

REBELS MASSING FOR BIG ATTACK

ARE AWAITING LIFTING OF THE EMBARGO ON ARMS AND AMMUNITION

Nothing definite will be stated by any of the officials in Mexico City regarding present status of the situation—advisers of the Mexican President say he has no intention of tendering resignation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—"Show America your potent fighting force," is the word which has been sent southward by the revolutionary junta, and it is expected that the constitutionalists will immediately get busy, as has been directed, and demonstrate the fact that they are able to cope with Huerta's forces on the field, so that when the final break comes between Washington and Huerta President Wilson's next step will be the removal of the embargo on munitions of war, and Carranza will receive the equipment so much needed by his army.

Severe fighting is looked for immediately in Northern Mexico.

General Carranza wants the control of several large cities, and will probably concentrate his forces in the vicinity of Chihuahua.

Unless unexpected developments arise, Ambassador Lind will remain in Mexico City next week.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 8.—The Mexican situation, apparently, has not changed.

Nothing definite can be learned regarding developments.

Lind, O'Shaughnessy and Huerta all remain silent.

It is reported that Huerta's cabinet met last night, and decided that the dictator should resign.

Huerta has not answered this. Advisers, speaking for him, say that he will not resign, and that he has formulated a reply to Wilson saying that America has no right to interfere in his affairs.

BASKET SOCIAL

A BIG SUCCESS

MALIN, Nov. 10.—One of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held in this section was the basket social at the Carr school house Saturday night.

Twenty-three baskets were sold by Auctioneer Baker, and a total of $117 was realized thereby. Of this sum $10 was contributed by Laton Stevens, the Beau Brummel of the reclamation service.

The evening's entertainment opened with a well rendered literary program, after which came the auction. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

A race between Kinney & Sullivan's two mules pulling a wagon and seven men and A. Kalina's team hauling a freight-laden wagon was a feature of interest to those on their way to the entertainment.

Kinney & Sullivan caught up with the freight wagon on the way to the school house, and a race for the school commenced. Just as the mules were about to gain the lead somebody in the freight wagon waved his hat, and the long-eared steeds ran into a ditch.

The front axle of the wagon was broken, and Kinney, Sullivan, Laton Stevens, Jack and Jim Corkery and Ed Probst were scattered along the road for a distance of a hundred yards. None were injured.

DYNAMITE, FUSE AND CAPS FOUND AT MADDOX PLACE

Is it possible that some person or persons laid plans to destroy property of one of the leaders in the fight against the county court?

This is an abridged edition of the query which led the story of the finding of the dynamite in the canal near the court house October 23d. There is a further alteration in this dynamite story.

Instead of being found near Klamath county's $165,000 court house job, the latest dynamite was discovered in one of the outbuildings on the Maddox ranch on the Merrill road. The find was made Friday by J. A. Maddox. He is at a loss to account for its presence there.

Maddox has been one of the strongest opponents of the county court in the court house fight, and some of his friends laughingly declare that it is possible an attempt was being made to wreck his property for this reason.

WORK ON LIBRARY IS STARTED TODAY

Work on the $24,000 Carnegie library building was started in earnest on Monday when a force of carpenters commenced the building of the forms for shaping the concrete walls of the structure.

This work is to be pushed forward with all possible speed. It is the intention of the county court to have the building under a roof before the bad weather sets in. This will make it possible for carpenters, etc., who would otherwise be idle, to be employed all winter long.

THAW IS RETURNED TO NEW YORK

FEDERAL HABEAS CORPUS IS STILL PENDING

Action of Executive Was What Was Expected by All, But Nevertheless, Thaw's Faithful Mother Was Keenly Disappointed—Hoped to Return to New York for a Joyful Thanksgiving Time in a Few Days.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 8.—Governor Felker today signed the extradition papers for the return to New York of Harry Kendall Thaw. The request for his extradition was made by Governor Glynn, charging conspiracy against New York county.

This does not mean that Thaw will go back to Matteawan immediately. His fight for liberty may last for years.

Felker's action was generally expected. It followed along conventional lines, and shifted the matter to the shoulders of Federal Judge Aldrich.

It was a foregone conclusion that Thaw could not be taken to New York, owing to the habeas corpus proceedings pending in the federal district court. It may be several years before a final decision is reached, as both sides are determined to carry the case to the United States supreme court if necessary.

Thaw and his mother were very calm when Felker's decision was read. They said it was in accord with their expectations.

"I am very much disappointed that an executive who was empowered to rebuke the crookedness and irregularities, such as shown in those papers, prepared by a hired agent, and presented in the name of New York, failed to take advantage of his opportunity," said Mrs. Thaw. "This prevents us from returning home for Thanksgiving."

WHAT THE TARIFF WILL DO FOR US

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Up a notch higher, under the new tariff law, goes the cost of high living. It's going to cost more—and a lot more at that—to keep up the reputation of being a "spender." From "booze" to bank balances, the new law hits the pocketbooks of the glib, gay, gadabouts. Spress, it is declared, will cost as much again or more, while the income tax strikes the bank balances and the better-than-the-average incomes.

"Joy riding" may be some slight bit cheaper for the man who prefers foreign built cars. But there are mighty few spots in the new law which offer solace and cheer for the chasers of the bright lights.

For the man who likes his "licker," the new law promises no financial relief at the bar. It is confidently believed that the bars where you can now get 'em two for a quarter will sell 'em at fifteen cents straight. The new law retains, and on many items, increases, the duties. The former rate of $2.60 a gallon on brandy, whiskey, absinthe, cordials and liquor is retained. So is the former duty of eighty cents a quart on champagne.

So also is the old "indirect" tax of forty-five cents a gallon on imported beers, ale, porter and stout. On still wines the import tax, which the consumer will have to pay, is slightly increased in some instances. About the only thing that sounds like an intoxicant and which doesn't carry the same, or higher tax is "bibulous paper," and that is not a thirst quencher, but a stereotyping commodity. The Democrats did decrease the duty on sponges, though, from twenty to fifteen per cent. No, it's not that kind of a sponge.

But the friends of the "bar-keep" may have to economize in keeping the little china dish at the end of the mahogany filled with the "breath destroyers," for cloves will cost two cents a pound, and cinnamon chips one cent a pound more, if the new import tax is tacked on to the retail price, which it probably will be.

There's no chance for the thirsty man who doesn't have to have red-eye or kindred strong'ns. By drinking cider it might be possible to save the comfort station.

The beautiful new sun parlor of the White Pelican hotel was the scene of a highly enjoyable gathering Monday afternoon, when Mrs. Earl Whitlock and Mrs. Fred Schallock entertained at cards. The consolation award was given to Mrs. Carey M. Ramsby. A dainty luncheon was a feature of the entertainment.

A get-acquainted meeting of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church was held last evening, and it proved to be a most enjoyable social affair. The evening was spent in an informal manner, and the friendships formed by old and new members will have a fine effect upon the church's future welfare. There were more than a hundred in attendance. Miss Gertrude Saucerman rendered pleasing piano solos, and vocal selections were given by Miss A. B. Parker and Marjorie McClure. Miss Golda Hales also gave a reading, which was highly enjoyed. A luncheon was served during the evening. Much credit for the success of the social is due to Mesdames Charles Graves, George Hurn, J. B. Mason, William Sargeant and Chester Avery, the committee in charge.

Miss Ruth Morris had as her guests Friday evening Miss Almee Wing, Miss Maud Rippey, Miss Mildred Lennart, Lawrence Mehaffey, Harry Goeller, Albert Loewe and Edmund Gowen Jr. Five hundred was played during the evening, and refreshments were served.

Highly enjoyable was the Harvest Ball given at the west hall of the I. O. O. F. Temple Wednesday evening by Ewauna Circle, Women of Woodcraft. The hall was appropriately decorated with pumpkins, autumn leaves, etc., and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Refreshments were served.

Tuesday evening Miss Mary Shubert entertained a few friends at cards at the Shubert home on Ninth and Pine streets. Present were Miss Adelaide Shubert, Miss Pearl Bolvin, Garrett Van Riper and Clarence Mot-schenbacher.

Mrs. Charles Meldrum was hostess to the Leisure Hour Club Wednesday afternoon, when the usual five hundred was played. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess, and attending were Mrs. A. R. Campbell, Mrs. Thomas Hampton, Mrs. George Hurn, Mrs. C. C. Hogue, Mrs. Elbert B. Hall, Miss Harris, Mrs. Maxwell M. Long, Mrs. Fred Melhase, Mrs. Henry Newnam, Mrs. C. I. Robertson, Mrs. O. W. Robertson, Mrs. R. E. Smith, Mrs. Bert Withrow, Mrs. Earl Whitlock, Mrs. Fred Schallock.

Prosperity Rebekah Lodge entertained the members on Thursday night with a banquet. This is a regular monthly affair with this lodge, and are greatly enjoyed by the members.

as much as one-tenth of a cent on a glass, provided you buy it in gallon lots and drink it at home. But who wants to do his drinking at home?

But pity the poor millionaires. In addition to plastering a fat income tax on his purse, the new law, in intent at least, boosts nearly everything on the "high plane of living." Diamonds are up 10 per cent. Jewelry is up 5 per cent. Silks are up considerably, and so it goes.

The "jolly joy riders" have one consolation in the reduction by 15 per cent of the duty on cheap foreign automobiles, which cost less than $2,000. It also provides no tax on gasoline. Some more consolation is that if the "poor millionaire" is a horse fancier he can still import thoroughbreds for his breeding stables without one penny of tariff cost.

But there is this to be said for—or against—the new law. The tariff on chickens has been cut to the limit.

Throw out the old cigar box, Give me my pipe of clay; For the tariff has raised the price of cigars, And these prices I cannot pay. —(Apologies to Mr. Kipling.)

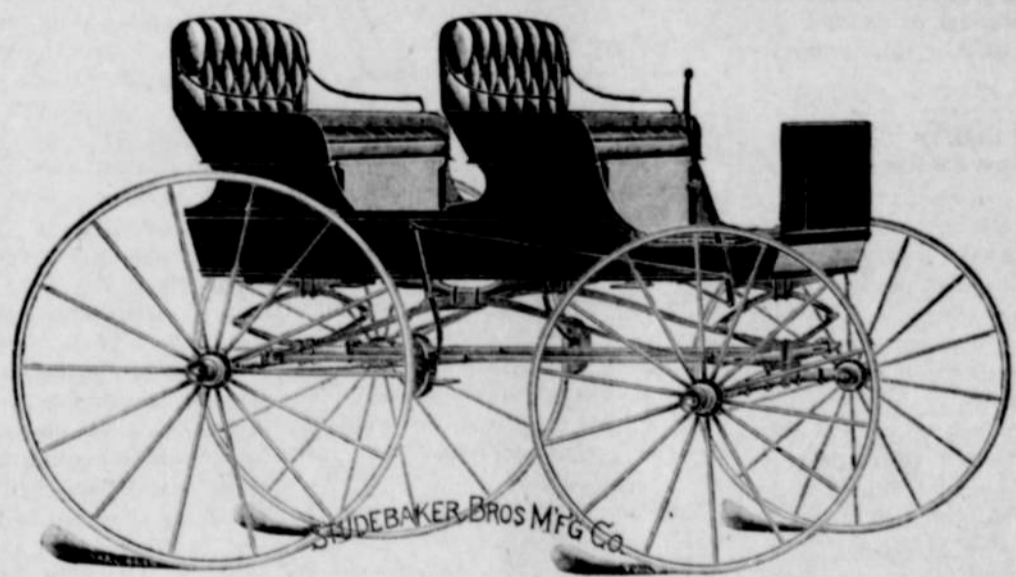

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—If Mr. Kipling had waited until today to write that poem in which he made a lot of women dislike him when he declared—

"For a woman is only a woman But a good cigar is a smoke." It would have been necessary for him to replace the cigar with a pipe, to make it appeal to the average man, for the democrats treated the cigar and cigarette as luxuries. Which means that instead of reducing import duties on them, they either remained the same or were increased. My Lady Nicotine received few favors from the new tariff law. Devotees of the weed do not stand much chance of saving any money under the new law, unless they smoke it in pipe form. If he smokes a clay pipe he'll be able to save more.

The same old import tax of $1.85 per pound on filler tobacco is in effect today. American smokers paid $6,120,000 last year on this grade of tobacco. Likewise the old duty of 35 cents a pound on unstemmed filler tobacco prevails. $17,000,000 "went up in smoke" literally last year, as the "indirect tax" on that article, and
