

BITTER FIGHT IN CONGRESS ON THE TOLL REPEAL ACT

PASSAGE OF THE REPEAL IS THOUGHT SURE

Final Vote on Wilson's Proposition Is Expected Saturday Possibly, and for Certain on Monday—Congressmen Propose a Limit to the Time for Debating on This Question, Which Meets With Opposition.

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—While the passage of the tolls repeal act is considered as a certainty when it comes to a vote Saturday night or Monday, the bill has precipitated one of the most bitter struggles that has occurred in congress since the democrats have controlled.

In the senate defeat looms as a possibility, while Adamson predicts a house majority of from forty to seventy, possibly more.

A test vote is expected this afternoon on the adoption of a special rule placing the Sims resolution before the house. It is expected that the majority in favor of the resolution will be about the majority in favor of the repeal bill.

Chairman Henry called up the Sims measure as soon as the rivers and harbors bill was passed, and proposed to limit the debate on the repeal bill to fifteen hours.

Mann and Murdock want mere party lines obliterated, while many of the Woodrowites are pleading for "patriotism above party platforms."

United Press Service WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—Senator Lewis introduced an anti-free tolls resolution in the upper house which provides that "In pursuance of the true American doctrine of equal justice to all, and special privileges to none, it is expedient and just that all vessels or tonnage passing through the canal shall bear or pay a sum of compensation so adjusted as shall compensate for the expense of the upkeep of the canal."

Effect of Decision Not Known

Tax Commissioners' Meeting In Salem to Determine if Cleeton's Ruling Affects Entire State of Oregon or Only Multnomah County

By CHARLES V. GALLOWAY (State Tax Commissioner) SALEM, March 26.—Final determination of the issue arising from Judge Cleeton's decision in Multnomah county is not settled as yet. It is not known at this time whether the county will appeal.

The tax commission has not, and cannot make a ruling in the matter.

To determine whether the entire state or only Multnomah county are affected, the state tax commission is holding a meeting in Salem today. The court's ruling is expected to have a similar effect on the collection of the penalty in the entire state. Taxpayers in every county have followed the case from its inception, and tax payments have been unusually small pending the outcome.

On the ground that taxes under the amended law of 1913 do not become delinquent until September 1st of each year, Circuit Judge Cleeton of Multnomah county granted a restraining order perpetually enjoining the county treasurer of that county from collecting a penalty of 1 per cent a month from those persons who have paid one-half of their taxes prior to April 1, 1914.

In summing up Judge Cleeton says in his decision:

"Under this view I have taken, there is no legal duty resting upon the taxpayer to pay taxes prior to August 31, and there is no default until September 1st. It follows, therefore, that no penalties to be paid before that date can be imposed. That is the date specially named by the statute which plaintiff contends

MORBID THROG HEARS THE CASE

TRIAL OF CHARLES HAMMOND ATTRACTS A LARGE ATTENDANCE OF CURIOUS—ENSON GIVES A REPRIMAND

When the trial of Charles E. Hammond on a statutory charge was resumed today, every seat in the circuit court was filled with auditors, who followed the salacious details recounted by witnesses. In one instance some broke into laughter, but they were quickly stifled by Judge Benson's sharp reprimand that there was nothing funny about the affair.

This morning the witnesses for the state finished their testimony, and Hammond took the stand this afternoon. He denied attacking Mary Fleischer, and said that instead, the girl, clad in her nightgown, went to his bed, causing him to drive her out.

Murphy's Friends Say He'll Fight Them

Wm. Church Osborn, the wealthy lawyer, who was recently elected as chairman of the democratic committee of New York state, has gained the enmity of some adherents of Charles F. Murphy, boss of Tammany Hall, and until lately in full command of the party throughout the state. They fear that he is trying to alienate Murphy's up-state followers, who in combining with him have made it possible to control the party machinery in the state.

Osborn was chosen at the instance of Governor Glynn, who has taken a neutral position toward Murphy. But he has held many conferences with county leaders, and Tammany men think he is making an effort to draw them away from Murphy. Osborn has always believed in politics of a much different kind than that practiced by Murphy, and most of those familiar with state politics expect to see an open break on the first occasion.

It is understood that Villa wired for aid, following a federal rally and repulse.

GOVERNMENT IS VICTOR IN SUIT

FEDERAL COURT AT PORTLAND SCORES FOR THE PLAINTIFF, ORDERING AN UNMERGED MOVEMENT.

PORTLAND, March 26.—A decree favorable to the government was entered in the federal court here in the government's suit for the dissolution of the American Telegraph and Telephone company from its independent affiliations.

The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, the Sunset Telephone company and forty other defendants are affected by the decree, which is far-reaching in its effects.

The more pretentious apartment houses in Vienna have a curious impost levied upon them. The doors are closed at 10 o'clock at night, and after that hour every one who goes or comes must pay 20 cents until midnight, and 40 cents thereafter until 6 o'clock in the morning.

In the last year Iowa produced 96,953,183 pounds of butter, which was sold for $28,285,240.

Algoma Mill Is Busy

Plant Starts Operations Monday; Buys More Timber

Workmen are busily engaged in getting the sawmill of the Algoma Lumber company in shape for the season's run, which will start Monday or Tuesday. The box factory is also being repaired.

The Algoma plant will be kept busy eight months, and the daily cut will average about 100,000 feet. There will be about 2,500,000 feet cut each month, making the season's run close to 20,000,000 feet.

To turn out this amount the company will use its own timber, and it also expects to purchase logs from points around Upper Klamath Lake this summer.

The logging railroad has been extended a mile further into the timber. A deal has just been completed whereby the Devereaux tract of timber, adjoining the Algoma holdings, has been purchased by the company, and this will also be all cut to lumber this season.

Much of the lumber will be converted into box shooks at the company's box factory. The box factory turns out about three carloads of shooks a day, and will furnish employment the year around to fifty or sixty men.

The petition for removal is based upon the ground that the defendant is a foreign corporation, being incorporated under the laws of California.

Must Shut Up Chicks

Poundmaster Will Arrest Owners of Stray Poultry

No longer will the householder and amateur gardener have to silently gnash his teeth and nurse his wrath or fear of causing neighborhood trouble when he returns home to find that the nice little garden he so carefully spaded, raked and planted has been torn and scratched to pieces by the neighbor's chickens. If the neighbor doesn't keep his chickens home he is liable to arrest.

There has been some complaint in different parts of the city regarding chickens spoiling new gardens and flower beds, and in nearly every case the complainant has been informed that the neighbor has something else to do besides "riding herd" on his poultry stock. Now, however, it is up to him to either do this or keep the chicks penned up.

"There is an ordinance which prohibits chickens running at large," said Poundmaster Hall today. "Violations of this can be punished either by seizure of the chickens by the authorities or by the arrest and fining of the people owning the chickens. I intend to follow the latter course, and compel people to keep their chickens fenced in."
