VALUE OF SUGGESTION

Copyright, 1913, by Geo. E. Patterson
When business is good advertise some to get more, and when business is bad advertise more to get some.

Let us see why the suggestive element is so valuable in advertising. Through advertising ideas are suggested and these ideas suggest action.

Now in advertising there must be something in the ad to attract the attention of the readers of the paper—something in the ad that says "Look! Look!"

ATKINSON STOCK SOLD TO MAGUIRE: The bankrupt stock of the C. E. Atkinson department store was sold under the hammer this afternoon to J. F. Maguire.

Just what he will do with the stock Maguire has not announced. He is interested in a mercantile establishment at Mt. Hebron, but some believe he will now enter the local field.

NATIONAL HYMN 100 YEARS OLD

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12.—Secretary Bryan, speaking at the closing exercises this afternoon, said: "The era of war is ended in America. It is now ending abroad. The convulsions in Europe are the death throes of militarism."

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12.—Today is "Star Spangled Banner Day of the Baltimore centennial celebration of the writing of the famous song. The main events scheduled were addresses by President Woodrow Wilson and the singing of thousands of school children.

The bombardment of the forts will be reproduced tonight. A water carnival, illuminated floats, will be held, and the anthem will be played by the combined bands of all the vessels. Peace and Memorial Day will be observed tomorrow.

BRITAIN WANTS BOLD IN AEGEAN

ROME, Sept. 12.—Today's Tribune says: "England is prepared to break Turkey's naval power if the porte attempts to aid Germany or Austria, and Greece permits England to establish a naval base at the island of Lemnos in the Aegean Sea.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Anything anti-German or anything that ridicules or condemns Germany and the kaiser goes in Paris. An enterprising printer made a pretty penny from the sale of "Kaiser Wilhelm's Will," which read as follows:

"My fortune to all the widows, orphans and others of whose bereavement I have been the cause.

"To Belgium, as a souvenir of her heroic defense of Liege, the cross of honor in diamonds, my sword, and the right to jeer at me.

"To France I restore by force Alsace-Lorraine, her clocks, and her billions of francs.

"To England I give back her title, which I usurped—viz.: 'King of the Seas.'

"To Servia I give Austria.

"To Russia, all my cannon, as a surety of universal peace.

"To Austria I leave my last cartridge, in order that she may end the business in honorable fashion.

"To all the other countries that I have forced into mobilization and war I give the wealth that remains in my empire.

"To my family I give the nothing I have left.

"As executor of this will I choose William Delbler, to whom I regret I cannot give my head, which is claimed by all the world." (Delbler is the Paris executioner.)

PARIS, Sept. 12.—There were, of course, innumerable tragic scenes when the soldiers dropped everything and started for the colors. One particularly tragic is illustrative. As the father of four little girls reached his home he was presented with mobilization papers. He kissed the little girls goodbye, and started off, saying, "God bless my children." The eldest was 6 years old, and the youngest 6 months. His wife was in the hospital. He had no time to see her before he left her, perhaps forever.

SCOTS AND IRISH RIVALRY ON FIELD: PARIS, Sept. 12.—The majority of the wounded Germans captured are suffering from bayonet wounds, and they say the British resorted to bayonets almost exclusively.

Under the direction of Graham, work on the new court house is progressing rapidly.

Allies Steadily Driving Foes Back

GHEENT, (via Ostend), Sept. 11.—The Germans are withdrawing all the troops in Northern Belgium to reinforce the legions now fighting the allies in France. The troops recently operating here are now rushing south with all possible speed.

It is believed that the Germans soon intend to evacuate all of Northwestern France and Belgium.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The Germans today heavily reinforced their center. Indications are that the critical point in the allies line is near Vitry. The left wing of the allies continues to sweep the enemies north. If the French are able to crush the German center, the success of the British movement on the left is assured, and the Germans will be cleared out of all of Western France.

If the Germans break the French center the situation will be equally as grave for the allies. It is rumored that the British may yet be sent to the aid of the French holding the center, for much depends upon the line holding. The offensive operations of the British troops are most effective

General Gallieni reviews the battle to his superiors as follows: "The battle began September 6th, when the German right was compelled to retire to escape envelopment by the allies, so placed as to capture and destroy this section.

The rapid series of movements by the enemy enabled them to escape this, and they attacked the allies south of Marne. Here the French artillery mowed down the Germans, and the French infantry charges drove them back."

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The following is from the war office: "The German retreat continues. There are evidences of some disorder in the retreat.

"Considerable bodies of the enemy's troops are being found hiding in the woods, where they took refuge when it was impossible to keep up with the main line of retreat. These surrendered on sight.

"The plight of these men points to demoralization in the ranks. The pursuit is to be continued."

BENSON ANSWERS WEST'S PEEVISH LETTER IN FULL

The following statement has been issued by Judge Henry L. Benson in answer to the scurrilous, jealous attack made upon him by Governor West, in his blind rage at not getting his protegee, Judge McNary, on the ticket:

"The keynote of the governor's statement appears to show his firm conviction that a correct return of the votes cast at the primary election or even those, where errors have been reported, would have shown that Judge McNary instead of myself had been nominated.

"It is perfectly apparent to me and to any one that, either Governor West's conviction, as he calls it, has not a single suggestion of evidence to support it, or that he is in possession of information which could be obtained only at the expense of a criminal violation of the law.

"All ballots cast, except only those counted under the mutual agreement of Judge McNary and myself, are securely sealed. No order of any kind has been obtained to examine any of those ballots, and even the governor's impetuous spitefulness is not sufficient to suggest that he is a party to such a crime as could furnish any evidence of what those ballots show.

"The governor is therefore to be freely and fully acquitted of any knowledge upon which to base this firm conviction, which seems to furnish all the basis for all the false and groundless statements contained in his letter.

"Starting with a conviction which has nothing to support it, it is easy and natural to allow the governor to proceed to other statements equally without any foundation in fact. Judge McNary and I agreed to the counting of ballots in certain precincts selected by him and certain others selected by me. The last agreement between us provided in direct terms that the selections then made should be final, that neither of us would ask that any more ballots should be counted.

"I was not under any obligation to select any precinct, and might have rested the case upon those selected by Judge McNary. He was under no obligation to me to count the ballots in any of the precincts selected by him, and I was under no obligation to him to count the ballots in any of the precincts selected by me.

"In addition to that it was expressly stipulated in the agreement that either of us might decline to count the ballots in any or all of the precincts selected by him, provided that declination was expressed before the count was begun. Two of the precincts selected by me were counted, all those selected by Judge McNary.

"I declined to count any more of those selected by me, and the result thus obtained has given me a majority, and has compelled the governor to do his inclination such extreme vio-

MURDEROUS MOVE OF RUSSIANS CUT DOWN AUSTRIANS

CZAR'S TROOPS ADVANCE TO WARD GERMAN LINE

Next Move Will Be on Breslau and Posen—Nine Hundred Men Butchered by Furious Charges of the Cossacks—Russian Capital Says no Serious Operations in Prussia Until Austrians Are Crushed.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 12.—The war office announces that the Russians are still successful in their Galician and Russian Poland campaigns against the Austrian forces. The left wing of Dankl's command has been cut off from the main body, and is near annihilation.

The capture of Tomaszow is confirmed. It is unofficially stated that there will be no serious operations in East Prussia until the Austrians are crushed.

It is stated that three Cossack regiments attacked 900 Austrians near Gorodek, and that only thirty Austrians survived.

The Russian general advance continues, and it is stated that the Muscovites are now ready to approach Breslau and Posen. General von Auffenburg has also failed to reorganize his forces according to advices from General Rousky, and the Austrians are retreating.

The total Austrian losses for the last two days are figured at 125,000, including 85,000 captured and sent to the concentration camps. BERLIN, Sept. 12.—It is announced that the Germans are repulsing the Russians in East Prussia, and that the Russians are retiring toward the frontier.
