

TOM BARKLEY RELEASED FROM JAIL

RANCHER OF INDIAN AGENCY IS DISCHARGED FROM PORTLAND PRISON — WILL RETURN TO THE KLAMATH AGENCY

After spending almost a month in jail in this city and in Portland, Tom Barclay has been discharged. He arrived here Friday night en route to his home near Yainax.

Barkley was arrested on the reservation on July 5th on a charge of taking whiskey on the reservation. Frank Victor was arrested about the same time for a similar offense. Victor was released from custody at the same time as Barkley, who declares there was no ground for his own arrest.

The Portland Journal has the following to say regarding the dismissal of the charges against Victor and Barclay:

"Two indictments against Frank Victor were dismissed by United States District Judge Bean this morning on motion of Deputy United States District Attorney Maguire. Victor was charged with taking liquor on to the Klamath Indian reservation, and the reason of the dismissal was the discovery that he had been inveigled into the crime by Thomams Barclay, who was indicted on the same charge, and who is a stool pigeon for higher-ups who are anxious for convictions. Barclay was also allowed to go, as he has been in jail over a month."

C. E. Witter filed a case today in the circuit court against C. L. Reed, et al, for work and labor and material furnished in the building of a residence in this city. The plaintiff is represented by H. S. Crane.

RANGERS KEEP EYE ON HUNTERS

With the opening of the hunting season the forest service has redoubled its watch over the timber lands under its care, as past experiences show that with the woods full of hunters the danger of forest fire is greatly enhanced. During the next two months no section of the forest will be left unguarded for a fire to start and spread.

The opening of the fire season this year finds Crater Lake National forest in better condition than ever before for the fighting of forest fires. Trails have been built into many of the inaccessible spots, while many miles of telephone wires have been spread like a network throughout the forest to facilitate getting a call for help to headquarters. Unless several fires should break out at the same time there is little likelihood of any fire getting beyond control.

The rangers will keep close watch on the many hunting parties in the hills, and see that no camp fires are left unextinguished. Rain over the forests this season has lessened the danger of fire.

JACK PINE IS HELD VALUABLE

According to reports issued by the government, the much despised "jack pine" and the nearly as useless scrub hemlock can and will make ideal paper pulp, and that such portions as are favored by timbered areas of these woods will be eventually blessed instead of cursed.

The Ashland forestry office has received samples of the paper made from the pulp of the respective trees. Aside from a slightly yellow color, the paper is of as fine and smooth a texture as is the exorbitantly priced spruce. The papers received are the results of the first experiments, and government testers state that they will remove the color of the pine and leave the same silken whiteness of the spruce.

Through this section jack pine is found in abundance. On account of its grain the wood has no real commercial value, and it is used entirely as cord wood on that account. With the establishment of a pulp mill this timber could be furnished on the average of $1.60 per cord, while the manufacturers of pulp are forced to pay as high as $12 a cord for spruce. Not only is the cost high on spruce at this time, but government reports show that the supply is fast becoming exhausted. Already thousands of cords of this wood are being shipped as ballast from foreign countries.

With the substitution of jack pine the making of paper will be reduced in the manufacturing cost and a great deal of heretofore waste timber throughout the coast country will be used. When such a time arrives Southern Oregon will bid fair to have a pulp mill—a great industry, employing many men.

WITNESS DOES NOT APPEAR

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon, J. Oscar appeared in the justice court in Keno Saturday, but the case was dismissed because of the failure of the complaining witness to put in an appearance.

On Friday the sheriff's office here was advised that a complaint had been issued against Oscar at the instigation of Robbins, but none of the details were given. Oscar appeared before the justice of peace in Keno this morning, but the complaining witness, Robbins, did not appear to substantiate the charge.

CRATER LAKE BEATS THEM ALL

ST. PAUL TRAVELER MAKES 60,000 MILE TRIP IN AUTO, AND IS BEST PLEASED WITH SIGHTS OF THIS SECTION

After traveling 60,000 miles by automobile, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Henderson of St. Paul, Minn., are of the opinion that Crater Lake is the most wonderful bit of scenery in the United States.

"We are thorough believers in the 'See America First' theory as evolved by James J. Hill," said Mr. Henderson after a visit to the lake, "and we have motored to all of the great scenic attractions of the United States. Two years ago we traveled eastward to the Niagara Falls and other eastern scenic attractions, journeying down the Hudson, which is a wonderful automobile trip. Last year we motored through Yellowstone and to the Grand Canyon of Colorado. We have traveled nearly 60,000 miles in the United States by automobile, and are traveling over six months each year.

"This year we decided to tour the Northwest and visit Crater Lake, and we feel more than repaid for the trip. The lake is the most beautiful single bit of scenery in the United States, and I believe this after seeing many more noted attractions.

"We have never been in Yosemite Valley, but expect to visit it this year. Then we will tour eastward, stopping at Lake Tahoe. We know the Rockies fairly well now.

Crater Lake is wonderful. All it needs to make it the leading scenic attraction on the Pacific coast is advertising and an automobile highway."

Rev. and Mrs. Charles F. Aked arrived in this city Friday night, accompanied by two maids. They will go to Harriman Lodge on a visit. Rev. Aked was at one time pastor of John D. Rockefeller's Fifth avenue Baptist church in New York.

COUNTY READY TO BUILD ROADS

VIEWERS ARE APPOINTED ON HIGHWAY CONNECTING MIDLAND WITH SECOND STREET. COMMITTEE STILL SHORT

The county court on Friday appointed C. D. Wilson and Judge Geo. T. Baldwin, as viewers on the road petitioned for from Midland to Klamath Falls, to connect with Second street. Judge Worden stated that the county would build the road petitioned for and intimated that work would be commenced just as soon as the viewers made their report.

If the committee which has in charge raising the finances for the extension of Second street to the city limits, are successful in securing the balance of $1,800 to make up the $10,000 cost, the indications are that the Second street road to Midland will be open to travel this fall. Work is progressing on the Second street improvement, and workmen are now filling in on the south side of the canal, but a full force cannot be put on until the full amount necessary for the work is assured. The county is ready to do its part, and if there is any delay in building the road it will be due to the citizens who are interested in the opening of the street.

MILES LOCATES MINERAL CLAIM

T. R. Miles, well known guide and hunter, was here Saturday from Fort Klamath. He had been engaged to take out a party of hunters from Harriman Lodge, but at the last minute they changed their minds.

Mr. Miles has recently returned from a prospecting trip to the headquarters of the Umpqua. He located some ground which he is confident will prove valuable.

"Game is plentiful north of here," said Mr. Miles. "In the vicinity of Diamond Lake there is fine hunting. This country is easy to get into. There is a good wagon road right to Diamond Lake."

Social Events of the Week

RESUME OF THE SOCIAL EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK GATHERED FOR HERALD READERS—THE COMINGS AND GOINGS OF SOCIETY'S PETS

Augustus Caesar named the eighth month of the year August, in his own honor. He was a great and powerful king—an august emperor—and brought to a crystallization one of the greatest empires of the earth. August, too, is a month of realizations—the grains are garnered, the fruits mature and the flowers come to seed—the consummation of summer. The red-brown sardonyx, with its layer of yellow, is August's birthstone, and the somnolent poppy its representative flower.
