GREEN, BLUE OR RED BUTTER NEXT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—Lavender, scarlet, red, white and blue, and, in fact, any color or combination of colors of butter may grace the American dinner table soon. This is hinted at in an official bulletin by department of agriculture experts.

That the color of "Bossy's" butter may be regulated and changed by the feed given milk cows is asserted as a scientific fact.

If as much progress in determining the color of cow's butter by the feed given them is made during the next decade, scientists think it not beyond the realms of hope to feed cows so that butter of the hues of Joseph's coat may naturally result.

Color pigments found in cows' fodder is responsible for the assertion that the color of the butter is determined largely by the provender. Many color pigments are found in green plants.

That yellow will be the standard color, however, is assured by the fact that the pigment known as carotin, which is yellowish in hue, is found to predominate in green stuff.

They make yellow pigments in milk known as "zanthophylls." These pigments pass directly from the feed into the milk, explaining the fact that fresh grass and carrots, largely impregnated with carotin, increase the yellowishness of butter.

Green corn will produce a highly yellow butter, the department experts declare. Bleached clover hay and yellow corn are devoid of yellow coloring, and, when fed cows, produce a pale colored butter.

"It is indisputably true," the department declares, "that the breed of cows, also, influences the color of milk fat, but vary the rations and there will be a corresponding variation in the color of the milk fat in each breed."

Jersey and Gurnsey cows give the yellowest milk. The department declares even to the extent of causing the public to look with suspicion upon their products because of its being apparently too yellow.

FIRST LUTHERAN COLLEGE STARTED

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 5.—The first Lutheran college to be erected in California has been started in Oakland and will be completed in a few months.

It will represent an outlay of $35,000, all but $5,000 of which is now in the hands of the committee, and when finished will be used for the education of Lutheran students who are preparing for the ministry. It will be known as the California Concordia College.

The erection of the building was broached at the California conference of the Lutheran Synod in Los Angeles last year. The Rev. J. H. Theiss, pastor of the Zion German Lutheran church of Oakland was appointed to superintend the work of raising the funds, after five acres of valuable land in the city of Oakland had been donated by the educational branch of the society for the building. Mr. Theiss has been working on the task of raising the money, and has announced that he has succeeded in obtaining all but $5,000. This will be on hand when needed, he said.

When Henry Shaw revisited a circus to which he had belonged many years before in Bellefontaine, Ohio, no one of the people connected with it recognized him, but the elephant started trumpeting as soon as he appeared and showed every sign of glad recognition.

CRESCENT SCHOOL PLANS SENT

Architect Veghte sent the plans to Crescent today for the new school house, which is to be erected there this summer in time for the opening of school next fall.

It is expected that the building will cost in the neighborhood of $2,500 and will be a frame structure. County Superintendent Peterson said, in speaking of the building: "It will be the best building in the county when finished. It is unique in that while it is being built amply large to accommodate the students for several years, yet it is being so constructed that when the time comes it will be a simple matter to build into it without defacing the original, but rather will add to the beauty of the structure."

This is the district in which the clerk has been indicted for misuse of the school funds recently. A large surplus fund is on hand in the district for school improvements due to a mistake made by the assessor several years ago, which netted the district considerable money.

Monarchs Who Make Up Triple Alliance

Kaiser Wilhelm is the dominant figure in the Triple Alliance (Germany, Austria and Italy). He has maintained the inheritance of Bismarck, who organized the Triple Alliance for the purpose of protecting the integrity of the German speaking peoples of Germany and Austria, chiefly against the reprisals of France after her defeat in 1870 and the possible aggressions of mighty Russia in the future. The Triple Alliance has maintained the peace of Europe for more than a quarter of a century. The crisis brought about by the Kaiser's demands in the Agadir incident was an occasion in which the Triple Alliance might have been used against peace. Now has come another occasion. Austria would not have dared to attack Serbia did she not feel she would be backed by Germany and Italy in case of general war throughout Europe.

HYLAND WANTS ACTION TAKEN

Geo. M. Hyland, member of the Oregon commission to the Panama-Pacific Exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915, was present at a special meeting of the Klamath Chamber of Commerce Wednesday held in the club rooms.

Mr. Hyland is here in the interests of Klamath county and is endeavoring to create interest in her exhibit to be placed in the Oregon building. Regarding the situation at present, Mr. Hyland said, "Plans for your exhibit should have been under way long ago. This is important and should be started as soon as possible so that when the time comes everything will be complete and you will be able to make a favorable showing with the exhibits from other districts as well as giving your section of the state the representation that it should have."

"I should suggest as a novel feature a pine tree pergola as a place to put your fish and game exhibit in the outdoor exhibit of Southern Oregon pine. Another good plan which I think would do your section lots of good would be a large relief map of Klamath county, which would show in their relative positions and scenic advantages, Crater Lake, the Upper and Lower Klamath Lakes, the lava beds and other scenic attractions which you have here.

Klamath county has paid its portion of the building cost and maintenance in the Oregon building and should get active and fill the spaces assigned to it with specimens of agriculture and other resources."

Mr. Hyland is giving over his time as director of exploitation and the members of the commission board are doing everything in their power to make Oregon's exhibit at this world's exhibition everything that it should be.

This matter will be taken up at the meeting tonight by Mr. Hyland, when he will offer other suggestions that will aid Klamath greatly. A large attendance is requested by the members of the chamber to be present and all interested are invited to come.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5.—The fighting in Belgium is becoming heavier. Germany's Cologne army has crossed the boundary and marched on Gemmenich and there divided. An advance was made on Liege and Namur by the two divisions.

Fifty thousand Germans attacked Liege, where 25,000 Belgians were stationed. Heavy fighting was engaged in and the artillery fire was terrific. The Germans were repulsed. Losses on both sides were heavy. The Germans retired and built entrenchments within range of the city. The bombardment of the city continued from a semicircular position. The Germans were advancing in armored trains. The Belgians had posted artillerymen along the route. Unexpectedly to the Germans, the Belgians had laid mines under the train, which were exploded at an advantageous point.

The locomotive drawing the train and the two forward cars were completely demolished. Immediately the Belgian artillerymen, placed there for the purpose, opened fire on the remainder of the German force.

The surprise swept the Germans off their feet. They resisted fiercely but were effectively routed by the awful fire centered on them. The rout was followed by a general retreat. The rear of the German column was followed by Belgians and slaughtering of the fleeing soldiers commenced.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—Latest reports show fighting to be general. The German loss is reported heavier. The French are using the system of placing out strong skirmishers to conceal the main defense. On a given signal they retire, exposing the German machine guns.

A statement from the war office says that the Germans are making a general attack on the entire French boundary line. The statement said: "The German cavalry has reached Morfontaine, the French infantry repulsing them there. The infantry has trapped German dragoons at Meurtheet and Moselle, defeating them. Fifty are reported killed and wounded."

PARIS, Aug. 5.—At daybreak today the German army attacked Petiteroix. The advance charged and were repulsed by long range artillerymen. The attack hopes to isolate Belfort.

Mark Daniels, general superintendent and landscape gardener for Uncle Sam's national parks, left Crater Lake Tuesday night for Medford, from where he will go to Ranier Park and other national parks in the Northwest on his tour of inspection.

"I can see no reason why Crater Lake cannot be the most attractive spot for its scenic beauty and grandeur in the United States," said Superintendent Daniels, in speaking of the lake. While he had been prepared for the wonderful view that was to meet his eyes on arriving there, he was much surprised. In talking with other members of the party he said that he had never seen anything that came up to it. Many other places were famed for various things, but none of them compared with the wonderful beauty combined with the grandeur of the scene, as one arrives at the rim of the lake.

Owing to the red tape that is necessary to secure appropriations for the national parks, it is believed to be President Wilson's plan to organize a new bureau which will have under its charge the national parks. At present in the various parks there are three different departments at work, the war department doing work on the roads, the department of agriculture and the department of the interior. The general plan, believing that America's wonders are worth seeing and worth the expenditure of a great deal of money on improvements, of the new administration is to place these under the control of a special department, thereby creating an efficient control of the parks.

Daniels was accompanied to the lake by Postmaster Delzell, James Thompson and Miss Estelle Blair, who returned Tuesday.

Nearly 27,000 women and girls are employed in the textile trade in Philadelphia.

The faction leaders made similar speeches, and there was an enthusiastic demonstration.
