HIGHWAYMEN HOLD UP "KATY"

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Four masked men boarded the "Katy Flier," the fast train of the Missouri Pacific, last night near the town of Matson.

The man got on the blind baggage, and after leaving the town they terrorized the engineer and fireman, and compelled them to stop the train.

While one man on each side of the train kept the passengers inside by firing alongside the coaches, another held the engineer and crew under guard, and a third uncoupled the express, baggage and mail cars and ran them down the track, where they dynamited the express cafe.

They stuffed their pockets full of loot, and then disappeared.

The train crew estimated their loot from $3,000 to $50,000, but the American Express company officials insist that they did not get more than $1,000.

FORT PEOPLE TO WAGE HOPPER WAR

FORT KLAMATH, July 10.—Determined to stamp out the grasshopper invasion so effectively that there will be none left by the breeding time this fall, Fort Klamath property owners have formed an organization to carry out the fight under the direction of County Agricultural Agent M. A. McCall. The organization is represented by a committee composed of Lindsay Sisemore, Frank Burns and J. F. Loosley.

Already an order has been sent out for big quantities of paris green, which will be used in a bran mash, to be scattered over the fields to kill off the grasshoppers. The mash is to be prepared in accordance with a formula furnished by Mr. McCall. It will not be strong enough to injure stock of any kind.

Following is McCall's formula: In handling the grasshopper situation here and elsewhere, the poison method has, in most cases, proved the most satisfactory. There are several poisons, but the following formula, recommended by Prof. H. S. Wilson of the Oregon station, is, we believe, the most efficient and reasonable in price:

Fifty pounds bran, 20 pounds paris green, one pound of salt, one ounce lemon extract.

In some cases a quart of some cheap syrup might be added, but its necessity in the above formula is doubtful. The paris green and salt should be thoroughly mixed with the dry bran in the above, after which enough water is added to make a mash sufficiently wet that the water will not run. The lemon extract may then be added, this being simply for the purpose of attracting the insects, its odor having proven the best of all substances used for the purpose.

The above mixture should be scattered broadcast over infested fields and pastures in the early morning while the dew is yet on and before the insects have begun to feed. The efficiency of the bait is much lessened after drying out, although there is a possibility of the dew rendering the dried out mixture again useful. For the above reasons, early morning scattering is imperative. The amount of mixture given in the formula should, in the opinion of Professor Wilson, be sufficient for ten acres where properly scattered. In all ordinary cases, one application will be sufficient; but in extreme infestation, two, or even more may be necessary.

The poison alone is not in itself sufficient, but should be coupled with preventative measures. The insects breed in dry, un-irrigated soil, and proper discing and plowing in the fall and early spring will destroy the egg masses before hatching. Covering meadows with water will also prevent hatching. Co-operation of all in the affected area is absolutely necessary, as land not at first affected may later be endangered through the migration of the hoppers.

In any case, the county agriculturalist stands ready to co-operate in every possible way, either by obtaining and helping to apply the poison, or otherwise. The important point to remember is, "Destroy this year's crop and prevent the next."

There were produced in Cuba from the manufacture of sugar in the year 1911-12, 77,273,959 gallons of molasses, an increase of 19,139,746 gallons over the preceding year.

RETAIL BEEF CLIMBS

Ten Million Fewer Cattle and Twenty Million More People to Eat Them

United Press Service. CHICAGO, July 10.—The retail price of fresh meats have advanced from one to three cents per pound in the last thirty days.

The big packers are very gloomy over the outlook. Arthur Meeker of Armour & Co., says the cattle supply is about 75 per cent normal. He states that there are 10,000,000 fewer cattle than there were a decade ago, and 20,000,000 more people to be fed.

PSYCHOLOGICAL TORTURE GIVEN

PASADENA, July 10.—Dr. J. F. Moore, a fellow prisoner of Vice Consul Silliman at Saltillo, has written a letter to a friend here in which he says that himself, Silliman and nine other American prisoners were physically well treated, but that they were psychologically tortured by the jailer, whom they called "Fiend," who kept continually telling them that they had only a few hours more to live.

The anxiety was almost unendurable until they learned that the jailer had no authority for his threats.

ACCUSED LAWYER DEFENDS HIMSELF SAYS HE SOLD WARRANTS TO HELP WIDOW

Good Sized Audience at the Court Room This Afternoon, as Lawyer Accused of Keeping Widows' Pension Warrants Tells the Jury His Side of the Case—Claims He Held Warrants Awaiting a Settlement.

Warren J. Shaver, the attorney who is accused of keeping widows' pension warrants issued to Mrs. Altha Daniel, took the stand in his own defense Friday afternoon.

That morning, when the state rested, the defense made a motion for Judge Benson to instruct the jury to return a verdict of acquittal, upon the ground that the prosecution has not produced sufficient evidence to show that a crime had been committed. This was denied.

Shaver explained the selling of the warrants to Charles J. Ferguson by saying that he knew Mrs. Daniels needed all the money she could get, so he sold them for 90 cents on the dollar, rather than sell them later at 85 cents. He says Ferguson gave him a check, which he cashed at the K. K. K. Store, and used the money.

He says that at the time he took the case he did not know but what there might be filing fees, so told Mrs. Daniels that the cost of getting the pension would not be over $10. Mrs. Daniels, in her testimony, stated that Shaver agreed to get her the pension for this amount, his fee included.

Shaver stated that at the time he and Mrs. Daniels went to settle, he had drawn three warrants. He stated that he gave her one warrant and the cash equivalent of the second. The third, he said, he held until paid for his services, Mrs. Daniels declining to pay him cash for it, but saying she could pay in check. It was at this time that the two disputed regarding the amount due, and at the end of their conference, Shaver still held the warrant.
