New Espee Depot for San Francisco Soon

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Plans are complete for the new passenger depot which the Southern Pacific company will construct at Third and Townsend streets. Announcement is made that construction will follow without unnecessary delays.

The structure will have a frontage of 260 feet on Third street and 111 feet on Townsend street. It will be in the mission style of architecture, with a plaster finish exterior, three stories high and capped with a red tile roof. The facade on Third street will be set back twenty feet from the street line to provide parking space for automobiles and hotel busses. On the main street fronts there will be a covered arcade twelve feet wide.

A feature of the interior plan is a waiting room 117 feet long by 60 feet wide, with the ceiling 40 feet high. Provision is made for a capacious room for ladies and a smoking room for men, and also for a restaurant 60x46 feet, with kitchen and service rooms.

The Southern Pacific Coast division headquarters will be in the new building.

The change in the track arrangements involve tearing up and relaying every rail in the freight and passenger yards and the moving of all freight buildings southward toward King and Berry streets. In all there will be twenty-seven passenger and express tracks in the depot.

The depot will be finished before the opening of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Be Careful With the Milk; Contamination Is Easy Now

U. S. Department of Agriculture Outlines Some Plans for Keeping the Milk Sweet During Hot Weather

(Herald Special Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—During the hot weather milk is particularly susceptible to contamination, and for that reason the United States department of agriculture is issuing a timely warning to housewives: Beware of Unclean Milk!

When milk is delivered it should be put into the refrigerator at once. A very brief exposure to summer heat makes it unfit for use. If it is impossible to have the bottles put immediately into the refrigerator, provide on the porch a box containing a lump of ice.

In planning a house, arrange to have the refrigerator set in the wall with an opening to the outside. It is always possible to provide locks for these boxes or refrigerator doors, and supply the milkman with a key.

The interior of the food compartment should be wiped every day with a clean cloth, and thoroughly scalded as often as once a week.

Under no circumstances should the drain pipe of an ice box be connected with a sewer.

Before removing the cap from a bottle of milk the cap and neck of the bottle should be washed and carefully wiped with a clean cloth. The cap should not be pushed down into the milk. It may be easily removed with a sharp pointed instrument without injuring the contents.

The bottle, when once open, should be kept covered, and the milk should be kept in the original bottle until it is used up.

The original cap should not be replaced, but instead an inverted glass may be put over the top of the bottle. The bottle, when not in use, should, of course, always be left in the refrigerator, and any milk that has been poured from it into another vessel should not be poured back.

Onions and other foods having a strong odor, especially during the hot weather, very easily impart their distinctive small to milk that is left uncovered. This is an additional reason for always keeping milk in a covered receptacle.

Milk bottles should never be taken into a sick room, for as they are usually returned to the milkman, they may thus carry infectious diseases into other homes. Every milk bottle left at a house where there is an infectious sickness should be boiled before being returned. The best thing to do in such circumstances is to provide one's own milk bottles or covered dishes into which the milkman may pour the milk from his bottles. The duty of each individual to his neighbor in this connection is most important. In any case, bottles should be given reasonable care before they are returned to their owner. The practice of pouring vinegar or kerosene, or other liquids into them temporarily when not in use should by all means be discouraged.

The containers should be washed in cold water first and finally in warm water before they are returned to the farmer supplying the milk.

These little details of cleanliness are matters which cannot be regulated by the federal or state government. Rules and regulations that require pure milk to be delivered to the home may be rendered valueless by careless individuals in the home.

The best efforts of the milkman or farmer to deliver first class milk will amount to nothing unless individual housewives will co-operate for the good of the community.

Miss Icy Wareham and Father-in-Law of Duke She Sues for $100,000

Miss Icy Wareham, who is described in New York as a "dog fancier who has exhibited in many shows in the East," has sued Eugene Zimmerman, the Cincinnati millionaire, for $100,000 for breach of promise. Mr. Zimmerman is father-in-law of the Duke of Manchester.

"We shall stand by him," said the duke the other day when he was asked what action would follow.

Miss Wareham says Mr. Zimmerman promised to wed her four years ago, and has continued ever since to promise her. Yet when she brought him to the point he found cause for delay. Little is known about the woman. She has nothing to do with New York society, as has been stated.

Mr. Zimmerman was born in Ross county, near Chillicothe, Ohio, about seventy-one years ago. His wealth has been estimated at $20,000,000. After serving through the Civil War he went to Cincinnati, and there was fortunate in meeting Alexander McDonald, a former Ross county neighbor. About that time John D. Rockefeller, then of Cleveland, was looking for a good man in the southern part of Ohio to handle Standard Oil products. He met McDonald and offered him the agency. McDonald accepted, and needing a partner, took in Zimmerman. This business connection was the beginning of Mr. Zimmerman's fortune. Mr. Zimmerman married Miss Evans nearly forty years ago. He bought a comfortable home at Mt. Auburn, a suburb of Cincinnati, and there lived. Mr. Zimmerman has been a widower for years. Miss Helen Zimmerman, his only daughter, is now the Duchess of Manchester.

FERGIE CHARMED BY KLAMATH LAND

LAWYER AND BANKER RETURN FROM THE DALLES BY AUTO, AND THEY SAY THIS REGION IS MOST PROMISING

"After a trip through the Eastern and Central Oregon country, the fact that Klamath has more to it than any other county in the state is noticeable just as soon as the auto strikes the timber right at the county line. After that, comes the beautiful Wood River Valley, then the Upper Lake, and the great Klamath Basin spread out. Other towns that are making more of a holler and a booster movement than Klamath Falls, don't begin to have such a fine region surrounding them."

Thusly carols Charles J. Ferguson, who came in late Friday from The Dalles with Will H. Bennett, vice president of the First State and Savings Bank in the latter's car. After the Medford convention, Bennett went to Portland, and Ferguson was called from Portland to Walla Walla by the illness of his daughter. The two met at The Dalles, and came down via Bend.

Ferguson states that already the residents of Pendleton are boosting for the 1914 Round-Up, and their big hats and cowpuncher boots are everywhere in evidence. He says that there is a tryout at the grounds every Sunday.

NO MORE FUNDS TO BUY SCALPS

COUNTY CLERK IS INFORMED THAT THE STATE'S FUND FOR BOUNTY ON PREDATORY ANIMALS IS GONE

According to a letter received this morning by County Clerk De Lap from Secretary of State Olcott, the state's fund for bounty on predatory animals is exhausted. De Lap was ordered not to send any more bounty claims to the state until the legislature makes another appropriation.

Heretofore, the state has paid half and the county half of the bounty claims on coyotes, bobcats, timber wolves, etc.

The manufacture of logan berry juice and sawdust briquets are new industries being considered in various parts of the state.

The campaign for a two-mill limit on state taxes will be made by the taxpayers in the Willamette Valley.
