WEST GIVES VENT TO SPLEEN AS RESULT OF McNARY'S END

SALEM, Sept. 8.—A certificate of nomination as a republican candidate for justice of the supreme court was issued to Judge Henry L. Benson of Klamath Falls this afternoon by Governor Oswald West.

At the same time West made public a letter he sent to Benson, in which he denounced the Southern Oregon man for sharp practices. This stated that Benson's methods "put to blush the meast pettifogger in the land. The governor also declared that he believes that correct returns of the vote cast would have shown Judge Charles McNary to have been the successful candidate.

Despite this feeling of West's, however, the state canvassing board held that Benson secured the republican nomination by one majority.

"It's West, all over again, howling his head off when he fails to get his little petty larceny calibre of trickery across," is the way that Klamath Falls people size up that angered letter sent to "Our Judge" by the present incumbent of the gubernatorial chair—noted likewise for prison reform, cleaning up Klamath Falls, Portland, Marshfield, etc. He can't lose without setting up some discordant wall.

In view of the fact that since the primaries on May 25th, the question of who was the fourth republican nominee for the supreme bench has been hanging in the balance, and during that time Judge Benson has been making concession after concession, and stipulation after stipulation at the request of McNary's managers, local people fail to see any "sharp practices" on the Benson side of the fence. The judge has been agreeing right along to the opening of this ballot box, the recounting of that precinct vote, until there seemed to be absolutely no end to it. Then he made his final stipulation—and because McNary did not get by, West is sore.

"I'm tired, and almost broke," Benson told friends before his departure for the north. "This contest, and the way it has been dragged out has worn me down, and now I'm through. I am willing to split at a crack, or flip coins to decide who will be the candidate, but this eternal opening of ballot boxes and attempts to drag in cast out ballots without any apparent results, is too much for anyone to stand so long."

FREE BUSINESS COURSE OFFERED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Now that the placing of the regular students has been completed at the Klamath county high school, Principal Faught and George C. Smeltzer, head of the commercial department, are making plans for the early opening of the night school. This will probably open next week.

The night school is for the benefit of those not attending the high school who wish to prepare for commercial work. This year a course in stenotypy, or "machine shorthand," is offered, in addition to shorthand, bookkeeping, commercial arithmetic, typewriting, penmanship, etc.

The regular classes at the high school were all organized today, and studies for the term commenced. There is a very large Freshman class, and some additions to other classes.

The high school faculty this term is composed of:

Principal, W. E. Faught, chemistry; assistant principal, M. D. Coats, history, physics and debates; Bessie B. Applegate, English; Erma Cole, Latin, German and Greek; Marjorie Sellers, mathematics; Lottie Milam, home economics; G. C. Smeltzer, commercial; E. V. Hawley, manual training; Ruth Saucerman, music; Vernon Motschenbacher, history, English and athletics; Earl Chandler, agriculture.

GERMANS AVOIDED FORTIFIED TOWNS

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Stories from writers at the front indicate that the Germans have avoided serious attacks on the chief French fortified cities. In the most cases they passed these, leaving investing forces. The Germans have marched day and night, resting in the hottest part of the day. The French say the German losses are in excess of 200,000.

HOW ENGLAND TREATS CAPTIVES

By ED L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, (By Mail to New York), Sept. 8.—In the great arena of the Olympic, that monstrous stadium in Kensington, where only a few weeks ago the Freddie Welsh-Willie Ritchie and Gunboat Smith-George Carpenter prize fights were held, strange scenes are being enacted daily now.

Some two hundred odd men and youths—ranging all the way in age from 20 to 60—every afternoon at a set hour go through odd antics, such as running up and down the arena, jumping, rolling on the ground and other like stunts.

These youths and men are Germans—held prisoners by the government of England. Their strange antics are the only exercise they are allowed to take for a little while each afternoon. A thin line of Irish Guards, grim, silent, khaki-clad men, stand guard while the Germans go through their daily exercise.

The Olympia was seized by the government without a by-your-leave or a notice of any sort. Officials decided it was just the place they needed, and they occupied it without further ado.

The German prisoners who are being held there are men who have been taken from German merchantmen, German residents of England and German "floaters" who it is feared are spies in the employ of the kaiser.

Friends of the prisoners, by special permission, have been able to make it a little easier for them. They have provided them with bedsteads and cots, clean linen and other such conveniences. Barbers, but only English barbers, no German, are permitted to shave the prisoners if their friends send them.

Parcels of food and delicacies can be sent them by friends, too, but only after being closely examined by English officers. Solicitors or relatives can interview the prisoners in the presence of English officers. They are allowed to converse in the English language, however.

The English officers make it as pleasant for the prisoners as they can under the circumstances. The daily routine is much like that of a prison. At 7 a. m. all must arise, and those who have special bedding must "stow it away," as in barracks. Accompanied by armed guards, the prisoners, in batches, are permitted to perform ablutions.

Then breakfast is served the same as in barracks—coffee and bread and bacon, or sausage or ham and eggs. At mid-day hot meat and vegetables or a stew or a steak pudding, and in the evening bread and butter and tea and jam, as much as they want, form the menus.

All expense is born by the government. Mineral water or any other non-intoxicating drink may be sent the prisoners by friends, or it will be purchased for them if they have the funds. The prisoners cannot have knives or razors or anything with which they might inflict damage. Smoking is allowed only at a certain period.

Plenty of newspapers and magazines are supplied by the government and several of the prisoners have decks of cards, which they use to while away the many weary hours.

Many of the prisoners who have been residents of England for years, but who have never taken out naturalization papers, have been able to secure their freedom. English friends have interceded for them.

They were taken before the army officers in charge of the Olympia and closely questioned with regard to their feelings for their native country. Those who have been able to convince the officers by their testimony and the pledges of their English friends that they bear a love for their adopted country, have been allowed to go free.

It is a very motley assortment of prisoners. Many clerks and traders, unable to prove their innocence, are forced to lie by the side of wretched ruffians and outcasts.

The English officers feel sorry for the better class of prisoners, but they are powerless to help them. They are forced by the terms of war to hold them as prisoners if they cannot prove they have no relations with their native country.

The crews of captured German merchantmen are a sullen lot. They do not mingle with anyone else in the "prison." Holding aloof by themselves, they converse in low tones, mostly talking about what their fate will be.

There are two kinds of insurance. Chilcote writes the kind that pays. 635 Main.

No Further Word Sent About This

ROME, Sept. 8.—Today's issue of the Tribune says that there is definite information that the Germans have changed their plans for besieging Paris. This is attributed to the reported arrival of half a million Russian troops in France. The Tribune says this arrival is in accordance with the plans outlined by Lord Kitchner, the British war lord.

As a result, it is said that the kaiser has hurried to Metz to confer with the general staff as to the best way to meet this force.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 8.—Czar Nicholas has proclaimed Galicia as a Russian province. The Muscovites hold Eastern Galicia as far as the River San, and it is reported that they have crossed the San south of Przemysl, to advance against that city and Jarzolav.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—The first state political convention ever held in the world by women opened here at 10 p. m. today in the Phelan building. Mrs. E. K. Fernald of the Women's State Democratic Club presided as chairman.

Every county in the state was represented by delegates, and in addition, every women's democratic club in California sent several members to aid in making the world's first political convention of women a brilliant success. The appointment of committees by Mrs. Fernald, the report of various committees and an address of welcome by Mrs. Charles H. Spink, occupied the morning session.

In the afternoon a paper on "War," written by President Wilson, was read. Plans to aid the democratic candidates nominated in the recent state primary were made, and several of the women were expected to campaign the state.

A paper on "Peace" was also read by Mrs. Virginia Marshall Clepton of Los Angeles. Other speakers were Mrs. Cecelia K. Cameron and Mrs. R. T. Duncan, both of Bakersfield. The convention will close tonight with a reception at a local hotel.
