guests. Five hundred was played, and a luncheon was served to the guests.

Mrs. I. Jay Knapp was re-elected president of the Jiu-Ni-Yel club at a meeting of that organization at the residence of Mrs. E. J. Stewart Monday, and the following were also chosen for another term: Mrs. Frank Ward, treasurer; Mrs. Clarence O. Morgan, secretary. Refreshments were served to those attending, who were Mrs. Frank Ward, Mrs. Clarence O. Morgan, Mrs. Thomas Hampton, Mrs. Fred Melhase, Mrs. G. R. Manning, Mrs. S. S. Henley and Mrs. Knapp.

Mrs. Stewart was again hostess the following afternoon, when the Guild met at her home. An interesting talk by Rev. Jones, the missionary worker of the eastern Oregon diocese, was given, and refreshments were served. Attending were Mrs. I. Jay Knapp, Mrs. S. S. Henley, Mrs. G. R. Manning, Mrs. Frank Ward, Mrs. Clarence O. Morgan, Mrs. Fred Melhase, Mrs. C. C. Chitwood and Mrs. Bridges.

The newly elected corps of officers and the former president of the Women's Civic league were luncheon guests of Mrs. W. T. Forrest, president of the league, Wednesday, and at this gathering plans for the future work of the league in Klamath Falls were outlined. Attending were Mrs. Mary A. Jackson, Mrs. G. W. White, Mrs. R. H. Dunbar, Mrs. Thomas Hampton, Mrs. Louis H. Bath and Mrs. Robert Savidge.

Mrs. Henry Newnam entertained the Leisure Hour club Wednesday afternoon with four tables of bridge. A dainty luncheon was a feature of the gathering.

Thursday evening, "St. Cloud", Commodore Nosler's wonderful residence at Shippington, was the scene of one of the biggest and most successful parties that yet been held there. Dancing and music were the chief features of the evening, and at a late hour, refreshments were served. Excellent music for dancing was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. DeChain and Mr. Chris Conzach. E. T. Nelson also furnished an orchestra, composed of Fred Page, Cello; George Bodenheimer, clarinet, and Forrest Bodenheimer, violin, and special numbers were rendered. Mr. Nelson also rendered two well-received vocal numbers, "Asleep in the Deep" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

LARGE CLASS GETS DIPLOMAS

Out of 116 applicants for eighth-grade certificates in Klamath county, only two failed in the recent examination, and the number passed conditionally was very small, according to the members of the board of examiners, Misses M. Carleton and Edna Wells, and Messrs. Peterson and Dunbar, who have completed the work of grading the papers.

Another examination will be held next month, in order to allow those promoted conditionally a chance to make up the one or more studies in which they were deficient.

The highest average was made by Emma Henzik of the Riverside school, her grade being 96.2. Other high averages follow: Cyril Parsons, Bonanza, 95.5; Rosa Bathwell, Lone Pine, 95.1; Ruth Masten, Bonanza, 95.

Following are the successful pupils:

Hall, Mrs. Robert A. Emmitt, Mrs. G. W. White, Mrs. Lester Lewis Leavitt, Mrs. Claude W. Coseboom, Mrs. J. J. Parker, Mrs. H. J. Dixon, Mrs. John H. Hamilton. A dainty two-course luncheon was served during the course of the afternoon.

In honor of Edmund Gowen, Mrs. Louis Gerber entertained a number of young people at her home Wednesday evening, when five hundred was played. Present were Miss Maude Goddard, Miss Lois Myers, Miss Pearl Bolvin, Miss Maude Rippey, Miss Nina Noel, Miss Marjorie McClure, Miss Katherine Williams, Miss Margaret Williams, Miss Ruth Morris, Miss Lenart, Miss Fannie Virgil, Edmund Gowen, Garrett Van Ripper, William H. Duncan, Harold C. Merryman, J. B. McAllister, Claude Maxwell, Albrecht Oehler, Lawrence Mehaffey, Ernest Bubb, Albrecht Loewe and Harry Goeller. The prizes were won by Miss McClure and Mr. Loewe. Refreshments were served during the evening by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Williams.

Louis H. Bath and wife were pleasantly surprised this week by the arrival of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Moore. They are from Stockton, and may spend the entire summer here.

The Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. A. Delzell Thursday afternoon, among those present being Mrs. A. M. Worden, Mrs. Lyon, Mrs. Sargent, Mrs. William Sargent, Mrs. J. S. Stubblefield, Mrs. Willis E. Faught, Mrs. C. P. Stewart, Mrs. R. C. Spink, Mrs. J. B. Mason, Mrs. W. S. Slough, Mrs. Harry Caden, Mrs. S. P. Lowery. An interesting program was rendered, which was followed by refreshments.

The assembly hall of the Sacred Heart Church was the scene of a highly enjoyable party Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Chas. Riley as hostess, entertained the members of the choir in appreciation of its splendid work. Mrs. Riley was assisted by Mrs. Martin McAndrews and Miss Mrs. Martin McAndrews, Mrs. Callahan, Mrs. Frank Applegate and Mrs. Frank Howard. The guests: Mr. and Mrs. William H. Shaw, Mrs. Arch Y. Tindall, Mrs. Fred Barlow, Mrs. Matthew Smith, M. J. McDonough, Rev. William McMillan, S. J., J. B. McAllister, Carl Schubert and Martin Lavenik. There were three tables of five hundred, and the first prize went to Mrs. Tindall and Mr. McAllister. The consolation awards were won by Mrs. Barlow and Mr. Schubert. Music and singing were also parts of the evening's pleasant features, and a delicious three course luncheon was served.

A number of young people in the Lorella neighborhood were very pleasantly entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Lou Bussey. The evening was spent in games of different kinds, after which appetizing refreshments were served.

The following were the Ashland Tidings: Miss Lillian M. Smith, formerly of this city, was married at 336 Hasley street, Portland, to Mr. Smith of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Smith took the south-bound train for a trip to California, stopping two days in Ashland to visit friends and relatives. They will make their home at Klamath Falls, where Mr. Smith is a shareholder in the Pine Tree Lumber Company.

The "Violet Tea", given at the home of Mrs. C. V. Fisher by the ladies of the Grace Methodist Church Thursday afternoon was a very successful occasion, delighting a large number of ladies, who manifested their pleasure most enthusiastically. An amusing flower contest was held, following which a musical program

A few friends of J. C. Brockenbrough spent a delightful evening at the Brockenbrough residence on Fairview Heights, Thursday evening, the occasion being a stag party. Cards, cigars and a luncheon made the evening pleasant for the guests, Messrs. J. C. Rutenic, Arthur C. Lewis, Joseph S. Kent and Bernard Rutenik.

After a highly successful year, the Klamath Literary Club held its final meeting of the season at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Stewart Tuesday evening, at which the topic was "Crime and Criminals" with Rollo C. Groesbeck as leader. The discussion was one that was of great interest to all, and nearly everybody present participated. The new attitude toward the criminal class was a topic of highest interest to all. The sessions of the club will not be taken up again until fall. The final event of this season will be a picnic at Swan Lake Thursday. There are twenty-two active members, and all will attend. Although the club was organized only last fall, it has rapidly gained in importance, and in the scope of work covered. Next year the field will be greatly enlarged. Much credit for the success of the club is due to Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Zim Baldwin have returned from Lakeview, where they spent 19 days.

Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Johnson was the guest of honor at an entertainment given by Mrs. William P. Hughes at her home in Hot Springs addition, at which were Mrs. Fred Sperry, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. E. Roberts, Miss Maude Baldwin, Mrs. Louis Gerber, Charles Baldwin and Harold C. Merryman as

New York, May 16:—Dan Cupid has turned designer. He has conived with Dame Fashion to keep wayward husbands home nights and love fires lighted on Hymeneal hearths. When curl paper and Mother Hubbards came to the breakfast table, Love and Friend Husband sought refuge behind the newspaper. Hence the sly Cupid has specialized in negliges. So fascinating are the results that newspapers are no longer digested with the morning egg, but love feasts of sugar and honey are the matrimonial menu. Who could resist you in the froth of shadow lace, the fluff of chiffon, and the rivoil of rosebuds?

A fairy-like model with these three accessories is built on Empire lines. The short bodice is of shadow lace veiled in flesh colored chiffon. The short, loose sleeves of lace are caught with a tiny wreath of wee pink rosebuds of chiffon. A girle of wide Nattier blue picot edge ribbon loosely confines the short waist and fastens in front with a long ended bow centered with a rose wreath. The skirt is ankle length of the lace finished with two wide ruffles and an overskirt of the chiffon edged with rosebuds reaches to the top of the first ruffle.

In striking contrast with its chaste simplicity, but equally fetching, is a plain charmeuse of cerulian hue cut on loose kimona lines, outlined in swansdown and girded with a tasseled rope of silver cord. Since all is fair in love and war, it is fitting that Balkan influences should invade the realm of the negligee. Mere man will have to surrender to the variegated charms of the Bulgarian robe and if you don one you will certainly be up in arms—his arms. Developed in ochre, Chinese blue, or myrtle green crepe, the V shape neck, short kimona sleeves, and wide sash are embroidered in bright Bulgarian silks. Ball buttons of imitation amber, lapis lazuli or jade fasten the loose blouse waist and flowing skirt down the front, and tassels of variegated silk finish the sash ends.

It is a good thing love is blind. If Eros had a finger in the designing of the new Futurist boudoir gowns he would have to be or else resort to smoked glasses. Nothing so dazzlingly riotous in color has been seen since childhood's happy days when you used to peer at the prismatic glories of your ten cent kaleidoscope. Loose draped robes in these conglomerately colored silks have eruptions of red, orange, green, blue and purple rosettes of chiffon down the front and adorning the sleeves.

An overflow of Easter egg rosettes trim the slippers of bright shirred silk which match up this quiet little rest robe. Negligees these days must be complete from your head to your toes. Tootsies en negligee particularly are sartorial feats. For the Balkan robes are the turkish slippers of bright hued leather gold embroidered and silk fringed turban tops your tousled mop. Dainty satin mull in delicate shades garlanded in rosebuds and a Marie Antoinette mob cap of shadow lace, satin ribbon and buds add the touch of Parisienne to your elaborate lace and chiffon negligee.

Satin sandals laced with ribbons round your ankles are made with equal appropriateness from beneath the lace edge flounces of your Empire negligee of pompadour chiffon or the flowing draperies of your Grecian lounging robe. The quaint embroidered silk slippers of the Chinese bells are a fitting finish for your richly embroidered kimona from far Japan.

With the prodigal return of the petticoat the short breakfast jacket has taken on a new lease of fashionable life. The Balkan jacket, shaped something like a Cossack coat with a fringed sash in lieu of a cartridge belt is the only new real novelty in this line. It reaches almost to the knees and the petticoat worn with it must partake of the jacket's bright hued color scheme.

There is this to say of these Balkan and Futurist negligees. Though they may jar the peaceful quietude of the home with their shrieking colors, they will save you many a fat bill at the dry cleaners. You can't lounge long unsullied in pastel tinted chiffon and lace but an exodus from the ink bottle or even the jam pot will only enhance the color scheme of your Futurist or Balkan negligee.

If it is true that beauty is only skin deep, then verily the new flesh tinted blouses are the acme of pulchritude. In chiffon or crepe de chine the yoked fronts are laid in inch-wide pleats and the neck and sleeves finished with flat Dutch collars and cuffs of ecru tinted embroidered batiste. They are the very Chicest blouses for wear for your tailored suits. So closely does their tint simulate the flesh, that when fair devotees of teas toss back their coats at the smart hotel tea rooms, it looks like an open avowal that they have nothing on for F-day.

OKLAHOMA FOLKS CAN'T GET TITLE

LOWER LAKE BIRD PRESERVE IS THE LATEST TO HOLD UP THESE SETTLERS WHO HAVE WAITED FOR YEARS

Dorris, Cal., May 17.—Gus Day, a homesteader in the Oklahoma country, and who is now chief engineer at the box factory, is disgusted with the ill-fortune which has been his and his neighbors' lot since they took up homesteads in the then practically desolated country around the Lower Klamath lake, 20 years ago.

"For over 15 years my neighbors and I have tried to get a title to our land, but if it is not one thing to hinder us it is another," he said. "Those on the Oregon side of the lake have all got titles to their land, while us fellows on this side are still trying to get ours. I am not capable of solving the reason for not getting them."

Mr. Day said that the Klamath lake bird reservation is the present hindrance to the giving of a title to the land. He is not at all in sympathy with the reserve, and thinks that he has ample reasons for not being. He believes that the reserve is a useless undertaking, and stated that the farmers whose lands bordered on it were not even allowed to shoot ducks on their own property, a thing rarely heard or thought of. He has practically given up hope of acquiring a title to his land.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Crisler left Sunday for New Orleans, St. Louis and other points in the middle west and the south. They will be away at least a month.
