

FILM PICTURES OF ELKS, RODEO

PATHE PEOPLE WILL SEND CAMERA MAN HERE

Representative of the Best Known Moving Picture Camera People in the World Wire for Information—May Also Secure Films of Anna Island, Crater Lake and the Anna Creek Canyon.

Moving pictures are to be taken of the First Annual Rodeo to be given by the B. P. O. Elks of Klamath Falls. This has been practically assured by the receipt of a telegram Friday morning by John V. Houston from the General Film company at Portland. The telegram reads:

"We have Pathe camera men here. Can he get pictures worth while at the Rodeo? Advise us fully."

The Pathe are the best known moving picture camera people in the world. Their weekly films of all the great current events of the world are familiar to the patrons of the best moving picture houses, and the Pathe weekly motion pictures are supplanting the great illustrated weeklies, such as Leslies, etc., in depicting the great events of the world.

Mr. Houston, after consultation with the Rodeo committee, has wired the Portland representative not to miss the Rodeo, and suggesting that on the trip films can be secured of Bird Island, Crater Lake and Anna Creek Canyon, and other great Klamath county scenes.

If the camera man comes to the Rodeo it will be the first moving picture concern to secure views in Klamath county, and will be one of the greatest advertisements that the Rodeo and this section of the country could receive. The inquiry received from the camera people indicates the extent of the advertising being done for the Rodeo, and it is assured that every one from San Francisco to Portland will know that Klamath Falls is pulling off one of the biggest shows ever given on the coast.

Mr. Houston has been using every effort possible for several years to induce a good film company to come in here and take pictures, and if he succeeds in getting the Pathe people he deserves the commendation of every resident of the county.

INCREASING EPIDEMIC OF "SPY FEVER" IN GERMANY

United Press Service

LONDON, May 17.—On account of the increasing epidemic of "spy fever" in Germany, tourist agencies in London are warning prospective travelers to repress their curiosity while in the Kaiser's domains.

Under the revised regulations of the German War Department, it is said, sentries are to challenge once, in the event of persons being seen in the vicinity of arsenals and fortifications. If a challenge is unheeded, they are authorized to fire immediately. Tourists are cautioned also to avoid conversation with all strangers on military topics, in view of the reward of $125 given any employee near a fortification for the conviction of a foreigner who may have attempted to suborn him to betray military secrets, or even impart information that later may be held undesirable to have been given.

TELLS HOW TO RAISE BELGIAN HARE FOR TABLE

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—The department of agriculture is constantly in receipt of inquiries in regard to the breeding and care of rabbits, and to meet the demand Secretary Wilson has had prepared Farmers' Bulletin No. 496, entitled "Raising Belgian Hares and Other Rabbits," which may be had free on application to any member of congress or to the department. In this bulletin, prepared in the bureau of biological survey, it is pointed out that rabbits form an important and esteemed article of food, and that the principles of breeding and care are as well defined as with any domestic animals. The so-called Belgian hare is a domesticated form of the wild rabbit of Europe, being bred with reference to its value as a food animal, and its flesh is now generally considered better for food than that of the ordinary hutch rabbit. Rabbits may be propagated without costly investment in land and buildings, and possess the further advantage that they contribute another animal to the farm stock that may be killed and prepared for the table at short notice. As a rule, the same treatment applies to all forms of rabbits, except the lob-eared variety, which require heated quarters in winter. Care in the selection of stock is the first important consideration upon entering upon the raising of rabbits, and for the rest of the enterprise only observation and judgment are essential. Descriptions of hutcheries are given, and illustrations showing construction will aid the prospective breeder in providing suitable quarters. Food and feeding, breeding, marketing and ailments are fully explained. While not affording large profits, the raising of rabbits in a small way may be made interesting and fairly remunerative, as well as affording an agreeable change in the family diet where ordinary meats are high-priced or difficult to obtain.

HOW TO BUILD UP YOUR HOME TOWN

Woman's Part and Interest in Civic Improvement

BY CHAS. K. HOLMBERG

"In nothing, save the family alone," writes a woman who has taken an active part in civic work in Wisconsin, "are there greater potentialities for a woman to cast a good spell over life than that she help to keep the house of her town, to bring down the ideal village hanging above her own village, and make her own village fit that sweet ideal."

One of the encouraging things that promise much for the future welfare of American towns and cities is the active interest that the women are taking in the movement for civic improvement and home betterment. The women's clubs and kindred organizations of women have been active along many lines, and their work is showing far-reaching results in numerous places.

Never was there a time when the home was so dependent upon and influenced by public methods and municipal conditions as at present, nor when the children of our country needed a stronger guidance and a more far-reaching arm of protection. Realizing this fact, and that the true home is the only sound foundation upon which to build an ideal society, the women of the land have awakened to their responsibility of taking part in public affairs. So today we find a vast army of women, busy as bees, organized for the grand purpose of improving human life, the betterment of the home, and the upbuilding and development of their home town. The true woman and mother has come to understand that whatever she can do for civic and social betterment is just that much done for the good of her children and the making of their life better and more near the ideal of what she would have it be.

A large volume could be written about what the women's clubs have accomplished in various parts of the country in the past few years. A brief reference to some of the work done may inspire the women of other places to take a hand in the work of bettering their local civic conditions. Many cities might be named where the women's auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce or Business Men's Club has done most effective civic work, improving sanitary conditions and beautifying parks, streets and home surroundings.

A certain town in the West owned a large tract of land that had been set apart for a park, but had no funds with which to improve it. The women got busy, and organized a park club, and started a campaign for park improvement and a general movement for the beautifying of their home town. In a short time,

SHOW YOUR GRIT AND STICK TO IT

State Superintendent L. R. Alderman has addressed a letter to the boys and girls of Oregon who have decided to grow some garden produce, cook or carpenter for their local fairs or the state fair, in connection with the raise some chickens, or pigs, or sew, the great state wide series of agricultural and industrial contests this year. The young people are reminded that their schools are closing, a hot and tempting summer is approaching, and that the rewards both in prizes and in good habit cultivation will continue as big as they are now, although the number of contestants to claim them may grow smaller. In his letter the state superintendent says:

"Your schools are now closing, and many of you will hear the call of the swimming pool and the shady woods. I hope you respond to the call of nature with a right good will, but do not forget your gardens and your pigs and poultry. If you forget your gardens, the calves, the chickens, or your little brothers and sisters are likely to disturb them. If you neglect your pigs they will squeal on you. Stand by the work you have started. The number of contestants may grow smaller, but the value of the prizes will grow greater, for those little lambs, goats and pigs to be given for the best vegetables are fattening; those Shetland ponies are getting more glossy, and that $1,000 in cash is looming up like the mountains of Midas. At least $20,000 in cash and merchandise will be given in prizes to the boys and girls of Oregon this year.

"Perhaps you would like to hear what the schools in the other counties are doing. You may easily guess this from the fact that there are to be over eighty-five children's fairs. By county the number already reported to my office is as follows:

"Baker 1, Benton 1, Clackamas 10, Clatsop 1, Columbia 2, Coos and Curry 1, Crook 2, Douglas 6, Gilliam 1, Grant 1, Harney 1, Hood River 1, Jackson 1, Josephine 1, Klamath 1, Lake 1, Lane 7, Lincoln 1, Linn 3, Malheur 1, Marion 2, Morrow 1, Multby various means, they raised several thousand dollars, and got the work started. The park tract has been improved and beautified, and the club is now working to secure some smaller tracts for park purposes.

The town of Enosburg Falls, Vermont, had a board of trade, but it was a mere paper organization, such as we find in many places, and accomplished nothing. Then the women organized a Village Improvement Association, and proceeded to do things. The town was without a park and had a general "run down" appearance. In a few years the women had raised $12,000 for park development and civic improvement, and a marvelous change has been wrought. Their work became contagious. The children became interested, and all the people were awakened to the needs of modern town and village life. Today the town has very few dirty or ill-kept backyards; the humblest homes have a neat and tidy appearance, and the lawn-mower is considered a necessity.

At Birmingham, Ala., conditions obtained that were disgraceful to the city and shocking to the best citizens. The Women's Civic League was organized, and soon proved that there was a well-defined need for such an organization. In less than a year the league has done much to improve the civic conditions of the city.

The Women's Civic League of Grand Forks, N. D., by thorough organization and wise leadership, has accomplished wonders for that town in municipal reform and civic betterment.

At Portage, Wis., the women have accomplished much in civic work. After the people had twice voted down the proposition to construct sewers, the local Woman's Club took a hand, and the sewer bonds were voted two to one. Then they organized an improvement association, and as a result of their work, such problems as garbage disposal, clean streets and alleys and pure milk for the town have been solved; manual training and domestic science have been introduced in the public schools, and much has been done for the beautifying of school and home grounds.

"Start now!" would be a good slogan to adopt where the women have, as yet, taken no active part in the upbuilding of their home town. What a vast field they will find for work to improve local conditions along various lines, and make their homes and towns clean and beautiful as well as to develop the best and highest in the social life of the community.

nomah 2, Polk 1, Sherman 1, Tillamook 2, Umatilla 7, Union 7, Walla Walla 1, Wasco 1, Washington 3, Wheeler 3, Yamhill 1.

"We think there will be several others, but the first reports show the above as certain. From the middle of August to the middle of October the work of boys and girls will be the center of attraction at these fairs. Isn't this a fine race? Now that you are fairly into the game, show your grit and stick to it to the end."

JESUIT FATHERS COMPLETE VISIT

VERY MUCH PLEASED WITH THE PROGRESS MANIFESTED IN CITY, BUT THE HOSPITAL AND SCHOOL NOT YET DETERMINED

Rev. Dr. Rockliffe, head of the Jesuit church in the entire Western territory, and the secretary of the institution, the Rev. H. D. Whittle, who have been here for the past few days, left last Friday for Portland. They have been the guests of Rev. Father McMillan.

Speaking to a Herald reporter, Father Rockliffe said that he was highly pleased with the development of the church in Klamath Falls, and he had not the slightest apprehension that with the growth of the city, the church would correspondingly develop.

With regard to a Sisters' school and a Sisters' hospital, he said they were both most desirable, and he hoped before very long that these much needed acquisitions would be accomplished facts.

SOCIALISTS AMEND THEIR CONSTITUTION

INDIANAPOLIS, May 17.—At the session of the national socialists convention here this morning the constitution of the party was amended by the insertion of the following clause:

"Any member of the party opposing political action, or advocating a crime against the person, or other methods of violence, as a weapon of the working class to aid in its emancipation, shall be expelled from membership in the party. Political action shall be construed to mean participation in elections for public office and practical legislative or administrative work along the lines laid down in the socialist platform."

This amendment is a direct answer to the charge that the party is drifting toward anarchy in the advocacy of industrial unionism, and also to the charge that the socialists as a party approved of the McNamara conspiracy. The debate was quite sensational, and the statements made go a long way toward proving that the attitude of the party is quite the reverse from that charged by some misinformed people.

Water Your Crops When They Need It

CROPS need most water at the time when the paying part of the crop is forming. For instance, a water shortage at the time grain is forming will do more damage than at any other time. There is but one way to be able to water your crops at the time they need it most, and that is to install a reliable pumping plant operated by a dependable

OWNS VALUABLE LAND ON LAKE

A. G. COX OF ASHLAND HERE LOOKING AFTER PROPERTY—MAY DRAIN MARSH LAND NEAR ALGOMA

T. G. Cox of Ashland arrived here last Thursday evening for the purpose of looking after his property in Klamath county. Mr. Cox, with his brother, A. G. Cox of Osseo, Wis., owns about 560 acres of land on the Upper Lake near Algoma, and adjoining the property of Fred Melhase.

This property, including that of Mr. Melhase, is mostly marsh land, and is dyked by the railroad grade. It is planned to put in a pumping plant to remove the water inside the dyke, so that the land can be placed under cultivation. Mr. Cox stated that he did not know whether this would be done or not, but that he was here to look into the matter, and that probably a decision would be reached before he left.

This land is very rich and productive and if drained would make choice garden tracts if cut up into small tracts. There would be a good market at Algoma, the saw mill town, near by, and also at many other points on the lake. It is said that the land is well protected from early frosts.
