

Just a Word Regarding the War in Europe

its effect upon business and the situation in which we find Klamath Falls' Big Dry Goods Store at the present time

The first thing we want to say, is that you will find NO WAR PRICES HERE, although it is a fact there has been a few sharp advances on certain lines of merchandise, in most cases due solely to speculation.

D. M. C. Threads, Kid Gloves, imported Dress Trimmings, etc., etc., none of which we necessarily have to have, are not only advanced in price, but almost impossible to get.

On the other hand permit us to quote the Editor of one of the leading farm papers published in the Northwest, in which he estimates that in Minnesota alone, the advance in price of grain from July 24th to August 8th meant increased receipts for the farmers of that state amounting to approximately twenty-nine million dollars. He further states for the whole country the increase will amount to "more than one billion dollars."

America will not only get increased business because of the greater buying power of the agricultural interests of the country, but there will be unusual activity in most of the factories of the United States. All our principal competitors, England, France and Germany have partially or completely stopped producing. To quote from a letter we received this morning: "We will get the normal Fall demand, plus the business of Europe's customers, plus the business Europe has been doing in this country, for we will have to make equivalents or substitutes for the things we have been importing from Europe, plus the business of supplying Europe with things they cannot now produce for themselves."

Why shouldn't this be a prosperous year for Klamath County?

and why shouldn't we have done just what we did do---buy the largest general stock of dry goods ever brought to Klamath County? Well it's here, mistake or no mistake, and the prices are in most every instance NO HIGHER, quite often Less than heretofore.

MT. LAKE NOTES

(Herald Special Service)
MT. LAKE, Sept. 8.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Mt. Lake church held its regular monthly business meeting at the church Wednesday afternoon. A special meeting will be held September 16th at the church, in the afternoon, to the comforters.

The Christian Endeavor Society went for a picnic on Mount Stukel on Friday. They drove to the other side of the mountain, where they had lunch. They climbed to the top from that side. The smoky condition of the atmosphere prevented a first class view of the valley.

The young people of Mt. Lake were entertained last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Griffith. A very pleasant evening was spent in playing games. Just before leaving the guests were served with delicious refreshments.

Mrs. Addison entertained her Sabbath school class at her home Monday evening. After games and much pleasure Mr. Addison drove the children home.

The whistle of the threshing machine is heard over this section of the valley. All the ranchers are either threshing or preparing for it.

School started today. The two new school houses in this community were all ready. Mt. Lake and Spring Lake districts both built this summer.

GERMANS MOWED DOWN IN NORTH

ANTWERP, Sept. 8.—The German artillery opened against the Belgians in the vicinity of Sainte Armant, and a general assault was attempted. Masked Belgian machine guns broke this up, however, mowing down the advance, and routing it. A courier arriving says the Belgians at Liege have been forbidden by the Germans to leave their houses for three days. This is believed to indicate a movement eastward by the German troops.

OFFICERS FIND FURTHER EVIDENCE AGAINST SUSPECT

The sheriff's office is at work investigating the disappearance of Jack Medill, who left here in July with Frank Williams, and has since dropped from view. Already they have found some damaging evidence in this connection against the man who is held in the county jail for the murder of Allen C. McLeod near Midland last month.

The latest find in connection with this investigation was Medill's saddle, and the officers believe that this may eventually show that Medill was killed while riding a horse, or that Williams, if he killed Medill, loaded the bleeding body across the saddle to move it to a hiding place.

The saddle is stained with blood, and the officers believe that this may eventually show that Medill was killed while riding a horse, or that Williams, if he killed Medill, loaded the bleeding body across the saddle to move it to a hiding place.

More people are coming to the front who saw Williams after his return. All say that he acted suspicious while on the way here, and watched closely every vehicle approaching from either direction.

Williams and Medill left here in July, in the latter's wagon. Later Williams returned alone, with Medill's outfit complete, and afterwards he wore some of Medill's clothing. Williams said Medill went over to Alturas, but he has not been heard of since, despite diligent search by friends.

Allies Take Offensive as Foe Goes

PARIS, Sept. 8.—The allies took the offensive in the west this morning, and with reserves reinforcing the most damaged places, are attempting to turn the German flank. Baronon Kluk's German force is greatly outnumbered, and they are reported slowly retiring.

The allies' attack is most vicious, as they must succeed before General von Buelow and reinforcements arrive. In that case, the Germans would be the stronger, and would annihilate the allies.

Governor Gallieni personally announced to the correspondents at noon that the entire French army is on the offensive. The Germans retreating along the entire line, are said to have been repulsed with enormous losses.

Gallieni said the German attack weakened, and the combined French and English in the west crumpled the kaiser's right line, capturing and killing thousands.

The newspapers have been forbidden to issue extras, so are giving the tidings on bulletin boards. There is much jubilation.

There are unofficial reports that the Germans requested a twenty-four armistice to collect the wounded and bury the dead. General French, commanding the allies' left, is said to have refused this.

The following statement was telegraphed from Bordeaux at 3:30: "In a general battle all along the line the Germans are being forced back. The enemy has been compelled to retire, especially at Matry. The left wing of the allies, including the force defending Paris, is now engaged, with the fighting almost continuous from the River Ourcq to the Petit Morin River, about twenty-eight miles east of the capital. "The Germans are retreating toward the River Marne."

The war office at Bordeaux wired Gallieni reviewing the situation, announcing that the allies' offense against the Germans' right wing was uninterruptedly successful.

The dispatch said a decisive result was not expected for several days.

SPINK PLANS A BIGGER RESORT

"The season just ended is the most successful I have ever had, and the increased number of anglers at all points on Spring Creek shows that our wonderful rainbow trout stream is attaining fame all over the nation," says R. C. Spink, who is down from "Idlerest," his beautiful resort on Spring Creek.

According to Spink, there were nearly four hundred tourists registered at "Idlerest" during the season. This was in addition to the Klamath Falls people and their friends who sojourned there during the summer.

Convinced that the patronage of "Idlerest" will be even bigger next year, and imbued with the ambition to make his resort one of the most attractive in the country, Spink is planning on new buildings. There will be a massive log hotel building, constructed along the lines of the log buildings on the Southern plantations. Spink hopes to have this finished by next season.

ENGINEER CLAIMS CUT BY NICHOLAS

The long-expected clash regarding the salary of City Engineer McLean and his right to payment for extra work, carried on in connection with street improvements, broke at Monday night's meeting of council, when Mayor Nicholas announced that he would sign no more warrants for McLean except for the monthly salary of $83.33, provided by the charter.

This came after McLean presented three claims, amounting to about $100 for extra work done. McLean was supported by members of the council, who held that the salary of $1,000 a year was merely for establishing grades, etc., and that the city could not expect a competent engineer to give all his services to the city for that amount.

Holding that the charter provision made it impossible for any other view to be taken but that of the Mayor, Matthews, Hamilton and Owens voted to disallow the claims. Rogers voted "no" on the motion.

Although he has been proprietor of the Sugar Bowl less than a week, Fred Garich is already making plans for the enlargement of the popular establishment. He has just engaged an expert soda mixer, who will arrive in a short time to take charge of this department. Garich has just leased the larger room in the White building, adjoining the present location, and will move in there, adding plate glass mirrors, etc., to make the place even more inviting. Besides the candy and soda fountain, the establishment, when it opens in the new location, will be fully equipped for the serving of hot lunches of all sorts and will carry a complete line of sandwiches, pastry, etc.

SMALLPOX CASE IS DISCOVERED

TRANSIENT IS QUARANTINED AT DAVIS RANCH—WAS TRAVELING THROUGH THE COUNTRY WITH CAMP OUTFIT

County Physician George H. Merriam has quarantined Lyman Williams at the Davis ranch, three miles below Merrill, on account of the discovery of unmistakable symptoms of smallpox.

Williams does not know where he contracted the disease. He has been traveling from Portland toward California with a team and camp outfit, stopping where he pleased, and he spent some time at Crater Lake. A brother came here from California to join him on the remainder of the trip, and he, too, is under quarantine.
