SOCIALISTS ISSUE A PROCLAMATION

The following proclamation has just been issued by the socialist party of America, over a signature of Walter Lanfersiek, executive secretary:

The socialist party of the United States hereby extends its sympathy to the workers of Europe in their hour of trial, when they have been plunged into bloody and senseless conflict by ambition-crazed monarchs, designing politicians and scheming capitalists.

We bid them to consider that the workers of the various nations involved have no quarrel with each other, and that the evils from which they suffer—poverty, want, unemployment, oppression—are inflicted upon them not by the workers of some other country, but by the ruling classes of their own country.

We bid them to take thought before they allow themselves to be used blindly by heartless and inhuman despots who would spill the blood of thousands, inflict pain and sorrow upon millions, devastate the land and set back civilization in order to further their own wretched plots and schemes.

The socialist party of the United States, in conformity with the declarations of the international socialist movement, hereby reiterates its opposition to this and all other wars, waged upon any pretext whatsoever; war being a crude, savage and unsatisfactory method of settling real or imaginary differences between nations, and destructive of the ideals of brotherhood and humanity to which the international socialist movement is dedicated.

The socialist party of the United States hereby expresses its condemnation of the ruling classes of Europe and points out to the world that by their action in this crisis they have conclusively proven that they are unfit to administer the affairs of nations in such a manner that the lives and happiness of the people may be safeguarded.

The socialist party of the United States hereby calls upon all foreign-born workmen residing in this country, particularly upon those whose home governments are engaged in the present strife, to hold joint mass meetings for the purpose of emphasizing the fraternity and solidarity of all working people, irrespective of color, creed, race or nationality. We call upon the socialist locals throughout the country to promote such meetings and give all possible assistance.

The socialist party of the United States hereby pledges its loyal support to the socialist parties of Europe in any measures they might think it necessary to undertake to advance the cause of peace and of good will among men.

The socialist party of the United States hereby calls upon the national administration to prove the genuineness of its policy of peace by opening immediate negotiations for mediation and extending every effort to bring about the speedy termination of this disastrous conflict.

CHURCH SITE IS OFFERED BOARD

Providing the Presbyterians will erect a church to cost not less than $12,000, Major Charles E. Worden will donate a lot for the edifice and donate $1,000 towards its construction. Two lots in the vicinity of Eleventh and High streets, near the reclamation service building, are available, according to Worden.

The Presbyterian church has been considering the building of a new church for some time, and a committee has been looking up available sites. Whether or not the Worden offer will be accepted has not been announced by the members of the building committee.

Accompanied by his sons Ralph and H. H., William M. Cake, a well known Portland attorney, is here in his auto on a tour of the state.

ITALY, AUSTRIA NEAR A BREAK

ROME, Aug. 15.—Relations between Italy and Austria are more strained than ever today, following the refusal of Italy to allow four corps of the Austrian army to cross Italian soil on the way to re-enforce the German army fighting the French in Alsace.

Austria declared that this demand was in accordance with the terms of the treaty of the Triple Alliance. Italy's reply was that it intended to remain neutral, and that the marching of troops to oppose belligerents would be an insult to Italy.

A claim and delivery action was filed in the circuit court against Joe Edelson Saturday to recover a well drilling outfit, valued at $500, which Davey charges is withheld from him.

In addition, he asks damages at the rate of $2 per day from July 15th. Albert E. Elder is Davey's attorney.

MORE AMERICANS TO START HOME

THEATRICAL BUSINESS HAS ITS TROUBLES

(Written for the United Press) NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—It is agreed on Broadway that General Sherman must have been a theatrical manager. Otherwise he would not have been able to express in such explicit language just what war is.

As you sit at home and read war news, and have visions of Kaiser Bill challenging the world to fight, you may not think that this lord of war, who is now in the role he has long wanted to play, is musing up your theatrical plans for the winter. Well—he is.

Kaiser Bill not only is striving vaingloriously to muss up the whole of Europe, but through his wholesale broadside hurling of declarations of war is causing little old Broadway no end of worry.

No one has been shouting during the last couple of years over wonderful successes and the outlook for the coming season which was good until all this outbreak of a calamitous war has given a dull gray dressed-for-battle hue.

In the first place, rehearsals for many shows may be delayed because the principals are held in Europe. Whether they are unable to get a steamer home or haven't the money to pay for a ticket doesn't make any difference. The chances are against their returning in time for rehearsal on the date they were scheduled to begin.

The press agents have jumped on the war, incidentally, as a means of bringing these marooned actors and actresses into print again. If anyone has been overlooked, they were certainly in some such places as Zwywitz and the cables refused to carry the name of the town, the censor fearing the combination might mean something or was intended to be calling the king names.

No More Spooling Along the Mountain Trails LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—Uncle Sam took it upon himself today to prevent spooling on the famous Mt. Wilson trail. Upon complaint of the Juvenile Protective Association, the government's fire wardens and forest rangers were instructed to keep the byways along the trail closed to loving couples. Hundreds of persons from Los Angeles, Pasadena and other cities tramp there nightly during the summer.

Returns to Redding Mrs. Arthur Livermore and children returned Saturday to the home in Redding, after a visit of several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Carter. Mrs. Carter accompanied them.

Alexander T. Vogelsang, O. M. Williams and W. J. Cunningham, well known San Franciscans, came in Friday, after fishing at Rocky Point.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BY MARGARET MASON (Written for the United Press)

With fashions and love to fill our minds, Wars and suffrage and strikes seem petty; So Betty smiles in her basque of black— And I bask in the smiles of Betty.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The black basque plays an important part in the sartorial make-up of the dainty maid who follows the fashions as the black masque in the sartorial make-up of the taking person who follows the dark lantern and the jimmy.

Preferably and almost invariably of black velvet, this newest basque is worn with a fluffy and many-flooned skirt of white organdie or batiste. Often the skirt, while it has an organdie foundation, breaks out in flounces of either tulle or chiffon. Delicate orchid and sweet pea tints are also used for these skirts as well as the all-white and the effect of the froth of many ruffles bursting out below the close sheath of rich black velvet basque is charming enough to compensate for the rather obvious discomforts of such apparel on a mid-summer day.

As a concession to the heat, variations of these basques are shown developed in either black taffeta or black satin, but they lack that indescribable air of chic of the velvet brand. Hence, they are not much favored by the fashionably elect, who have long since bowed to the inexorable mandate of the mode that one cannot be truly smart and comfortable all at the same time.

The velvet basque is always low of neck and long of sleeve and buttoned either up the front or back with visible bullet buttons. On some of them sheer roll collars of organdie or a tulle frill softens the effect about the throat.

The run on velvet is by no means confined to the basque. Already the all-velvet hat, saucy and perky in its miniature proportions, has ousted the fragile straw from the heads of summer beauties. So tiny and close fitting are they that they seem inadequately to dispute the prophecy that large chapeaux of picture proportions are coming to the top again ere long. And yet following the immutable law that everything goes the limit before it changes and things are always worse before they are better, this August crop of wee velvet hats may be to prove the rule that they have only gotten smaller to get larger.

The parasol indeed practices being useful as well as ornamental this season of small hats, and even they are now being shown in velvet. So you see the mid-summer madness for this rich and lustrous fabric has not only gone to lovely woman's head, but over it as well.

There is certainly nothing half way about fashion and from the extremity of no sleeves at all, or at least none to speak of, the long sleeve is now being the drier cri. For afternoon and street wear they are absolutely the only permissible sleeves as the total absence of arm covering still holds good for evening toilettes it is simply a case of long sleeves or none. While the velvet and satin basques all show unpromisingly long, tight sleeves of the same materials long sleeves of lace and tulle are very smart in combination with the silken bodices of many of the dressy little afternoon frocks of taffeta or crepe. The lingerie gowns are all showing the long, sheer, small artificial flowers between the elbow and the shoulder to peep through the mist of lace or tulle. Bracelets of sparkling jewels are also given a welcome haven in like position and many are the rare fortunes in gems that one fair maid is thus enabled to keep up her sleeve.

As a sort of reaction against the multi-colored strands of beads that have all summer decorated the bosoms of both Judy O'Grady and the colonel's lady, that latter personage is now going in exclusively for strands of pearls. Real or otherwise strings of these luminous tear-like jewels show to best advantage atop the background of the black velvet basque and contrary to the long-accepted decree that pearls before breakfast were as bad as pearls before swine, pearls are now being flaunted in the face of tradition and the rosy dawn.

The present penchant for the chaste pearl has by no means completely done for the beads of many color, however. As brilliant headed bands for dress trimming, and as fringe and garnishment on purses and bags of silk and velvet, they will fulfill a different but an equally prominent sphere this fall and winter.

friends of the young couple, gave invitation for the happy affair to be in their home, and Mrs. Wells covered herself over with glory in the preparation of the wedding breakfast of rich viands and rare delicacies. The home of Miss Rippey had been in Jackson county up to three years ago. She is an Oregonian by birth, and was educated in the public schools and the Southern Oregon State Normal, from which she graduated as a trained teacher with the class of 1908. She taught, after graduating from the normal, two years in the Ashland schools, one year at Gold Hill, and three years in the schools of Klamath Falls, where she could have continued indefinitely. She has been a very successful teacher and is an accomplished young woman. The groom is a native of Kansas, and was educated in the Klamath Falls graded and high school. He is a sterling business young man, associated with his father in the Klamath Falls Sash and Door Factory. The happy couple were loaded with rich presents as will be useful in their new home. They started on Wednesday afternoon by auto for Crater Lake. After spending a fortnight of outing they will return to Klamath Falls, where they will go to housekeeping at once, and the groom will continue with his father in business. Many good wishes follow them.

Officials expected the informal program of unostentation to be carried out. A war department vessel, the steamer Cristobal, loaded to the gunwales with Isthmian, war and naval officials, and a hefty cargo of newspaper men, was given the honor of being the first "official" vessel to go through the inter-oceanic waterway.

The formal opening of the canal will not occur until March 4, 1915, when President Wilson, Admiral Dewey, cabinet and congress members will head a gigantic fleet.

BIG BATTLE TO TAKE PLACE SOON

BELGIAN SOIL NEAR WATERLOO TO SEE ANOTHER GREAT FIGHT

German Attitude Is That Every German Capable of Bearing Arms Will Fight Until Slain. Cannonading by the Germans Began at Daybreak, and Late Today Infantry Began Attack on Army's Left Wing

By KARL von WIEGAND (Berlin Correspondent United Press) ROTTERDAM, Aug. 15.—Germany is prepared to fight UNTIL EVERY MAN capable of bearing arms is slain. That was the last word received when we left the German foreign office Thursday.

The fighting so far has cost Germany many lives, but the losses have only increased the kaiser's determination. German officers state that Germany is willing to sacrifice 100,000 lives in order to take Brussels.

The nation is calm. There are no anti-war demonstrations.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The official press bureau admits that the efforts of the German forces to penetrate the allies' left wing in Belgium is significant. Experts unite in warning Englishmen not to expect too much. They say the German infantry is wonderfully efficient, and that initial reverses are no indication of ultimate defeat.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 15.—The stage is all set, and the prologue started for what is expected will be one of the bloodiest and most decisive battles since Waterloo. And it will be fought not far from that historic battleground.

Since daybreak there has been continuous cannonading. German long range artillery covering the movements of the infantry. The Belgian line is from Diest to a point in Belgian Luxembourg east of Namur, the French reserves and the English forces are centered at Gembloux.

Belgian cavalry near Hasslet attacked and repulsed reconnoitering German cavalry this forenoon. The German advance is slow, evidently awaiting the massing of a larger force before attempting to break through.

German Uhlans made sorties to feel the strength of the Belgian line repeatedly this morning. They retired before the wild assaults of Belgian cavalry.

That the situation is considered serious is indicated by the war office endeavoring to suppress all news from the front. This is taken to mean that the Germans are in touch with allied forces, and that the next forward movement by the Germans will involve the entire armies of several nations.

It is expected that the battle will last several days.

Late today the German infantry advanced in an effort to envelope the extreme left wing of the allies, southeast of Antwerp, and it is admitted that the general attack may now be in progress. Officials believe the Germans plan to drive the extreme left of the line back into Antwerp.
