks 24 cents a pound. This industry in German China is said to be growing rapidly, says the Journal of the American Medical Association.

If all that is claimed for it is true, this certainly should be a more satisfactory method of preserving eggs than that of cold storage. Under the food and drugs act some of the cold storage people have been much exercised by the regulation requiring that eggs shall not be stored longer than three months before using.

They assert not only that it is impossible to keep all of their stock moving within that length of time, but that it is not necessary, as the eggs do not deteriorate sufficiently in that time to make them dangerous or undesirable as a food.

STREET SHOWS FAIR WEEK

All of the amusements during fair week will not take place at the fair grounds. President Bishop has given concessions to an amusement company now showing at Stockton, which will exhibit on the streets in Klamath Falls. The attractions will consist of a Ferris wheel, merry-go-round, crazy house, seals, and a whole lot of other side shows.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Notice is given to the taxpayers of Klamath county that the board of equalization will convene on the third Monday in October to examine and correct all errors on the tax roll of the year 1911. I will be in my office from day to day, and will be glad to have the taxpayers come in and examine their assessment, and if any changes are to be made let me make the corrections before the board convenes.

J. P. LEE,
County Assessor.

TRAIN SERVICE WILL NOT BE REDUCED AS REPORTED

It has been currently reported that it was the intention of the Southern Pacific company to discontinue the afternoon train service between Weed and Klamath Falls on the first day of October.

There seems, however, to be no foundation for this report, and the information is given out that no change in the present service is contemplated.

Mr. James O'Gara, district freight and passenger agent, writes that "It is our intention to continue the present service on the Klamath Falls line."

RAISE VESSEL FROM LAKE BED

Captain Anton Wickstrom has successfully supervised the efforts of his firm, Wickstrom & Linman, to raise the North Star, the craft which in the spring burned to the water's edge in Upper Klamath Lake at Shipplington.

The vessel itself is a total loss, but the machinery is in good shape.

Captain Wickstrom's concern purchased the wreck, and expects to be able to use the machinery to good advantage.

The firm owns the Eagle and Modoc, which are well known craft plying the waters of the charming lake.

MAGUIRE BEGINS A LIBEL ACTION

ASSERTS CHRONICLE IS GUILTY OF DEFAMING HIM IN CONNECTION WITH THE SALE OF THE PAVING BONDS

J. C. Maguire of the Strange-Maguire company, which is doing the paving work in Klamath Falls, has, by his attorney, C. M. O'Neill, drawn up a complaint in an action for libel against W. T. Shives as assignee of the Klamath Publishing Company, and W. T. Shives, as himself, asking $10,000 and costs. The alleged libel was embraced in articles published in the Chronicle issued Saturday and yesterday. The complaint was filed Monday afternoon with County Clerk C. R. DeLap.

Owing to the fact that the Warren Construction company was the successful bidder for the Klamath avenue paving bonds and that Mr. Maguire at a meeting of the council at which the bids were opened admitted that the blank bonds were being printed prior to the opening of the bids, the Chronicle published Saturday an article which pretty plainly indicated that the Chronicle suspected Mr. Maguire to have been guilty of a "deal," and the conclusion of the article was in substance as follows:

"Laws in compliance with open dealing have no weight when it comes to trading off several thousand dollars of the city's money. On the same train of thought it was wise to reject without consideration the bid of C. S. Moore for $10,000 of the bonds. That would interfere with the private bargain. Mr. Maguire did not state with whom he had bargained to secure the bonds, but steadfastly adhered to the fact that there was no turpitude in turning the trick out of court. . . . No one is much concerned with Mr. Maguire, but this city has a right to know WITH WHOM HE MADE THE DEAL. He has confessed it."

On learning that the Chronicle would print the item, Mr. Maguire says he phoned the Chronicle not to print the article, and that it was printed against his protest. He sent a letter of explanation to the Express, in which he asserted that the Chronicle declined to print his side of the story, "to stop the slander or publish the facts."

The Chronicle this morning editorially says things which are joined to the above quotation from the Saturday paper and classed as libelous. The editor wrote that no one could purchase the loyalty of the paper, and thence said: "It (meaning the paper) is not in the habit of, neither does it propose to begin, the compounding of felonies, neither to put money in its purse nor for the sake of professional friends."

Mr. Maguire says his intention is to push the suit to a finish. Mr. O'Neill says that he would not have undertaken the case for Mr. Maguire if he had thought Mr. Maguire would drop it after beginning it.

"WILD HORSE" RACE ARRANGER FOR FAIR

J. Frank Adams, the well known horseman, is having a big bunch of wild horses rounded up, and will have them halter broken and brought to the fair grounds. As a special feature for Portland Day, which will be the second day of the fair, these horses will be used in the "wild horse" race, and it is expected to have from eight to ten riders. This will be even more exciting than a bucking broncho contest, and will have a three-ring circus beaten ten to one.

EDISON'S HASTE PUZZLES THEM

United Press Service
PARIS, Sept. 18.—Le Petit Phares, a Nantes newspaper, takes a whack at Thomas Edison because he doesn't linger in one place long enough to visit all the sights.

"Edison and his companions," says the paper, "arrived here at noon with two tires punctured. He at once had lunch, and at 3:30 o'clock, his tires being repaired, he hurried on. That's a funny way to see France, really."

PREFERS FRANCE TO HIS NATIVE LAND

United Press Service
PARIS, Sept. 18.—Gabriellino d'Annunzio, son of the Italian poet and dramatist, has decided to sever his connection with the Italian stage. It is stated here, in order to become an actor in France. He is at present at the Argentine theater, Rome. Gabriel d'Annunzio, the father, has already forsaken Italy for France.

Debts are said to have caused the change.

The body of the late George W. Brown was shipped on Monday to Gates, Ore., where it will be interred. The remains was accompanied by Mrs. Brown and her son, W. N. Cox, who arrived Saturday evening from Springfield.

COURT GRIND IS HEAVY IN LAKE

TWO MURDER CASES AND SEVERAL OTHER CRIMINAL CHARGES TO BE UP AT THE NEXT CIRCUIT SESSION

Judge Henry L. Benson of the circuit court will go to Lakeview about the 1st of October to hold court for Lake county, and it is expected that the session will be unusually important in view of the fact that there are so many cases liable to require considerable work on the part of court and attorneys. It looks as if there would be more than half a dozen jury cases, two of which are murder charges. A three or four weeks' session is likely.

Big Archie is an Indian buck who is charged with having slain his squaw when he found her gambling with some other male Indians. His jealousy is alleged at this period to have possessed him with rage so that he beat her to death.

The constable of Pine Creek killed a Mexican while attempting to head off a quarrel between two other Mexicans, so that this means another murder charge.

Five or six other criminal cases are likely to be up, including the charges being pressed against certain gentlemen who hold the liquor law in utter contempt. These gentlemen are charged with having kept stocks of liquor on their premises and doled it out unlicensed to all chosen friends who would pay the price for a little interior inspiration.

There has been a great deal of blind-pigging, boot-legging or whatever is the right technical name for it, going on around the Lake county towns, and many gallons of juice that would otherwise have entered the stomachs of gentlemen who crave something more vigorous than water to slake their thirst was given a humiliating end, being cast upon Mother Earth, from whence it came originally.

An idea of the vast amount of cordials and various kinds of firewater that have been confiscated as contraband and thrown away, instead of going to irritate the throats of purchasers who buy their liquor through legitimate channels may be had in the ultimatum issued by the deputy district attorney of Lake county, J. D. Venator, that owing to the expense of removing to the county seat the wet goods seized in outlying localities, it will hereafter be dumped and wasted where taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Hough of San Francisco who have been standing at the Baldwin after a trip to Crater Lake, went to Eagle Ridge. They are friends of H. D. Mortenson of the Pelican Bay Lumber company.

KLAMATH PORKERS NE PLUS ULTRA

MANAGER OF GREENFIELDS FARM PRAISES BEND PLAN TO HELP THE FARMERS TO GET STARTED WITH PIGGY

Lincoln Kinnear, manager of Greenfields Farm, five miles from Klamath Falls, on the Merrill road, is busy arranging to exhibit some of his fine pork stock at the Klamath county fair next week, and later at the Rogue River Industrial exposition at Medford, which is to be held October 3, 4, 5 and 6. Among the exhibits the farm will have at Medford will be three Berkshire pigs, the champion sow of Wisconsin of 1910, the junior champion sow of the international exposition at Columbus, Ohio, 1910, and Star Masterpiece, a fine boar. The farm will also show five Poland China gilts and five Berkshire gilts, young hogs that have never been bred.

Part of the medal takers will be shown at the Klamath County fair, along with other fine specimens of the genus porcine.

Mr. Kinnear has in the East two undefeated sows that have taken the blue decoration at six fairs, and if they finish at the international show this year in the same standing that they have had so far Mr. Kinnear believes he will be fixed to show at the San Francisco Pan-American exposition in 1915 the finest hogs that ever were put before judges of an exposition of the kind, and he fully expects them to outclass all competitors.

The Greenfields Farms started only last December, and has already some young pigs which will show a weight of about 150 pounds at four months of age. The farm has secured a new and expert herdsman, C. E. Everson, of Everson Bros., Wellington, Ohio, and Mr. Everson believes the Oregon country herbarists is absolutely unsurpassed for hog raising.

Mr. Kinnear is evidently a man who believes competition is the life of trade, and that the encouragement of one's neighbor to get busy is a method that helps all, for when asked what he thought about the proposition under way at Bend, where bankers and business men are raising funds with which to supply farmers with hogs to encourage them in breeding, he said it was one of the best things that he had heard of in a long while.

"I certainly think it is an excellent scheme," said Mr. Kinnear. "Anything that will encourage our farmers to raise hogs will be of great benefit to the country. The resources of this region for the purpose are so exceptional that we should use every means to take advantage of them. Our progress at Greenfields Farm has been very pleasant so far. We started only last December with about fifty head, and now we have 150. We have all our arrangements made so as to get the best results in our hog raising, and up to this time everything has been very encouraging."

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Terry, guests of the Baldwin from the Golden Gate City, went on the Crater Lake trip Monday morning.
