

THE RECLAMATION OFFICE IS BUSY

GETTING READY FOR SECOND UNIT LATERALS

Work is divided into several small schedules to afford an opportunity for farmers and local contractors to bid—New Ditches Will Irrigate About 6,000 Acres—Will Begin Soon on Concrete Work

Farmers with extra teams and local contractors will be afforded an opportunity to bid to advantage on construction work of the second unit laterals of the Klamath Reclamation project. This is a result of the order quiring that the work be divided into several small schedules, and many people in this vicinity are already equipped for the carrying on of the work without any extra delay.

The work will involve the moving of approximately 250,000 cubic yards of material, and when completed will irrigate about 6,500 acres of additional ground.

At the local office of the reclamation service great activity is evident in the preparation for the starting of the actual construction work. The specifications are expected in a few days, and every opportunity will be afforded prospective bidders to acquaint themselves with the requirements of the government. The bids will be opened August 29.

A camp has been established by the government forces at Olene, and in a day or so work will be started on the excavation of the rest of the east branch of the canal to Olene. There is about one-third of a mile yet to be completed.

Plans are also under way to start the work on the concrete piers and footings for the Olene crossing. When the concrete work is completed, the framing and erection of the crossing will be started. This involves the construction of 300 feet of high trestle and 64 feet of Howe truss.

It has not yet developed whether any extra teams will be needed on the work being carried on directly by the government. The material is hard and sufficient prospecting work has not been carried on to indicate just what will be required.

For the work on the flume all of the crushed rock required has been prepared and delivered at Olene.

SYDNEY CREW WINS HENLEY REGATTA

LONDON, July 6.—The Henley regatta ended today with the personal presentation by King George and Queen Mary of the principal prizes to the winning oarsmen. The king and queen joined the great water carnival in the ancient royal barge which was built for William III., which has not been used for nearly a hundred years.

The barge was gorgeously decorated in red and gold, and was manned by Royal Bargemaster W. G. East and six of the king's watermen clad in ancient Tudor uniforms. Except for walking in coronation and funeral processions, this is the first real job the royal watermen have had for many years, but they are all selected boatmen, and had little difficulty in handling the unwieldy craft.

Their majesties were awarded a tremendous welcome by the thousands of sportsmen and society folk who thronged the river banks.

B. St. Geo. Bishop was in the city Saturday, but left in the afternoon for "The Cedars," on Upper Lake. When asked what were the plans of the agricultural association for the fall fair, Mr. Bishop said:

"I do not know, as I have resigned as president and manager of the Klamath County Agricultural Association. I don't know if the others will do anything or not."

Arrangements for a fall fair and agricultural exhibit had been partially under way, but just what the result of Mr. Bishop's action will be is not known. It is probable that either the association will be reorganized and go ahead with the fair, or else some other organization may take up the work.

The stone masons are at work today shaping the stone for the piers and base.

Social Events of the Week

INDEPENDENCE DAY BREAKS IN ON THE SOCIAL ROUTINE, AND AFFORDS DIVERSION—CARD CLUBS AND MATRONS ENTERTAIN THE SMART SET

Patriotism has been the keynote of the week—Redmen, screaming eagles, soaring rockets, flags and bunting have attested to the joy of our success at arms, long years ago, at Yorktown. Since the days when the flag of Betsy Ross was first unfurled to the breeze, there have been many stars added to the galaxy in that blue field, and when in 1859 the star of Oregon glimmered to the world, there was born the emblem of a state beneath which we shall continue to dwell with ever-increasing pride and prosperity.

At the home of Mrs. C. C. Hogue on Tuesday afternoon occurred a delightful "500" party, given by Mrs. C. C. Hogue, Mrs. C. E. Hogue and Miss Faye Hogue. Many vases and bowls of flowers added their beauty to the rooms, and the pleasure of the afternoon was largely increased by the excellent music rendered by Mrs. Parmelee and Mrs. Gamble on the violin and piano. After the game the first prize was awarded to Mrs. A. M. Worden and the second to Mrs. Don Zumwalt, and refreshments were served. The invited guests were Mesdames: Elmer Applegate, Geo. MAKES REQUEST FOR LONG TERM

MAN FROM KLAMATH WANTS TO GO TO PRISON

Joseph C. Bacon, Arrested Here for Selling Whiskey to an Indian, Pleads Guilty and Tells Judge That Cigarettes and Whiskey Have Been His Ruin and Requests Long Term to Enable Him to Recover

Joseph C. Bacon, who was arrested in Klamath Falls recently on a charge of selling whiskey to an Indian, and sent to Portland, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to thirteen months at McNeill's Island at his earnest solicitation for a long sentence. The following account of the case appears in the Oregonian:

"This is the first time in my judicial experience that such a request has been made of me," said Judge Bean in the United States district court yesterday when Joseph C. Bacon, pleading guilty to selling liquor to an Indian, asked that he be sentenced to imprisonment at the McNeill Island federal penitentiary for as long a period as the offense permitted.

After being arraigned and pleading guilty he had asked the usual question if he had anything to say before sentence was pronounced. He approached the bar of the court, and with perfect pose and an excellently modulated voice, with a slight Southern accent, said: "Your honor, cigarettes and booze have been the ruin of my life, and I want to be locked up as long as possible to see if I cannot recover from their evil effects."

"I was born in Texas, 34 years ago, and have an honorable discharge from the infantry service at the completion of the Spanish-American war, serving in Luzon. For the last eleven years I have wandered up and down the coast, employed irregularly as a cook, and I am a good one, but after every pay day I would have one day of getting drunk and serve a time in some city or county jail. A short sentence would do me no good, and I want a long one to get the booze and cigarettes out of my system.

"The charge against me of selling liquor to an Indian at Klamath Falls is true. I was there, hungry, after a drunk, and accepted 25 cents from an Indian in payment for buying him some whiskey. I would have bought him poison just the same if he promised me the money. Your honor may think me crazy, but I am not, as I have been in jail since early in June, and the effects of the drugs have nearly passed away. I want to become entirely cured, by my own efforts, and then, when released, devote the rest of my life to telling the world of my life experience and warning others to escape such an existence."

Judge Bean pronounced a sentence on him of imprisonment of thirteen months in the McNeill Island penitentiary, for which he was gratefully thanked by Bacon.

Enjoy Visit to Bonanza

She was agreeably surprised at the change in the country.

TRUSTEE VISITS LAND OF ESTATE

W. P. HOPKINS SPENDS FIVE WEEKS MAKING THOROUGH EXAMINATION OF IMMENSE TIMBER HOLDINGS

W. P. Hopkins, one of the trustees of the Hopkins estate, returned to Klamath Falls Sunday evening from a five weeks' stay in the timber in the Pookemag district. He was brought in by S. S. Hill, caretaker, who resides on the tract and looks after the property for the estate. Mrs. Hopkins was with her husband in the timber most of the time, and returned here by train from Ashland.

Mr. Hopkins' home is in the state of New York, and this is his first visit to Klamath county. He came here about five weeks ago, and since that time has made a thorough examination of the holdings of the estate, of which the late J. G. Pierce was one of the trustees. Every portion of the entire tract was visited, and estimates made of many sections, so that Mr. Hopkins has acquired a thorough and personal knowledge of the value and amount of timber on the land.

The tract, which is located partly in Jackson and partly in Klamath counties, contains about 39,000 acres of timber, and is considered the best tract of standing timber, quality considered, in the United States. The larger portion of the timber is sugar pine. It is estimated that the entire tract will average 50,000 feet to the acre. The heaviest timber is in the Jenny Creek district, which is mostly sugar pine.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins are stopping at the White Pelican, and expect to remain in the city for a week or ten days.

WILL HASTEN WORK ON RAILROAD TO BEND

PORTLAND, July 5.—Construction work on the Central Oregon and Eastern railroad from Metolius to Bend, by way of Prineville, a distance of about thirty miles, will begin this fall, according to H. H. Skewes of St. Louis, secretary of the company, who was in Portland yesterday with T. M. Baldwin and C. S. Smith of Prineville.

Articles of incorporation have been filed and the steel for the construction work has been ordered for delivery October 15. The engineers' survey already is under way and grading will be begun in about three weeks.

One hundred thousand dollars of the stock for the new railroad has been subscribed by citizens of Prineville, and the remainder of the capital is to come from St. Louis.

The new road will connect with the Oregon Trunk line and the Harriman line through the Deschutes, at Metolius, giving an excellent outlet to the marketing centers for all of the territory tapped by the line.

WOOL NOW BEING SHIPPED EAST

TWENTY-FOUR CARS WILL BE SHIPPED FROM HERE

Wool is arriving at Local Freight Yards for shipment from Bonanza, Merrill, Keno Springs and Chewaucan—Clip From the Lava Bed Section Has Averaged Nine Pounds to the Sheep.

The second shipment of wool from Klamath Falls this season was completed Monday when two eight-horse teams arrived and unloaded at the Southern Pacific freight depot. On June 27th two carloads were sent East from this point, and the second shipment will go forward probably tomorrow, and will consist of two carloads.

Commercial Agent J. Bailey of the Southern Pacific estimates that there will be at least twenty more carloads of wool loaded for shipment at this point.

The wool received for the second shipment came principally from Dave Edler and I. D. Applegate. It was from Bonanza, Merrill, Keno Springs and Chewaucan.

All of the wool for shipment from here was bought by Frank E. Rickey, and will be sent to Elseman Bros. of Boston, Mass. Mr. Rickey is still in the field buying wool and concluding his business arrangements. He is at present in Lakeview.

The wool sold by Mr. Applegate came from sheep grazed in the lava bed country. He states that the average from his sheep was nine pounds, an exceptional high average.
