Pacific Coast Past the Crisis and Has Great Things in Future

United Press Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1 .- That Pacific coast business has just passed safely through a somewhat trying crisis and has settled to a sane, sound and gratifying healthy plane, with splendid promises of steady improvement, is the opinion here of I. O. Rhoades, general purchasing agent for the Southern Pacific railway.

Rhoades has just returned from an extended trip of the coast. He purchased from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 of supplies each year for his company from various points and from nearly a thousand firms.

"The era of extravagance and waste is now a thing of the past," said Rhoades here. "A reaction has set in, and people are now getting down to sound and economical living. I believe the hard times were due largely to the unduly large profits which had been made during the preceding period. Profits are not so large, now, but goods are selling more rapidly.

"The country trade is growing stronger. It is stronger than the trade in the city. People are not buying so many luxuries now, but they are buying the things they need.

"Where before a woman would pay $75 for a hat, she now pays $15, and seems perfectly satisfied. In the hotels the high priced rooms are not being taken, but the hotel register shows that the number of patrons is just as large, if not larger than before. Tailors are selling less expensive clothes, shoe men are selling cheaper priced shoes, and dry goods stores are selling lower priced goods. The complaints of hard times are now coming chiefly from those business concerns that are dealing in luxuries.

"The man who is really producing something finds a ready market for his goods.
