

TAFT FAVORS THE WORKINGMAN

MOTION TO INVESTIGATE DIFFERENCES IS SIGNED

Legislation Looking Toward Friendly Relations Between Labor and Capital Is Urged by the President. Bill to Render Effective the Sealing Treaty in Far North Meets President's Approval.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—President Taft today signed the Hughes bill providing for an industrial commission to investigate labor conditions, and recommending legislation seeking amicable relations between labor and capital.

The president also signed another bill rendering effective the Alaskan fur sealing treaty.

Acting at the request of Judge Bean and Judge Wolverton of the United States district court, and with the full approval of the department of Justice, Leslie M. Scott has accepted temporary appointment as United States marshal for Oregon until a successor is named by President Taft. In accepting Mr. Scott says:

"Only two considerations influence me in again assuming the duties of the marshal's office. One is that the appointment is absolutely out of politics, being a judicial act of the court. The other is that the appointment is in itself an approval of the conduct of the office during my administration, and under the circumstances I feel that I should accept to aid in straightening out the tangle into which the office has been plunged by politics."

"The present situation is the result purely of political interference with the office for the last three years, and demonstrates the advisability of taking such positions entirely from politics." The marshal is the executive officer of the court, and should be appointed and controlled by the court.

"My appointment is not political, and I consider that it takes the office out of politics temporarily, as I am a temporary court officer, owing my tenure to a judicial act of the court. As soon as the office is plunged into politics again, and that may be within a day or two, I count myself out."

The court order naming Scott was signed by two judges. The bond for the position is $30,000. As soon as he is sworn in he will re-appoint his deputies, who will receive new commissions. While legally they cannot receive pay as the situation now stands, for their services from August 10th, at which time Mr. Scott's resignation was accepted, until they are re-commissioned. Mr. Scott already has taken up with the department of Justice the matter of special action by the department to pay them.

SENATOR WEED ARRIVES HERE

Senator Abner Weed in his new 42-horsepower Franklin auto was the first of the delegates to the Central Oregon Development League meeting. He came in about 1 o'clock this afternoon after being out five hours on the road.

Soon after his arrival here the senator furnished considerable amusement for the loungers in court house square when he interrupted an ambitious machinist, who insisted on inspecting the senator's car.

The machinist had the hood off the engine when the senator appeared on the scene. There was a brief, but emphatic, one-sided dialogue, and the engine hood was replaced.

Cities and towns all over the state are sending children, and it is expected that over 500 children under four of age will be passed upon by the women physicians in charge.

Mr. Plummer, who was selected at the state fair as superintendent of this movement, was one of the speakers on this subject at the league meeting, and was listened to with deep attention. He has given the matter considerable thought, and presents the merits of the movement in a masterful manner.

Mr. Plummer is in the city today interesting local people in the movement, and with considerable success. "Klamath Falls ought to put itself on the map by sending some children to the state fair in Salem," said Mr. Plummer.

BOOSTERS ARE IN THIS CITY

GREGORY SAYS CHARGES TRIVIAL

JUDGE HANFORD IS DEFENDED BY NOTED LAWYER

President of Bar Association Declares That Charges Against Seattle Judge Were Not of a Nature to Warrant Impeachment—Recall of Judges Is Not Favored by the Association's Leader.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 27.—Stephen Gregory of Chicago, president of the American Bar Association, in opening the meeting of the association here today discussed the arbitration treaties and suggested trust legislation needed.

In discussing the recall of judges the speaker said:

"As to the election of judges for short terms, I consider this preposterous. I am opposed to it in any form and under any circumstances. As to Judge Hanford, I venture to express the opinion, although I possibly should not, that the matter sought to be proved seems to have been for the most part of the most trivial nature, falling far short of such high crimes and misdemeanors as to warrant the impeachment of a federal judge."

The executive committee reported that a proposal had been made to admit to membership three negroes. They are William Lewis, assistant attorney general; Butler Wilson of Massachusetts and William Morris of Minnesota.

Secretary of War Dickenson presented a resolution providing that hereafter all applications of negroes for membership must plainly state that the applicants are colored. The resolution was carried amidst confusion. The session then adjourned until tomorrow, when the real fight on the negro question will be made.

Handsome tapestries adorn the walls and numerous marble statues on mahogany pedestals serve to complete the rich effect.

ARCHBOLD WILL SUE ROOSEVELT

STANDARD OIL CHIEF RESENTS STATEMENT OF COLONEL

Libel Suit Is Now in the Hands of the Chief Counsel for the Standard Oil Company—Notorious Trust Senator From Idaho Starts One-Man Filibuster and Prevents Investigation Resolution

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—John Archbold of the Standard Oil company sailed for Europe today, after intimating that suit would be started by him against Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Archbold issued a statement in which he gave the first intimation of a suit against the leader of the Bull Mooseers.

"I am not a liar," said Mr. Archbold, in his statement, "and I am not accustomed to being so accused. I shall not endure it lightly."

Asked if he meant to sue Roosevelt for libel, Mr. Archbold said: "I mean something to that effect." The Standard Oil chief stated that M. P. Elliott, chief counsel of the Standard Oil company, would have charge of the case, and that nothing would be done until the return of Mr. Archbold from Europe.

Roosevelt Silent

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 24.—Colonel Roosevelt declined today to discuss the possible testimony in the Penrose probe until he knows what the committee intends to do. He promised to make a statement tonight.

Heyburn Is Afraid

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—Just when the senate was about to agree on a resolution of investigation which would open up whatever Standard Oil taint there might have been in the campaign of 1904, and thereby throw light on the charges that certain legislators received money gifts from the oil trust, Senator Heyburn of Idaho started a one-man filibuster. Senators Penrose and Poindexter had framed a resolution authorizing the Clapp committee to probe the charges voiced on the floor, and before the Clapp committee.

Heyburn objected, declaring that the senate should not open up the sewers of political contests. He retained the floor despite the efforts to dislodge him. It was apparent that he hoped to force an adjournment without adopting the resolution.

WORK ON CUT-OFF PROBLEMATICAL

News about what the Southern Pacific may or may not do with regard to resumption of work on the Klamath Falls-Natron cut-off beginning at the Williamson River and going northward is pretty hard to stir up just now. Inquiry made this morning at the office of Assistant Engineer C. H. Beatty revealed that no orders had been issued to that office as to going ahead or not going ahead.

"We have no instructions on the work either way," was the statement given there. "The information on matters of that kind is not imparted to the construction department until the company is ready to go ahead or not go ahead. If we had the information to give we would be very glad to let The Herald have it, but we lack it, and consequently cannot enlighten you."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil company and Senator Penrose reached the committee room of the senate this morning. Mr. Archbold jauntily smoked a cigarette.

At 9:30 Archbold was sworn, and his examination was started by Senator Clapp. The witness was asked what contributions the Standard Oil company had made to the republican campaign fund in 1904.

"We made two contributions," replied the witness. "One was made to Bliss. It was for $100,000. One was made to Senator Penrose. It was for $25,000. This was some time in November, and the currency was given to Mr. Bliss in my office."

"Senator Bliss sent me a receipt, but I have not been able to find it. This money was from the Standard Oil company, and was not from individuals."

"There was some talk, only a suspicion, that the money might not be acceptable. I said that I wanted Roosevelt to know of our contribution. Senator Bliss said:

"I'll certainly tell Roosevelt." "The directors who authorized the contribution were Rogers, Tilford and one other. We were worried to death."

The witness was shown a magazine containing the Archbold-Penrose letter. He said:

"The signature is a forgery. It has the word 'signed' before the signature. I did not sign it. It looks like a forgery."

In a recent statement Senator Penrose has stated that Roosevelt had known of the Standard Oil company's contribution.

"President Roosevelt had been advised of the contribution," Mr. Penrose declared. He said that later Cornelius N. Bliss, then treasurer of the national committee, asked for another contribution of $150,000 from Archbold and his associates, "interested in the Standard Oil."

"The demand was urgent, insistent—I may say imperative, and it was reported it came direct from President Roosevelt," declared Senator Penrose, forcefully.

William Flynn, Roosevelt leader in Pennsylvania, was scored by Penrose. The senator charged that in 1904, Flynn offered him and Israel W. Durham "$1,000,000 or $2,000,000" if they would favor his candidacy to the senate to succeed Senator Quay. Senator Penrose read what purported to be copies of telegrams to show that Flynn asked John D. Archbold to assist him in securing the election.

He followed farming and stock raising, and was an extensive holder of farm lands. His friends and acquaintances of the state and of Benton county in particular are numerous. For several years Mr. Smith had been falling in health, and about a year ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis, since then being confined to the house.

Mr. Smith was proud of the fact that he had never been out of the state of Oregon, and it is said that when asked why he did not take a trip and see the world he replied: "I don't believe there is any country better to look at than this is. I do not believe any country could be better. It suits me, and I don't care to look at anything else."

SHEPHERD IS A BUNCO VICTIM

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Joseph Marchand, a shepherd from Oregon, complained to the police that he had been victimized out of $1,500, his life savings, by two bunco men.

The men met Marchand, and after they bought him several drinks one represented that he was a philanthropist, and had $10,000 he wished to distribute to the poor. He said he wanted to find some good, honest man to take charge of the fund who could show that he was responsible. Marchand liked the idea of the job, and took the men to the French bank and drew out his $1,500 to show he had money.

The money was placed in a brown valise along with the $10,000 fund and Marchand was given the possession of the bag. They visited several places and finally the men left him. Last night Marchand opened the satchel to see that the money was all safe, and found nothing but a piece of gaspipe and other metal.

ROOSEVELT WILL DISCUSS CHARGE

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 27.—Colonel Roosevelt plans to publish tonight a letter to Senator Clapp, regarding the Standard Oil company contribution to his 1904 campaign fund. He will discuss the matter exhaustively.

Last night Colonel Roosevelt conferred with Judge Lindsey, Perkins and William Hotchkiss.

Secretary Caleb T. Oliver of the Chamber of Commerce was agreeably surprised Tuesday by the receipt of a box of the "peaches that made Yuba famous," sent by George Ohleyer of Yuba City, Calif. J. W. Ross, who has been down in California prosecuting for the Woodmen of the World meeting which is to be held in this city during the coming county fair, has been circulating among the people there and stirred up interest in both the fair and the Woodmen event, resulting in Ohleyer forwarding to Oliver the fruit. It is a specimen of what may be seen at the county fair, of which Mr. Oliver is manager, if the efforts of the people in that fruit raising section should determine to send an exhibit to the coming agricultural show.

The peaches run about 2 1/2 inches in diameter, and weigh but little short of a pound each.

"I read in the Sutter Independent where it was determined to ask the county supervisors for $200 with which to defray the expense of sending an exhibit to the Klamath county fair," said Mr. Oliver. "I have written to the people down there telling them that if the appropriation is made and an exhibit sent up here we will give them free space at the fair. We will do everything we can to encourage exhibitors to join us in the enterprise."

"Malir, Bly and Fort Klamath are all busy gathering things which will be sent here and placed on display, and from the reports we have gathered so far our fair will be a distinct success in every way. One advantage which the city will have this next time will be in a shorter road to the fair, for the work on Second street has gone to a point where people going out may use that thoroughfare instead of Sixth street, as last year."

John Dyer, hotel man of Dorris, arrived in the city last night, and is transacting business here today.
