BODY OF FRED LANDEN IS STILL MISSING

Logger, Who With Companion Was Riding in Conveyance That Went Into Williamson River Several Days Ago—Was at First Thought to Have Skipped the Country After Drowning Livery Team

The body of Harry Stone, the logger who, with Fred Landen, known as "The Big Chief," has been missing since July 11, when their team, drowned, was found in Williamson River, was found Friday night.

The body was seen floating about 250 feet below the scene of the mishap. Coroner Whitlock, who was summoned, decided that there was no need of holding an inquest, and the remains will be interred on the reservation.

Stone and Landen left this city on the night of July 10, to go to Algoma, where it is stated that Stone had some money due him for work for a lumber concern. They hired a team and buggy from the Midway stables, stating they would be back the following day.

Before noon on the 12th word was sent here from the reservation that the men, instead of going over the county bridge on the road to Fort Klamath, drove the team into the water apparently believing they could ford it.

The water there is forty feet deep, and the horses and wagon were swept away. No trace was found of the men after several days of searching.

This fact gave rise to the rumor that they may have driven the team into the water with a purpose, and that they escaped unseen in order to convey the impression that they were drowned.

ABOUT OREGON

BIG APPROPRIATION AVAILABLE FOR ADVERTISING THE FARM RESOURCES OF THIS STATE

United Press Service

PORTLAND, ORE., July 19.—A comprehensive plan to advertise the agricultural advantages of the state of Oregon in every state east of the Rocky Mountains was actively begun today when announcement was made that $150,000 has been donated to the cause.

Oregon will make special efforts to get this advertising, in the form of descriptive booklets and circulars, before the thousands of immigrants who annually land in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and New York.

Some of the booklets will be sent to Canadian ports and also to ports along the Pacific Coast, where immigrants come to America in great numbers.

Special inducements will be offered immigrants to leave the thickly populated districts of New England and other eastern points to come to Oregon and settle on small farms.

U. S. SOLDIERS

ON HARD TEST

TWO BRIGADES IN WAR TRIMMINGS ARE TO BE USED IN THE WORKING OUT OF THE NEW FORMATIONS

WINCHESTER, VA., July 19.—

Two dusty brigades of regulars in full war regalia rode through here today and went into camp a few hours later in the green valleys at the foot of the hills which were the scene of the most famous and spectacular raids and smaller battles of the civil war, half a century ago. The brigades were the advance guard of a detachment of the regular cavalry which will be put through the hardest test given United States troops in years. One regiment is here from Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., and the other is from Fort Oglethorpe. They are the Tenth, Eleventh and Fifteenth cavalry and a battery of the Sixth Field Artillery. All rode almost every mile of the way on horseback.

The camp, one mile wide and two miles long, with one of the most perfect natural drill grounds, will formally open tomorrow. It is under the direct command of Col. C. H. Murray of the Twelfth cavalry, acting Brigadier General. Secretary of War Garrison and Major General Leonard Wood will spend a good part of the two months the soldiers will be here, on the job. One of the most important projects to be experimented with will be the working out of the suggested new formation of charging cavalry in double ranks. The famous French cavalry said to be the greatest body of horse soldiers in the world has tried out the plan with great success.

YOUNGSTER FINDS

DYNAMITE; HURT

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD HUNTZ UHRMANN OF YONNA VALLEY LOST FINGERS AND EYESIGHT IS ENDANGERED

Finding a stick of dynamite and playing with it, Huntz Uhrmann, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Uhrmann, was badly injured Friday when the stick exploded. He lost three fingers off his left hand, and his left eye and the left side of his face were horribly injured.

The lad was brought to the Blackburn hospital late Friday, and his left hand was attended, all being amputated but the thumb and little finger. The physicians have hopes of saving the injured eye.

Uhrmann used dynamite on county road work, and kept it hid under a granary. The boy found it, and then started experimenting.

SEATTLE AFTER

EMPLOYMENT MEN

INITIATIVE INVOKED TO SECURE LEGISLATION AGAINST THE EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES DOING BUSINESS IN THAT CITY

United Press Service

SEATTLE, WASH., July 19.—It appeared certain today that the initiative will be invoked in the interests of legislation which will abolish private employment agencies in Seattle which charge fees for their services.

The petition which started circulating two weeks ago today was within a score or more of names of the number required. It is charged that many of the agencies have been accepting fees illegally; that they have charged fees with no intention of finding work for their clients and that they have co-operated in underground ways with certain employers of labor who were fighting strikes.

If this legislation is secured for Seattle, an effort will be made to have the next legislature abolish private employment agencies throughout the state of Washington, and establish free bureaus under state supervision.

EMPLOYEES ASK SHORTER HOURS

ONE CLOTHING MAN WILL NOT AGREE

Employees of Mills and Factories Join in Asking Shorter Hours for All Workmen, With Six o'Clock as the Hour for Closing Shops—Hold This Will Prove More Efficient to the Merchants as Well

If one clothing merchant will agree to act with the other storekeepers of the city, all the grocery, hardware, dry goods, clothing and shoe stores will close their doors at 6 o'clock every night except Saturdays and holidays. All of the hardware and grocery stores have been closing at 6 o'clock, and the following stores have signed an agreement, providing all the stores close:

K. K. K. Store.
Regal Shoe Store.
Golden Rule Store.
Stitts Dry Goods Store.
Hector's Department Store.
C. E. Atkinson.
R. L. Hammond.

This agreement will become effective if K. Sugarman will consent to sign.

The closing agreement comes as the result of a petition, signed by several hundred clerks, barbers, factory employees and other workmen of the city, in which it is asked that the business houses close at 6 o'clock each evening. It is held that the interests of both employer and employee are identical to a certain extent, and that shorter hours will tend to produce greater efficiency at no greater expense, and that the public will be glad to accommodate itself to these shorter hours.

Attached to the petition is the endorsement of the directors of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce. This body states that in every other city on the coast the business houses close at 6 o'clock.

The barber shops seek a 7:30 closing hour, but it is held that they are unable to do this because one man continues to operate his shop at a later hour.

TWO MEN ARE HURT IN

KENO LOGGING CAMPS

Prentice Puckett was brought to the city Friday morning from Keno in a semi-unconscious condition as the result of an accident which occurred today. He is at the home of his father-in-law, Thos. McCormick, in Mills addition, and is attended by Dr. Hamilton.

Puckett was braking on the logging car for Ackley Bros., and as the car, loaded with logs, was coming down the hill, the brake pole came loose, striking him on the face and arm. He sustained a gash on the nose and his arm was badly cut. He was picked up unconscious, and hurried to this city, and is still in a semi-unconscious condition as a result of his injury.

W. H. McNair is at the Blackburn Hospital suffering from a very serious fracture of the left ankle. Mr. McNair is employed at Keno by John Stewart, sub-contractor for the Big Basin Lumber company. Thursday while he was driving a heavy load of logs down the hill to the river, the brake broke and he was thrown, sustaining a fracture of the ankle. He was brought to Klamath Falls and taken to the hospital, where he was attended to by Dr. Hamilton.

The ankle was so badly swollen that it was impossible to reduce the fracture at the present time. The ankle is being treated, and the fracture will be reduced as soon as the swelling has abated sufficiently.

The Bulgarian government appears to be in a state of panic, and is not prepared to resist invasion of the capital.

Should the Roumanians desire to enter the city tomorrow they could do so with no difficulty.

It is understood, though, that there is to be no advance until the Greek and Servian armies arrive. These troops are now on the march to join the Roumanians.

Later, Baron Radestavoff, leader of the liberal party, was appointed premier. He immediately organized a cabinet, and by night will have the local situation well in hand.

The old designs of Pompadour and Watteau fans are being daintily recopied and the mounts are as delicately decorated as the gauze or ivory.

FINANCE COMMITTEE MAKES REPORT

COMMITTEE HAS MADE SEVERAL CHANGES

Alterations to the Measure as Passed By the House Will, in the Minds of the Senate Committee, Make More Equitable the distribution of Any Burdens There Might Have Been Under Provisions of the Tariff Law

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18.—Declaring that the finance committee's work on the downward revision tariff measure will "further carry out and perfect the theory of establishing a revenue producing tariff upon the basis of competitive rates as a just and fair interpretation in the light of existing conditions of the latest authoritative utterances of the party in power upon that subject," Chairman Simmons today reported to the senate on 471 of the proposed amendments.

"The committee, in submitting the result of its labor," said Simmons, "confidently believes that the enactment of the Underwood tariff bill, and passed by the house and amended by this committee, will result in a more equitable distribution of the burdens and incidental benefits of a system of customs; that it will tend to disintegrate the monopolies that have been built up under another system. We believe that it will enlarge the opportunity for individual effort, reduce the cost of living, and relieve the people of the burdens caused by protective tariff."

According to the report, the senate committee made reductions of 27.64 per cent from existing average ad valorem rates, and cut the rates in the house bill 4.22 per cent.

Estimates of the government revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, based upon the enactment of this bill, gives the receipts as $996,810,000. The expenditures are placed at $994,790,000.

Third Charter Election

FLINT, MICH., July 18.—For the third time within three years the city of Flint was voting on a new municipal charter. All previous efforts to amend the old charter have failed because of the strength of the machine leaders. A vigorous campaign has been in progress for the past few weeks for the ratification of a number of radically progressive changes.
