PETITION ASKS CHANGE IN LINES

IS ADDRESSED TO PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON

Banquet in Honor of Lewis Without Lewis Being Present Results in a Long Talk on Bird Protection, and Drafting of a Petition Asking That the Present Reserve Boundaries Be Altered in Places

A little bit different from the "smokerless smoker" was the "Lewisless Lewis banquet" given Monday by local sportsmen in honor of Agent Alva Lewis of the biological survey, department of agriculture, but after receiving telephonic word from Mr. Lewis that he would be unable to reach the city in time to participate, the men present settled down to a good talkfest on local game conditions.

Most of the talk concerned the proposed change of boundary of the Lower Lake bird preserve, in order to allow local sportsmen the benefit of the lower river shooting. Toward this end the following petition to President Wilson was drawn up, and has been left at the K. K. K. Store for the signatures of sportsmen:

"We, the undersigned citizens, residents and sportsmen of Klamath county, Oregon, respectfully petition, as follows:

That, Whereas, There was, on the 8th day of August, 1908, by executive order of the Honorable Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, created the Klamath reserve for the protection of native birds, which said reserve extends to within a few miles of the city of Klamath Falls, Oregon; and Whereas, It has never been the policy of the United States government to prohibit shooting and hunting upon the northern portion of this bird reserve, and the sportsmen of Klamath county and vicinity have since the creation of the said reserve enjoyed the privilege of shooting and hunting upon the northern portion of the said reserve; and,

"Whereas, At its last session the legislature of the State of Oregon passed an act prohibiting hunting and shooting upon all government and bird reservations within the state of Oregon, which law will prevent the enjoyment of the privilege heretofore enjoyed of hunting and shooting on the northern portion of the government bird reserve; and,

"Whereas, We believe that the northern portion of the said bird reservation is not necessary for the success of the plan of the United States government to protect the water fowl and provide a place for their un molested propagation, there being a large and sufficient area for this purpose in the southern portion thereof, and by the enforcement of the new state law the residents and citizens of Klamath county will be denied the privileges heretofore and for all time past enjoyed by them of hunting and shooting within the vicinity of Klamath Falls, Oregon;

HERALD IS DESIGNATED OFFICIAL PAPER OF CITY

By a vote of eight to one the city council Monday night awarded the contract for printing the legal publications of the city for one year to The Herald Publishing company, publishers of the Evening Herald, that paper to be designated as the official paper of Klamath Falls.

The sworn lists with the names and addresses of the subscribers were submitted by the Evening Herald and the Klamath Falls Northwestern. The list of the latter paper showed a total of 354 subscribers in the city of Klamath Falls, and an entire circulation of $25, including all of the subscribers to the Daily and Weekly Northwestern.

The Herald's list contained the names and addresses of 406 subscribers in Klamath Falls, and a total of 765 altogether. The bid of The Herald agreed to publish all of the legal notices of the city in the Evening Herald and also in the weekly Republican, without any additional charge in the latter publication. As the latter paper has a bona fide circulation of 1740, this permitted the city to reach a total of 2441 subscribers, which is three times as great as all other papers in Klamath Falls.

Just a week previous to Monday's meeting the Northwestern submitted a sworn statement that that paper had 1500 bona fide subscribers. Apparently during one short week that paper lost nearly 700 subscribers, as it was only possible to show 825 names.

ANKENY CANAL IS TALKED AGAIN

NEW ORDINANCE PROHIBITS THE DIVERTING OF WATER FROM THE STREAM BY THE WATER USERS

With the object of preventing the owners of water rights under the Ankeny canal from making any use of their rights, and with the hope of eventually closing the ditch, an ordinance was introduced Monday night by Councilman Goeller. The ordinance provides in part:

"It shall be unlawful and constitute a nuisance to divert water from the ditch or canal commonly known as the Ankeny ditch, anywhere in the city of Klamath Falls below block 151 in Buena Vista addition to said city, either for irrigation, household use or any other purposes."

OLD HISTORIC FURNITURE GOES AT BIG AUCTION

NEW YORK, June 10—Curio hunters and their representatives from all over the country gathered here today to bid for the famous old Astor House belongings. Besides the professional curio buyers and sellers, there was a goodly number of private collectors on hand to bid for the effects and furnishings of what is perhaps the most famous old hotelery in the United States.

Among some of the relics placed under the hammer today were chairs which furnished the suite of rooms in which the late King Edward, then the Prince of Wales, occupied. The furnishings of the suite occupied by the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia, and many articles of furniture in the suites occupied at various times by Henry Clay, Zachary Taylor, the famous Jennie Lind, Fenimore Cooper, Walt Whitman, Winfield Scott, Edgar Allen Poe, Andrew Jackson and other celebrities, were placed under the hammer today.

Still other curios to be auctioned today were the furnishings of the dining room in which every president of the United States since the Civil War with the exception of President Taft have taken meals.

It had been hoped by curio seekers that the old registers in which were written the names of the famous personages who stopped at the Astor House would be auctioned off, but these, it was said, would be retained by the Astor estate at the request of Vincent Astor, the young head of that long line of multimillionaires.

SHOOK'S HEN AFTER HONORS

Hens that lay an egg almost every day of the year are a mighty profitable investment, but a hen that lays eggs weighing a quarter of a pound each, and constructed on the plan of an ostrich egg, is still better.

Such a hen is owned by Bill Shook, well known rancher near Dairy. The little Red Wyandotte lays this kind of a couple in to the Republican office Tuesday.

Mrs. Anna McDougall, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Herman Forca, returned home Monday. She was accompanied by her daughter, who will visit for a few weeks.

Joe McDonald is back from San Francisco, where he went a short time ago to receive medical treatment. His health is much improved.

Special for the Rodeo

We will have on exhibition from now until after the Rodeo the largest and best line of saddles ever displayed in Southern Oregon.

All of our saddles are built in our own factory. They are built on truly Western Cowboy lines and are fashioned for comfort and elegance. The famous "Bradley Tree" and others that we are using are made specially for us. Their popularity with riders is growing year by year. Come in and examine the materials we use and watch our mechanics build these handsome saddles.

ANOTHER EXTRA FOR THE BIG SHOW
And it will be a show in itself. We have arranged with our wholesale house to have on exhibition during the Rodeo a

$3000 STOCK OF SILVER MOUNTED SPURS AND BITS

The shipment is made at our request to give the people who will come here to the big show the advantage of making a selection from a line that is not shown anywhere outside of a large wholesale house. The prices will be attractive as we have no money invested. All that you will have to pay is the wholesale price and the cost of handling the goods. Do not fail to take advantage of this rare opportunity.

CHARLTON FAILS TO REVERSE COURTS

BODY FOUND IN TRUNK THREE YEARS AGO

Effort of Young Millionaire to Secure Freedom by Habeas Corpus Proceedings Is Defeated by the United States Supreme Court—History of the Case Concerns Criminal Codes of Two Nations.

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—The United States supreme court today affirmed the decision of the New Jersey courts in the action of Porter Charlton to secure his liberty. The habeas corpus dismissal was sustained.

The decision today came just three years after the body of Charlton's supposed victim was found in a trunk in Lake Como, Italy.

One of the most brutal crimes in European annals was that of Charlton's, to which he has confessed. An inn at an Italian village named Malterio, was the scene. Hotel employees heard violent quarreling between Mr. and Mrs. Charlton on the night of June 7, 1910. The next day the couple had disappeared. Three days later Mrs. Charlton's body, beaten and disfigured, was found in Lake Como. The head was crushed into a pulp. A heavy mallet was the instrument of death.

Charlton, who is the son of Paul Charlton, former judge of Porto Rico, fled from Italy. He was arrested at Hoboken, N. J., June 23, 1910, when he stepped from the North German Lloyd liner, Princess Irene. He made no effort to conceal his identity, and later he confessed to the crime. Eminent specialists declare him insane.

Mrs. Charlton was a divorcee, the former wife of a prominent San Francisco attorney. She was twice the age of her husband, but was described as beautiful and young looking, despite dissipation. The two were married in New York on March 12, 1910. When they told the young man's father of the wedding a violent quarrel followed. On April 16, 1910, Charlton and his bride sailed from New York for Genoa. Charlton's father later received foul and abusive letters from his son, which were rambling and incoherent. Charlton refused to speak to his father when the two met after the boy's arrest at Hoboken.

In an effort to keep the boy from being sent to Italy the history of the boy's family has been opened, and it has been shown that Charlton's grandmother died of alcoholism; his great uncle was a paranoiac; his younger accidentally shot and killed a playmate. Mrs. Charlton, it is contended, was a victim of erotic insanity. She had been treated for insanity, and people with whom she lived in boarding houses on Vermont avenue and Fourteenth street in Washington declare she was guilty of alcoholic excesses and eccentricities of temperament and action that twice forced her to move. Her family was prominent in San Francisco society.

Mrs. C. L. Ankeny and daughter are here from Eugene to visit her son, Frank E. Ankeny of the Ankeny ranch.

Engineer William Sargeant of the reclamation service has gone to California for medical treatment.

LOCAL BOOSTERS GO TO YREKA

FOUR COUNTIES TO MEET TOMORROW

Klamath County Delegation Will Join With Similar Committees from Siskiyou, Trinity and Humboldt Counties to Discuss the Advisability of a Railroad From Klamath Falls to Tidewater

To discuss with committees from Humboldt, Siskiyou and Trinity counties the advisability and the best methods of securing a railroad from Klamath Falls to the harbor at Eureka, three automobile loads of local boosters left the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon, bound for Yreka, Calif.

Members of the party are:

C. C. Low car—R. E. Smith, R. H. Dunbar, George J. Walton and A. A. Bellman.

R. A. Emmitt car—Lewis Wyldie, Rev. Geo. H. Fesse, County Commissioner John Hagelstein.

Sam T. Summers car—Sid Evans, Judge Will S. Worden, Fred Garrish and R. C. Shipley.

The committees named by the various commercial organizations of the four interested counties will meet tomorrow at Yreka. At this time it is thought that some permanent organization will be formed to take up the work of securing the railroad.

The plan at present is to follow the Klamath River as much as possible from here to the coast. In this way, an excellent grade will be possible, and there will be opened for development a rich section which has long remained dormant.

HILL RESIDENTS WANT THIRD STREET IMPROVED

The residents and property owners on the hill want certain streets improved so that it will be more convenient for teams and automobiles to reach their homes, and from the attitude of the city council Monday night the much desired improvement will be made just as soon as the city engineer can get time to make a survey and estimate of the probable cost.

A petition was presented by R. H. Dunbar to the council, which was signed by practically all of the property owners affected. It has been decided that Third street would be the best and most easily improved approach to the hill. The petition asks that Third street be improved by macadam or otherwise thirty feet wide, to California avenue; also from Third along Jefferson to Fifth, north-erly along Fifth to Lincoln, and along Lincoln to Sixth.

Agit is the intention of the city to improve Tenth street and Sixth street, the city engineer was instructed to employ such assistance as necessary so as to get the surveys and estimates on all of the contemplated improvements ready as soon as possible.

PRESSED STONE CONTRACT MADE

Just before departing for Yreka on Monday the county court entered into a contract with L. M. Scofield of San Francisco for the manufacture of artificial stone for use on the new Klamath county court house.

The contract price for the stone work is $24,150.

It is the intention of Scofield to ship his equipment here and commence manufacturing the pressed stone at once. This is to be used for facing on the exterior of the court house.

C. W. Sherman Sr. is here from Dairy for a short visit. Mr. Sherman is well known in Klamath county as a newspaper man.

William Tallman was a Monday visitor in the county seat. He has a ranch on Lost River.

Fred Bertholf, a well known young resident of Bonanza, is a Tuesday visitor in Klamath Falls.

J. S. Short of Fort Klamath was among the arrivals on Monday's train from Chiloquin.
