OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

By MARGARET MASON

Klatawa Club dances in seasons past have been among the greatest social successes of each year, but if the initial dancing party of the present series can be accepted as a criterion, the 1913 dances will surpass all previous efforts along such lines in the town's history.

Wednesday night's dance was successful in every way, and the members are being congratulated by all who attended for the splendid entertainment accorded. In Mrs. E. B. Hall, of the new hotel management, the Klatawa boys have discovered a valuable, resourceful and helpful ally, for under her direction, the White Pelican hotel was decorated for the occasion in a manner that surpasses all other decorative work in the history of the big hostelry.

Special decorations were secured from San Francisco, and the lobby and dining room were literally alive with Jack-o'-Lanterns, pumpkins, witches, cats, hobgoblins and other spooky subjects in silhouette and varicolored crepe and border. About seventy couples danced to the strains of Tindall's orchestra, and the program, with extras etc., continued until midnight.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brockenbrough, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis F. Setzer, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Will C. Hurn, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Whitman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. George, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Coseboom, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leavitt, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Mosier, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Masten, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert B. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gowen, Mrs. E. R. Reames, Mrs. E. B. Henry, Mrs. Fred H. Mills, Mrs. Mary A. Jackson, Mrs. H. L. Nelson, Mrs. Hurt, Miss Claudia O'Loughlin, Miss Virginia Callahan, Miss Delaide Anderson, Miss Gertrude Saucerman, Miss Beattie Applegate, Miss Marjorie Sellers, Miss Hazel Barnes, Miss Elsie Low, Miss Maude Rippey, Miss Florence Bowen, Miss Shubert, Miss Coral Carter, Miss Lois Myers, Miss Almee Wing, Miss Margaret Williams, Miss Katherine Williams, Miss Mildred Lennart, Miss Ruth Morris, Miss Louise Lee, Miss Edna Wells, Miss Willa Leonard, Miss Ora Nelson, Miss Rachel Manneman, Miss Nelson, Miss Elizabeth Houston, Miss Pearl Bolvin, Miss Kennedy, Miss Gould, Miss Nipper, Miss Barhe, Miss Carrie Foster, Miss Rose Reed, Hugo Loewe, Harry Goeller, John Siemens Jr., Sam Evans, Albert Loewe, Lawrence W. Mehaffey, W. H. Sperry, Joe B. McAllister, J. Sinnott, Earl B. Veghte, E. W. Gowen Jr., A. J. Voyer, Harry M. Ackley, Claude E. Maxwell, Charles Coffey Jr., M. A. Frietas, T. G. McHattan, Andrew M. Collier, John Welch Jr., C. E. Motachenbacher, James Lytle, Lester L. Terwilliger, Will P. Johnson, Andrew G. Horner, Joe P. Brett, L. G. Van Bellen, L. R. Robertson, Frank Guilford, H. T. Stotson, A. Oehler, Hunter Savidge, Earl Elliott, L. K. Shepherd, G. M. Harrington, Max McCall, P. A. Albertson, Art Leavitt, Tom Watters and G. D. Cornell.

Members of the Mills Addition Embroidery Club spent a highly enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Applegate Thursday. The afternoon was devoted to needlework and conversation, after which dainty refreshments were served.

The Friday Afternoon Club, an organization that meets fortnightly at the White Pelican Hotel, held its regular session Friday with Mrs. J. C. Brockenbrough as hostess. Bridge was played, and the prize went to Mrs. Schallock. Following this, Mrs. Robert A. Johnson was taken in as a member, and refreshments were served. In attendance were Mrs. Fred English, Mrs. Fred Schallock, Mrs. Thomas Hampton, Mrs. Herbert Gale, Mrs. Mary A. Jackson, Mrs. E. B. Hall, Mrs. Earl Whitlock and Mrs. Charles Meldrum.

Mrs. Clarence Underwood entertained the Bridge Club Saturday afternoon at her home on High street. Among those present were Mrs. E. R. Reames, Mrs. Geo. Noland, Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt, Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mrs. R. M. Richardson, Mrs. Will W. Baldwin, Mrs. H. J. Benson, Mrs. Jim Baldwin, Mrs. Thos. Hampton and Miss Maud Baldwin.

A joyful crowd of the young 'uns gathered at the home of Miss Erma Bamber on Washington street Friday night and enjoyed Hallowe'en games and pranks until a late hour. The refreshments served followed the spirit of the times, while the decorations were of the same description. Those present were the Misses Erma Bamber, Flora Ward, Karle Montgomery, Gertrude Wirtz, Clara Hicks, Yeva Martin, Fern Hoagland, and Masters Robert Turner, Willie McMillan, Herman Foster, Homer Winter, Paul Hilton, Flinty Curr, Ronald Jeffers, Floyd Sparks, Lester Sparks, Ira Orem.

To the ladies of the Sacred Heart church must go the credit of assembling the greatest number of dancers ever gathered together in a hall in Klamath Falls, for the attendance at their Hallowe'en dance given at the Moose hall last night reached, for the first time in the history of the city, a little beyond the three hundred mark. The success of the dance was not a matter of attendance alone, however, as the uniquely appropriate decorations, the entrancing selections from the orchestra and the appetizing viands from the refreshment committee all deserve special mention and praise. Mesdames Riley, Robertson, Boivin, Konop and McAndrews comprised the "feed" committee, and their efforts evoked warm words of approval from every caller at the banquet room. The floor committee was Miss Virginia Callahan, Miss Claudia O'Loughlin, Miss Pearl Boivin, Miss Mary Schubert, Mrs. Fred Houston, Fred Houston, Mike Lavenik and J. B. McAllister, and each vied with the other seeing to it that all and sundry were plentifully supplied with dancing partners. The gathering could easily have been taken for a fashion show on account of the great number of elaborate gowns and smart frocks in evidence.

Two hundred people gathered at Grace Methodist church Tuesday evening to attend the reception given to the new pastor, Rev. E. C. Richards and wife. During the evening the following program was rendered: Mandolin and piano trio—Mrs. Birden Fraker-Gambell, Miss Dorothy Masten, Miss Constance Fisher. Solo—Mrs. William Wagner. Solo—Mrs. Elmer Beardsley. Piano duet—Dorothy Masten and Lucille Waldron. Solo—Iris Turner. Piano solo—Miss Beatrice Walton. Reading—Rev. Van Fossen, district superintendent. Piano solo—Mrs. Van Fossen.

Mrs. Thomas Hampton, Mrs. Chas. Meldrum, Mrs. Harry Benson, Mrs. Charles I. Robertson, Mrs. O. W. Robertson and Mrs. Earl Whitlock were entertained at bridge Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Bert E. Withrow. A luncheon was also served.

Mrs. Harry Benson Friday night entertained Mrs. Leslie Rogers, Mrs. Carl Cofer, Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt, Mrs. Charles Meldrum, Mrs. Clarence Underwood, Mrs. A. R. Campbell, Mrs. Zim Baldwin, Miss Maude Baldwin, Mrs. Will Baldwin, Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mrs. Charles I. Roberts, Mrs. Robert M. Richardson, Mrs. Burge Mason. Auction bridge was played, and Mrs. Zumwalt was awarded the prize. A luncheon was served.

In honor of Margaret Cummings, Mrs. Thomas Hampton entertained a number of youngsters at her home on High street Thursday afternoon, and their longing for a romp in the autumn leaves was fully appeased that day. Following their play on the lawn, the children repaired to the house, which was decorated in Hallowe'en fashion, and after more games, were served a luncheon. The children present were Margaret Cummings, Freddie Goeller, Ethel Carlson, Glenn Rogers, Zepha Rogers, Constance Schallock, Eet Graves, Bobbie Keese and Innis Roberts.

Mrs. Jack McLean entertained the Five Hundred Club at her home on Ninth street. Auction bridge was played, and she guests were Mrs. Louis Gerber, Mrs. E. W. Gowen, Mrs. E. B. Hall, Mrs. Silas Obenchain, Mrs. Charles I. Roberts, Mrs. Levi Willits, Mrs. Frank Ira White, Mrs. G. W. White, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. George H. Merryman, Mrs. Robert A. Johnson and Mrs. Gus Krause.

If you're fat or if you're fair, If you're slim with dusky hair, If you're short or very tall, If you're old or young at all, You should dress to suit your style. So you'd better pause a while Ere your hats and gowns you choose And this article peruse.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—To know what not to wear is quite as important as what to wear. You'd best study the style books. Yea, verily; what is sadder than a fat woman in the bouffant draperies meant for a sveite syiph, or a fluffy hat for sweet sixteen on the grizzled locks of almost sixty.

If you are of ruddy tresses, look not upon a gown when it is red, and if you are a blonde turn your back upon yellow. The best color selections for the golden girl are all shades of green, blue and the darker shades of brown, black, white and deep shades of plum and amethyst. The dark beauty, if her skin is a clear olive, has a wide selection among all shades of brown, green, blue, red, yellow and purple, gray, black and white. If there is the least tendency to sallowness, purple, green and yellow must be eschewed, and if her complexion is too vivid, the more subdued tones must be her choice. This is true of both blondes and brunettes whose coloring is high. The Titian-haired Venus is wise who sticks to olive and Nile green, old blue and navy, golden brown, burnt sienna, taupe, gray, black and white. If you are portly with broad shoulders, a full face and several chins, your hair should be dressed plainly and on top of your head. Your hats should be trimmed high and have medium brims. Long lines should be striven for, and only dark colors worn, as they tend to reduce your bulky outline. Black is the very best for this purpose. Your blouses and waists should be loose and softly full to conceal your generous curves, and the skirts should be plain and but slightly draped. Never indulge in an overskirt, peplum or tunic, for this cuts off height and adds to breadth. If a lassie is fat and short all at the same time she is sorely tried indeed. If she gets a hat with a brim wide enough to fit her face it will take from her height alarmingly. A short woman should never wear an all black hat. The dead mass of shadow will cut her off while just a touch of color will overcome this shortcoming. Shoulders should be narrow for the plump girl, her gowns should be collarless and cut out close to the neck and in a long V-shape in front. She should cling to long plain sleeves and normal waist lines. The slim maid nowadays is the avored of the gods. She can pick all her costumes unhampered by the fear of showing lumps instead of lines. Her only don'ts—if her face be long and thin—are to eschew long drippy earrings and high coiffures. In playing her little part of the world's stage, lovely woman certainly has to be careful how she dresses the part, or she will never make a hit as a star performer. She must pick her type according to her personality as well as to her coloring and embonpoint, and then proceed to costume it appropriately.

Since time immemorial the petite blonde has wisely chosen the role of a baby doll, and dressed in book muslin and blue ribbons. The petite brunette should take the tip, and go in for the roguish effervescent elfin type. The medium sized and complexioned girl should adopt the boyish, box-coated, heelless shoe and tallored effect, while the langorous, slender brunette or red-haired charmer should play the Oriental game to the limit by wearing clinging, colorful gowns, bizarre jewels, subtle perfumes and uncommon effects.

But for the sake of suffering humanity, if you weigh 300 on the hoof and have a collection of chins, don't try to be an Oriental houri or a baby doll. Just acquire a cheery personality and go in for comfort rather than style.

POPE PIUS IS OPPOSED TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE

ROME, Oct. 31.—Pope Pius has just been asked by a large number of leading prelates of the Catholic church for a definite expression of the church's attitude on the question of woman's suffrage. High Vatican officials who today discussed the subject with His Holiness stated that the ruling of Pope Pius would unquestionably be against the suffragettes. It is expected that his decision in the matter will take the form of an encyclical letter to prelates in all parts of the world.

Until very recently it was generally supposed that Pope Pius had long ago officially placed the church in opposition to woman's suffrage. It now develops, however, that as a matter of fact he has expressed himself on the subject only once, and this in a perfectly informal and unofficial way. Three years ago, when His Holiness received a large delegation from the Union of Catholic Italian Women, he expressed the desire that they would confine their efforts entirely to the home and to the church, and not be led into the political movement with which the women of other countries were occupying themselves. This one expression, together with his well known opposition to many phases of "feminism," created the impression that the church was officially opposed to woman suffrage.

FARMERS STRONG FOR MARKET DAY PLANS OUTLINED

Matter of a Regular Day for the Farmers to Bring Products and Stock Here for Disposal Is Commented Upon Favorably by All Who Have Considered the Question—Water Users Will Consider Hearty approval from business men and farmers is being met with on every hand by the suggestion of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce that there be held here at regular intervals a Market Day. Prominent agriculturalists from all parts of the county are enthusiastic over the plan. This, they say, is what has been needed here a long time.

"The Market Day plan has been successful wherever tried," said Jas. Dixon, one of the directors of the Klamath Water Users Association. "This has long been needed here, as it is a matter of help not only to the farmer, but to the housekeeper as well."

"We have always favored and supported any movement that would benefit the farmer," said G. K. Van Riper of Van Riper Brothers this afternoon. "The sooner a spirit of co-operation exists, the better conditions will be for all the people."

"Market Day is a feature that has long been needed in this country," said Secretary Albert E. Elder of the Water Users Association. "There has been too much distrust manifested between farmers and merchants, and if this was summed up it would be found that both are partly responsible for engendering it."

Merchants, business men and farmers will soon hold a meeting to arrange a date for Market Day, and attend to other details in this connection. It is possible that prizes will be offered for the largest families brought to town on that day.

MEDFORD MEN GO TO DEATH TODAY

SALEM, Oct. 31.—Frank Seymour and Mike Spanos, sentenced to death for murder in Medford, were hanged at the state penitentiary this morning. The traps were sprung simultaneously at 8:30. Both men died in a short time after the drop. Seymour and Spanos were convicted of killing George Dedasklou, a Greek, in a house of ill repute at Medford in September, 1912. Spanos is also a Greek, and it is alleged that he lured his countryman to his death so he could be robbed.

Rev. J. S. Stubblefield on Thursday performed the ceremony uniting Mary Jane Johnston and William McNair in matrimony. The groom is a rancher residing near Dorris, and the bride has been employed as a nurse at the Blackburn hospital. The courtship commenced when the groom was taken to the hospital with a broken leg.

CHARLES N. MORTENSON DIES OF SCARLET FEVER

Following an illness of but a few days, Charles Nelson Mortenson died Thursday night at the home of his brother, H. D. Mortenson, at Pelican City. The young man was taken with scarlet fever Sunday.

From the first, young Mortenson's condition was serious, and it reached a stage a few days ago where it was deemed advisable to telegraph for his parents. His mother, Mrs. Jacob D. Mortenson, is on her way here from Chicago, in answer to the summons. The young man was 22 years of age, and was born in Warsaw, Wis. In June he graduated from Williams college.

About three months ago he came to Klamath Falls to learn the practical side of the lumber business under his brother, Herbert D. Mortenson, who is manager, and who with his father owns the greater portion of the stock in the Pelican Bay Lumber company. He spent several weeks in the company's logging camp on the Upper Klamath Lake, and since then has been connected with the big plant at Pelican City.

The death of the young man casts a gloom over that community, for he was well liked by all the men connected with the plant. During his brief residence here he made many friends in Klamath Falls, to whom the sad tidings of his demise came as a shock.

HITCHING RACKS ARE NOW READY

The prayer of the farmer for a place to tie his team while in the city on a short trading trip has at last been answered. The city has just completed a set of hitching racks for the use of the public. These racks are at the city's property on Walnut, near Fifth street, and are easy to reach.

"There is accommodation ample for thirty or forty teams," said Councilman Townsend, who brought the matter before the council.

CENTENARIAN TO VOTE AT EUGENE

EUGENE, Oct. 31.—At the age of 103 years, "Grandma" Sarah Todd, the oldest suffragette in Oregon, and perhaps the oldest in America, will cast her first ballot at the elections here on November 4.

"Grandma" Todd registered here a few days ago, her registration being the occasion of quite a celebration by local suffrage leaders. Mrs. Todd for years has been an ardent supporter of votes for women, and she is far better informed on political questions, both state and national, than the average male voter in Oregon. A group of merchants at Swakopmund, German Southwest Africa, impressed by the possibilities of a local frozen meat industry, are combining to erect refrigerating works and abattoirs.

Harvest Ball Wednesday.

The Herald's society editor erred Saturday in stating that the Women of Woodcraft's Harvest Ball would be given Tuesday. Instead, it will be given Wednesday evening.
