SNELLING HAS A GOOD STRING

DALLAS MAN'S ENTRIES IN ROODEO RACES ARE ALL OF SPLENDID STOCK — IS BREEDING RACING STEEDS

Very few of the large crowd of spectators at the Elks Rodeo realized that in the quarter and half mile races pulled off each day that they were witnessing a bunch of the classiest and fastest short distance horses ever brought to this section.

Among horsemen it is recognized that Wade Hampton and Dick Rusher are two of the fastest quarter horses in the country. C. F. Snelling of Dallas, Oregon, brought five of the short distance runners here, and he was successful in winning twelve of the races during the show. In the string were Zelina, Wade Hampton, Capernia, Climax and Hildebrand. Wade Hampton tied Dick Rusher the first day, and came in first the two following days.

What is considered the classiest horse in the string was Capernia, a 3-year-old, sired by Bear Catcher. Dick Klepper owes his success in the Elks' heavyweight race to the fact that he borrowed Hildebrand from Snelling. Lindsey Sisemore attempted to win by the same game, and borrowed Wade Hampton, but some of the Elks boys caught him at it and held his horse at the start. The following day he slipped Zelina in without being detected until the finish.

With the weather the hottest that it has been this summer, Klamath Falls, for the first time in her history is facing a beer famine. It is believed that a special may be rushed here at once with a cargo of the cooling suds, but men who keep posted on such matters declare that until relief comes, those who are wont to hist the tall glass keglets with the handles attached thereto, will by tomorrow have to drown the fires of their thirst with pop or worse still, water.

The suds shortage is ascribed to a number of different matters, but it is laid principally to the large attendance at the Rodeo, and the hot weather during the three days of the show. A fourth of July is always a good day for the sale of this beverage, but in addition, the third and fifth were also record breakers at the sudsfoundries.

Monday morning the local supply of keg beer was exhausted, and it is said that the bottled supply is by no means a long one. The owners of the beer emporiums state that although there is a knack in the trade of pulling less ambrosia and more foam for the glass they will not resort to this practice, as they firmly believe in the workingman's right to his scuttle o' hops.

"DRY" GRAZING IS THE LATEST

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—Sheep on the Nebo national forest, in Utah, go four and a half months without water except for such moisture as they get from the dew and the juices of forage plants.

Grazing sheep on a range entirely destitute of water is a recent innovation, due to the increasing demand for forage and the efforts of the forest officers to find a place on the forest ranges for all the stock that can be safely admitted. The area on the Nebo, which has now proved usable by sheep is high and rocky, a portion of it being above timber line, and it has neither streams nor springs of sufficient size or accessibility to be used for stock watering purposes. The grazing season lasts from June 15 to October 31, and during this period of four and a half months the animals do not get a drink.

Under such conditions, however, the sheep have done extremely well, and last year's lambs from this range had an average weight at the close of the season of 68 pounds on the Chicago market, which was rather above the normal weight from that vicinity.

In one area on the Targhee forest in Idaho sheep never get water only twice during the four months summer grazing season. There is no water on the range, but the sheep are driven to a nearby stream lower down the mountain side. Lambs from this range weighed 65 pounds on the Chicago market.

WATER SITE WORK TO BE STARTED

COUNCIL TOLD OF THE NECESSITY OF DOING SOME IMPROVEMENT WORK IN ORDER TO HOLD THE FILING

In order to protect the filing of the city of Klamath Falls to the proposed water supply source on Aspen Lake, it is necessary for the city to do a certain amount of improvement work there this year. The amount and kind of work to be done will be outlined at the next meeting of the council, when the field notes and other data regarding this source will be inspected.

There was some discussion as to the advisability of the city spending money toward improvement work, if the water is not to be brought here soon. In the main, the councilmen agreed that it was to the advantage of the city to protect and conserve this site for future use.

Later in the year the council may make a trip to the reservoir site.

WOMAN DEAD; MAN MISSING

CHICAGO, July 7.—A fashionably dressed young woman was found in the Victoria hotel this morning, dead from asphyxiation.

The end of a rubber tube, leading from a gas jet, was bound around her head. Her body was bruised.

The police believe the girl was beaten and the tube tied to her lips while she was unconscious.

Last night she and a man registered at the hotel as "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith." The man left about midnight.

SALINAS MAN IS A RODEO BOOSTER

F. J. GRIFFITH SAYS HE HOPES TO SECURE SOME OF LOCAL HORSES AND RIDERS FOR THE HOME SHOW

"You certainly had a fine show," said F. J. Griffin, president of the California Rodeo, which is held annually at Salinas, who has acted as one of the judges at the Elks Rodeo. "I am very much pleased with my visit and greatly appreciate the royal treatment I received from the Elks and the people of Klamath Falls."

Mr. Griffin left Monday afternoon for home, to get ready for his big show, which begins on July 28th. He stated that the wild horse races of the last two days of the Rodeo were the best he had ever seen. "You have the country and the natural location for a show of this kind," continued Mr. Griffin in discussing the Rodeo. "I hope that I will be able to get a string of your bucking horses for my show."

"Your riders, too, are certainly there. All of them will be welcome at our Rodeo the last of the month, and I am pleased to state that several of the boys have promised to be there and compete for the prizes."

"Like Klamath Falls, Salinas tries to put on a show well worth the money, and we have also found that there is no mistake made in offering big prizes. This attracts the best riders and ropers, and, of course, adds to the quality of the show."

Besides the mysterious ailment with which the heir to all the Russias has been afflicted since last fall, and which is said to be incurable, he has been suffering recently from a hardening of the tissues of the left knee, which the court doctors believe the Sakki baths will relieve.

Elmer Hendricks, Clyde Batchelder and Pearl and Olive Winters returned to Hray on Monday, after being in attendance at the Rodeo.

"MAGNET" GAME IS LATEST OUT

BERLIN, July 7.—The German provincial police are endeavoring to roundup a gang of hotel thieves working an entirely new trick variously known as "The Magnet" or "The Moth and the Candle." Hotels are selected in the provincial towns which have no electric lights, and few, even among the best, have that. Usually a rich farmer or traveler is picked out as the victim. A beautiful young woman, called the "magnet," rents an adjoining room. Late at night the victim is awakened by a light knock on the door, and a shy but sweet voice stammers out that its owner is in difficulty. Her candle or gas light has been extinguished. She has no matches.

The victim can't resist that voice. He opens the door of his room, and sees in the dim hall, a picture in bewitching negligee, downcast eyes and blushing cheeks. The victim, whether young or old, feels that gallantry demands he should aid beauty in distress. No, he demurs at giving her matches. He insists upon going to her room and lighting her candle or gas himself. The lady stands at the door of her room; rarely will she enter while the chivalrous farmer is there. She is very modest. The victim is in no hurry to leave.

When he awakens in his own room next morning he finds he has been robbed of money and jewelry. Confederates of the "magnet" slipped into the room while the "magnet" was having her candle or gas lighted.

KLAMATH AGENCY SUFFERS A LOSS

Fire, supposed to have started from a pile of shavings, Sunday destroyed the sawmill, and the electric light and water plant at the agency on the Klamath Indian Reservation. The loss was about $8,000 and is covered by insurance.

The sawmill is one of the landmarks of the reservation. It was built in 1870, Hon. W. D. Moore, father of Charles and Rufus Moore, being the millwright at that time. The plant has cut practically all of the lumber used in construction work on the reservation.

Family Arrives.—Mrs. Lewis J. Mead and children are here from Seattle to join Mr. Mead, who is assisting Fiscal Agent Hogue of the reclamation service.

Indians to Wed.—A marriage license was issued Monday to Daniel Weeks and Clara Walker. Both reside on the reservation.

Rose Ella Mayberry, who was born in Illinois, February 16, 1865, departed this life at Merrill, Oregon, July 5, aged 45 years 4 months and 19 days.

On June 1st, 1887, she was united in marriage to L. M. Lyons, and to them twelve children, six boys and six girls, were born. Two of the children have preceded the mother into the better land. About six years ago she, with her husband, moved from Kansas to this state, settling on a ranch three miles east of Bonanza, Oregon. She has been in poor health for the last three months, and at the time of her demise was at Merrill for medical treatment.

The funeral services were conducted at the M. E. Church in Bonanza, Sunday afternoon, by Elder S. D. Harlan of Klamath Falls, assisted by Rev. Warren. Following the services the body was laid to rest in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Bonanza, Oregon.

LONDON, July 9.—Clarence M. Smith, California banker and financier, who has been studying European agricultural conditions with the American Agricultural commission, declared today upon his arrival here from Paris, that in Italy, Germany, Austro-Hungary and France he found evidence of great interest among business men and large manufacturers in the coming Panama-Pacific exposition.

AERIAL FLIGHTS 120 YEARS AGO

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Officials of the recently established Langley aero-dynamic laboratory at the Smithsonian Institute today commented on the fact that it was just 120 years ago today that a man named Blanchard—the Rodman Law of yesterday—started America by ascending in a balloon at Philadelphia. It was the first time the feat had ever been accomplished on this side of the Atlantic.

The comment was brought forth in connection with the present day stage of air navigation when aeroplanes, hydro-aeroplanes, dirigible balloons and other types of air craft have ceased to be novelties throughout the civilized world. George Washington was an interested spectator at the first balloon ascension in this country.

Mrs. C. K. Seitz left this morning for Mason City, Iowa, where she will visit relatives. She will also spend some time in other Middle Western cities.
