PARIS, Sept. 10.—In order to avoid confusion on the part of the French soldiers in mistaking the uniforms of their allies and their enemies, the war office has distributed a large number of copies of pictures showing the various types. It is pointed out, for instance, that the English are the only troops in khaki.

The Belgian infantry are distinguished by their great coats and dark gray trousers.

The only difference between the Ukrainians and the Belgian Lancers is the former are in gray from head to foot, but the jacket and helmet of the Belgians are black.

The Austrian Hussars and Dragoons are in blue with red trousers, but their coats have no braiding in front and their helmets no plumes.

BELGIANS THOUGHT ENGLISH BLUFFING

LONDON, Sept. 10.—"The Belgians were at first extremely dubious of our intention to send troops to Belgium to support them," said an English officer just returned from the front. "Night after night they crowded about the British consulate at Ostend clamoring for news. When it was definitely known that the British expeditionary force had started, Belgian men and women asked that the Union Jack be brought out by the consul. When this was done they fled past, kissing the flag."

COPS LEAVE FOR THE WAR, CITIS ON DUTY

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Twenty thousand citizens of London have joined the volunteer police force as special constables, to take the place of regular policemen who have gone to the war.

TORRENTIAL RAINS IN WARLIKE CHINA

TOKYO, Sept. 10.—Heavy torrents of rain, making the greatest floods along the Shantung in thirty years, have forced a suspension of land operations against the Germans by the Japanese.

The Germans have built bomb proof shelters at all exposed positions, in order to prevent aviators from reaching them.

FRANCE SAYS NO DUM-DUMS USED

DENIES GERMAN ALLEGATION, AND BRANDS IT AS ATTEMPT TO DRAW ATTENTION FROM BELGIAN EPISODES

United Press Service
BORDEAUX, Sept. 10.—"France will formally protest against the German allegation that the allies are using dum-dum or soft-nose bullets," said Minister Del Casse today.

"Undoubtedly," continued the minister, "the entire charge is a well planned maneuver to turn public indignation of neutral countries, especially America, from the German atrocities in Belgium and France."

WOULD PAY FOR MAIL BY SPACE

JONATHAN BOURNE'S COMMITTEE SAYS THIS WOULD EQUALIZE THE COMPENSATION OF RAILROADS

(Herald Special Service)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—

In a final report submitted to congress, the Bourne committee on railway mail pay, has recommended enactment of a law substituting space for weight as the basis of railway mail compensation, and has recommended rates which will yield the railroad companies a revenue slightly less than the average revenue received from the transportation of passengers, the revenue in each instance being computed on a car mile basis.

It is estimated that this will result in increasing the compensation of the railroads about $3,000,000 per annum, or slightly less than 5 per cent. The railroads contended that they were underpaid $15,000,000 per year.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF KLAMATH BABIES WILL BE FLASHED ON SCREEN — CHILDREN FROM LAST CONTEST TO BE SHOWN

Seven years ago J. V. Houston introduced to Klamath Falls its first baby contest. Houston still maintains that a more beautiful assemblage of babies could not have been gathered in any community.

In rummaging through an old chest, J. V. came upon a set of photographs. Upon examination he discovered them to be beautiful photos of Klamath's finest babies.

Right then and there hatched a new idea, an idea that will undoubtedly prove of much interest to the little tots, as well as the grown-ups. It is the intention to show on the screen the photos of the babies as they appeared seven years ago, then have them introduced from the stage as they are today.

Imagine the expression on the faces of the now big boys and girls, as they gaze on their likenesses of the days gone by, some in tubs, some in swaddling clothes, and others without a stitch on 'em.

Another baby photo show is being arranged. The coming show will be staged at the Star theater. The contest will be limited to fifteen entries, and will commence as soon as those desirous of entering leave their names and photos at either the opera house or the Star theater box office.

All photos will be numbered, so the patrons will vote by number and not by name. The photo receiving the highest number of votes will be awarded a handsome prize, the contestant receiving the second highest number of votes will also receive a prize.

Announcement of prizes will be made before the beginning of the contest. The voting will continue for thirty days from opening date. All rules governing this contest will be announced as soon as the required fifteen entries have been made.

If you want glasses fitted and live out of the city, write Dr. Goble, and he will call on you without extra charge. Prices for work same as at his office in Medford.

BASEBALL CHATTER

By HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—"Kaiser Wilhelm, with the combined powers of Europe on his neck, has my utmost and sincere sympathy," declared John McGraw, manager of the three-time runners up in the world's series, during a fanfest before he returned to New York from the recent road trip West with his club.

"The reason he has," he continued, "is because he and I are in the same boat. All the powers of Europe seem to be allied against him, and I know that every ball club in the National League is against the Giants on general principles. They all want to see a winner beaten."

This little Napoleon has sized up the situation just about as neatly as said situation can be tabulated. He is fighting the whole league combined. Everyone is out to take a fall out of the Giants.

Just why this is true is best explained by the Giants' leader—"They all like to see a winner beaten."

For three years now the Giants have copped the honors in the parent major organization. There is no looney. The fans in the Missouri metropolis have dreamed of pennants doubt but what the league would be better off, financially, at least, if some other club would step to the front now and then.

But that fact isn't going to keep McGraw's clan away from another world's series if they can help it. They are out to repeat if such a thing is possible.

All around the loop the fans are pulling against the Giants. Even in cities that are hopelessly out of the race—Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, great crowds turn out when the Giants come to town, simply to root against the McGrawites. Everyone seems to want to see the Giants dragged down.

The Boston Braves were cheered to the echo when they spurred to the front division. There wasn't any particular reason for anyone to cheer Boston except for the reason that Boston might beat the Giants out. And anyone who would do that could have all the support any club could wish—at least in the rooting line.

As the teams are shaping up for the final dash for the old pennant pole, one of the prettiest races in the history of the National League looms up. With the four leading clubs—Giants, Braves, Cardinals and Cubs—bunched so closely that the leader might change every day, the fans around the loop are stirred up as they never were before.

Down in old St. Looney they're kinda for years and years, but not since the Browns' sensational spurt of 1908 have they had as good a chance to crawl into the pennant copping band wagon.

Huggins' men are getting all kinds of support. The Mound City fans flock to Robinson field in droves.

While all this furor is going on in the Tener circuit, a feeling of restful calm pervades the atmosphere dominated by one Byron Bancroft Johnson. Oh, to be sure, they are still playing ball in that circuit.

Yes, and once in a while the Athletics lose a game—once in a while, occasionally, as it were. But those scintillating athletes, performing under the name of Mackmen, have spurred out so far in front in the American League that nothing short of a team made up of Ty Cobbs, Joe Jacksons, Christy Matthews and other such ilk, could head them off.

German Consul's Sons Fight Wives' Brothers

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 10.—His home broken up, his family rent asunder and his heart sickened by the realization that his relatives are killing each other, Hans Grunow, German consul at St. Paul, is today a pitiful sight.

Grunow's wife is a French woman. She is in France, and from latest advices intends joining the French Red Cross. Her brothers are in the French army. Just where, the consul says he cannot tell. His sons are both officers in the German army.

That his sons are pitted against his wife's brothers, Grunow says he has no doubt. His family, moreover, is closely allied with political conditions that make it practically impossible for his wife to do other than stand, in sympathy, at least, against her own sons and husband.

In explaining the situation, Grunow says that his wife was visiting in France when the war was declared, and that their domestic relations are most pleasant. She writes, he says, whenever conditions will permit.

hereby award the American League pennant to Philadelphia.

War sure has its disadvantages. Here we were just becoming contented once more, the bulk of the White Hope army having left us for foreign shores, when along comes this war and they all hike back to the U. S. A. It almost tempts us to start a war in this country. Maybe it would chase 'em to Honolulu.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 10.—Because the Ohio state board of moving picture censors eliminated from the film "Ten Nights in a Barroom" drinking and murder scenes, it has called down upon itself the wrath of Ohio's anti-saloon league.

The anti-saloon league is now in the thick of a strenuous battle to make all Ohio dry. The voters are to ballot on the prohibition amendment at the general elections early in November and the league had planned to use the film as one of their main arguments in gaining votes. Now, according to dry workers, the censors have spoiled it all.

"All the punches have been taken out of the film," said Wayne B. Wheeler, state superintendent of the anti-saloon league. "A saloon scene which teaches that drunkenness brings crime, disorder and inefficiency has a good result. We feel that the film should be shown as the book was written." Meanwhile the censors strident pat on the ruling that saloon scenes are naughty, and can not creep into any films in the state.

ANTWERP, Sept. 9.—It is safe that many Germans were drowned Sunday, when the Belgians broke the dikes and flooded the country south of here. This was to prevent operations by the Germans. It is estimated that 5,000 Germans were drowned. In addition, many guns were disabled by the flood and abandoned.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—It is reported that a British gunboat captured a German mine layer with 200 mines aboard.

Tyler, Rudolph and James wouldn't work as hard as they are working if they knew just what was in store for them if they win the National League pennant. They have never faced J. Franklin Baker, Edward Collins and young Mr. McInnis. What a pleasant surprise awaits them!

In a little inn near Chichester, England there is a room papered with postage stamps. There are fully 2,000,000 stamps are pasted up.

Oregon Crop Estimate Shows Up Prosperous

According to the latest crop report compiled by the bureau of crop estimates, in co-operation with the weather bureau, Oregon's wheat crop, September 1, amounted to 16,874,000 bushels. This is a gain of not quite a million bushels over last year. The total estimate September 1, 1914, of the nation's wheat crop is 2,600,000,000 bushels.

Of the Oregon wheat crop estimate 13,684,000 bushels are winter wheat and 3,190,000 bushels spring wheat. In the estimate of the oat and barley crops there is a shrinkage this year. The oat crop is estimated at 12,100,000 bushels, as compared with 12,667,000 bushels last year, while the barley crop estimate is 3,990,000 bushels and was 4,200,000 in 1913.

In potatoes there was another shrinkage, the difference between 4,920,000 bushels this year and 6,750,000 last fall. This year's apple crop is estimated at 3,340,000 bushels, which is a little smaller than in 1913.

The hay crop is also smaller, according to the report. This gives the 1914 yield at 1,720,000 tons, which is 12,000 tons short of last year.
