

BILL HANLEY IS THE CITY'S GUEST

POPULAR CATTLEMAN OF CENTRAL OREGON SPENDS NIGHT IN THE CITY AND STARTS FOR HARRIMAN LODGE

"Bill" Hanley was in town this morning.

Therefore there was a public reception on every corner.

A man who has claimed to have resided in this section for any length of time could have been told at a glance this morning by the way he spoke or didn't speak to "Bill."

Every resident of this section of more than two or three years' standing knows "Bill" Hanley, and the result was that the cattleman's right hand was twisted nearly out of shape shaking hands with his friends here.

Mr. Hanley was the guest of Judge Worden and left about 10 o'clock for Harriman Lodge, en route to Crater Lake.

Great difficulty has been experienced in securing eligibles for these positions, and all qualified persons are urged to make application for and compete in this examination. BENSON WINS HAPPY BRIDE

Harry G. Benson is married.

R. M. Richardson received word to this effect in a letter from the happy groom last Thursday.

The wedding occurred in Baker, Ore., last Tuesday, and the bride is Miss Claudia Jacobs, a sister of Mrs. Will Baldwin.

Mr. Benson is a son of Judge Benson of the circuit court, and is very well known in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson will make their home in Butte, Mont., where Mr. Benson has secured a situation.

In an attempt to solve the mystery of the disappearance of B. B. Bakowski, the photographer who dropped out of sight last winter while on a trip to Crater Lake, Frank Gage and Cle. Clark risked their lives on Thursday. They were lowered over one of the unexplored precipices of the rim of the crater, but found no trace of the missing photographer.

News of the daring exploit of the two men was conveyed here in a letter from Superintendent Arant of the Crater National Park.

On Thursday morning a party consisting of Messrs. Gage, Clark, W. F. Arant, H. E. Momyer, A. T. Arant and Anderson Allen went up on the rugged portion of the rim, called Eagle Crags, and with the aid of ropes Mr. Gage and Mr. Clark were lowered over the bluff into deep pockets in the lava formation, which had never before been explored.

A thorough search was made by the two daring men, but no trace of Bakowski was found.

The entire vicinity of the famous lake has now been gone over in an effort to explain the mysterious disappearance of the photographer, but no indication of what has become of him or how he so effectively disappeared has been discovered.

MERRICK BODY IS SENT HOME

Short but impressive funeral services were held at the railroad depot in Lakeview Thursday over the remains of Postmaster Merrick of Portland, who died suddenly while bathing in the hot springs there the day before.

Although Mr. Merrick was a Catholic, friends who gathered at the depot to witness the departure of the body for Portland insisted on the reading of impressive services by Bishop Scadding and Bishop Paddock of the Episcopal church. Several hymns were sung and the body, accompanied by Receiver Orton of the Lakeview land office, a life-long friend of Mr. Merrick, started on the journey to Portland by the way of Reno, Nevada.

JUDGES PICKED IN AWX CONTEST

Judges in the city beautiful contest for the finest lawns have been chosen as follows: Mrs. L. F. Willits, Mrs. J. P. Lee, Mrs. George I. Wright, Mr. Elmer Applegate and Prof. Max A. McCall, instructor in agriculture in the city and county schools. Prof. McCall, who is an expert in such matters, is preparing a schedule of points which will be followed by the committee of judges in awarding the prizes.

One of the largest, greenest and generally best kept lawns in the city is that of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Brockenbrough, in the Hot Springs addition. This lawn, while urged as a probable prize winner if entered in the contest, will not be among those submitted to the judges. Mrs. Brockenbrough has declined to enter it for the reason that she is the vice president of the movement.

In the meantime it stands as an encouraging model to others who have yards and want pretty ones.

DID PARSON FISH ON THE SABBATH

IF STORY ABOUT REV. CHARLES F. AKED IS TRUE—FORMER OCCUPANT OF ROCKEFELLER'S PULPIT AGITATED BY STORY

Whether Rev. Charles F. Aked really fished on last Sabbath or not is not to be verified in this city, from the reverend gentleman himself. But that the reverend's ire was stirred to its zenith by the publication of the story in the Sacramento Union under a Klamath Falls date line. A reporter who got the reverend on the telephone to ask as to the truth of such an eminent divine taking his rod and line out on the holy Sabbath, in the high hope of annexing a few trout certainly got no denial or affirmation of the story.

Rev. Aked said that he had no statement to make, one way or the other, and the way in which he said it left no doubt as to the fact that he was irritated more completely than is often the case.

It's the prominence of this dominion that makes the story so interesting, and while it is certainly a fish story in one sense of the word, in that it concerns a fish, whether it is a fish story as far as concerns its veracity is in doubt.

Rev. Aked was very prominent as a clergyman when he had a pulpit in the British isles, and when he took the John D. Rockefeller church in New York it caused quite a stir. But when he left that church to take a San Francisco church it caused a bigger stir, for it was commonly reported that he felt his sphere of action in the Rockefeller congregation was too limited, and that there were too many "dry bones" in the church to make his evangelistic aspirations possible.

Miss Ida Momyre, stenographer in the First National bank, left this morning for Camp Arant, where she will visit a few days with her father and mother. Mr. Momyre is ranger in the national park.

Captain O. C. Applegate and family have returned from a several weeks' stay on the Klamath reservation. In former years Captain Applegate had charge of the reservation for the government.

Harry Anglin of San Francisco, who was superintendent of construction of the White Pelican hotel for Arthur Arlett, the contractor, who undertook the erection of the hospital pile, arrived in the city last evening for a brief stay.

FORMER MINISTER QUILTS BUSINESS

W. E. GOODE, HARDWARE MAN OF MACDOEL, WILL SELL HIS BUSINESS IN ORDER TO GET BACK INTO THE PULPIT

W. E. Goode, hardware merchant of Macdoel, a flourishing village in the Butte Valley, wants to quit business and go back into the ministry. He is in the city today, and tomorrow will don his Christian war togs here. He is going to preach in the Free Methodist church pulpit.

This morning Mr. Goode visited The Herald office and advertised his business for sale or exchange. He wants to get back into the pulpit. He feels a call.

For years Mr. Goode, a regularly ordained minister of the gospel, preached in the Willamette Valley, but a few years ago he listened to the call of commerce and engaged in the merchandise business in the little town of Macdoel. He has been successful in business, but he wants to go back to the ministry.

NEW SCHOOL WILL SOON BE REALITY

County Superintendent of Schools John G. Swan on Friday attended the school bond election at Texum, which resulted in the district, which is No. 44, resolving to authorize the issue of $2,000 bonds for a new school. The vote was unanimous, nine votes being cast for the bond issue, and none against. As soon as arrangements can be made, construction of a new and modern building will be begun. The school is near Texum station of the Southern Pacific about seven miles from this city by road, but only four miles in a direct line. There is some discussion among the freeholders of the district as to the advisability of calling it Miller Hill, instead of Texum, but as yet no decision has been reached.

Independence That Pays

IRRIGATION can be made profitable wherever the rainfall is uncertain. Even in Oregon where the total rainfall is 30 to 40 inches there are many profitable irrigating plants, because the rain does not always fall at the time when it is most necessary to the successful growing of crops. A nearby stream or fast-flowing well, a pump of sufficient capacity, and a dependable make every farmer who has them independent of rainfall conditions, and practically sure of the best growing conditions for his crops.

I H C engines are recommended for irrigating work because of their reliability. They are always ready for the work demanded of them. They are easily moved from place to place; need little attention after starting; are simple, easily understood and managed; and may be used for farm pumping, sawing, running the feed grinder, grindstone or emery wheel, cream separator, churn, washing machine, etc., besides running the irrigating plant. The I H C line includes water and air-cooled engines—stationary 1 to 50-H. P.; portable 1 to 25-H. P.; skidded 1 to 10-H. P.; tractors, 12, 15, 20, 25, and 45-H. P.; sawing, spraying, grinding outfits, etc.
