EVANS' EXPOSE PUTS WORDEN IN A NEW LIGHT BEFORE THE PEOPLE REGARDING HIS PURPOSES

Sam Evans has let the cat out of the bag, and the real facts have at last dawned on the people of Klamath county. Judge Worden has done everything in his power to cripple the timber interests in Klamath county, and has held them up to the people as the great enemy of the county, who are fighting the interests of the people. Many in the past have believed this "bogey" story of Worden's, but they now realize that all this time they have been nothing but dupes of this tool of the Fleischacker, Wendling and Johnson interests.

The eyes of the people of Klamath county are now open, and they are able to see behind the curtain. They have begun to realize why the Klamath Development company is willing to permit its high-priced manager to serve the "interests of the people" as county judge at a salary of $1,000 a year.

The people know what the Southern Pacific, the Fleischackers and the Wendlings have done to California, and they can see what is in store for Klamath county and Oregon if these "interests" are not stamped out of local politics before they get too strong a foothold. It took the people of California twenty years of fighting to free themselves from the yoke to the Southern Pacific and its political ring.

Mr. Wendling owns the town of Weed. He is the head of the Weed Lumber company, the Klamath Development company, and is one of the biggest "timber barons" on the Coast. Mr. Johnson once owned the town of McCloud. He is also one of the big men in several colossal corporations. Nearly everyone knows what the Fleischacker interests mean in both California and Oregon. These are the men who would like to "own" Klamath Falls and Klamath county. Judge Worden is their local "tool," who has been put into office to do their bidding.

He has already earned his salary on several occasions. An investigation of the expenditure of nearly half a million dollars for good roads will show what percentage of this was spent for the "farmers" benefit. A good many thousands of dollars was spent on a mountain road to Pelican Bay Lodge, the palatial playground of these California millionaires. How much did the farmer benefit from this use of their money?

The sum of $49,396.26 has already been spent on the Rattlesnake Point road. How many more thousands of dollars will have to be spent before this undertaking is completed can only be guessed at. You will notice that when this road is finished all travel will have to pass through the holdings of the Klamath Development company. Instead of taking the natural route from this city through Shippington and Pelican City, this road, for the accommodation of the people of Klamath county, sidetracks the big manufacturing section of the Upper Lake and Pelican City something like a mile.

In addition to these thousands of dollars of the taxpayer's money, which have been spent on these roads, for the particular benefit of this California corporation, Judge Worden has given his millionaire bosses a court house which will cost the people nearly a half million dollars, and also a $25,000 Carnegie library which the taxpayers will have to support for eternity. The question arises, what are these interests going to ask for next, and why are they so anxious to have Worden remain in control of county affairs.

It is only natural that these big interests should desire to cripple and discourage the timber and lumber business of Klamath county. They have worlds of lumber for sale, and they do not want any competition. These saw mills at Pelican City, Shippington and throughout the county, while they provide a good market for the products of the farmers of the county, interfere with the plans of these California capitalists in their monopoly of the lumber business.

We have heard that certain California interests were responsible for the closing of Williamson River to logging and the taking of the reservation timber from the market. This one act has done more to retard the growth and prosperity of the county than any other thing that has happened in years. Is it possible that the Wendling timber interests had anything to do with the closing of this river?

Remains of a German Taube Which Was Burned as It Fell, After Shots

This is a photograph of a German Taube airship, which was dropped by French sharpshooters. They hit the gasoline tank, causing an explosion which set fire to the canvas. The airship burned high in the air and settled to earth. It struck lengthwise, so that the steel frame work remaining was not smashed. The aviators in this machine were burned to death long before the airship struck the ground.

The latter are trying to persuade Serbia to return Servian Macedonia to Bulgaria if Bulgaria will aid the allies, and promise to permit Serbia to annex Bosnia if the allies win.

It is plainly evident that this fight on the other timber owners and lumber interests of Klamath county was planned in advance and with deliberation. Forseeing the enormous increase in taxation that was inevitable, the Johnson-Wendling interests, under the corporate name of the Deschutes Lumber company, have traded every acre of their timber land in Klamath county, with the Fremont Land company, for Crook county property. As Paul Johnson says concerning high taxes: "We should worry."

This is on a par with the remark of Judge Worden on county warrants: "We should worry—unless some of us have some of the warrants."

CAN IT BE THAT HE WAS SCARED?

WORDEN TELEGRAPHED OLCOTT REGARDING TAKING HANKS AND SELF FROM BALLOT—WAS TOLD IT'S UP TO CLERK

That Judge Worden entertains very serious doubts of his ability to get the support of the people at the coming election is shown clearly by his desperate effort to have the names of himself and Hanks removed from the ballot. He even wired about this to the secretary of state, and Olcott promptly told him—well, here's the dispatch:

SALEM, Oct. 29.—Secretary of State Olcott today informed William S. Worden, county judge of Klamath county, that the names of Chief Justice McBride should not be stricken from the ballots. Mr. Worden telegraphed the secretary of state that he had been advised to change the ballots to eliminate the names of the two supreme court justices and candidates for county judge. Mr. Olcott advised him that it was for the county clerks to determine whether the names of candidates for county judgeships should appear on the ballots, but the ballots, so far as candidates for state and district offices are concerned, should not be changed.

REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE SAYS THAT BILL HANLEY'S CAMPAIGN IS WATERLOO OF CHAMBERLAIN

By CHARLES B. MOORES
(Chairman Republican State Central Committee)

PORTLAND, Nov. 2.—Advices from every section of the state indicates a sweeping victory for the entire state republican ticket. Chamberlain's Waterloo is coming tomorrow, owing to the big cut Hanley will make into the Chamberlain vote. We expect Booth to carry Multnomah, and it is predicted that Hanley will not carry a single county.

Withycombe is expected to pile up the greatest plurality ever given a gubernatorial candidate in the history of Oregon.

The value of the mineral products of Pennsylvania, exclusive of pig iron, increased from $445,799,653 in 1912 to $506,468,759 in 1913.

WORK TO SIGN UP THE FARMER

PROJECT MANAGER AND WATER USERS ASSOCIATION OFFICIALS ARE EXPLAINING THE NEW CONTRACTS

In an effort to get as many water users to sign the new contracts under the extension act, Project Manager J. C. Camp, President Abel Ady and Secretary Albert E. Elder of the Klamath Water Users Association are making trips over the project, calling upon the individual water users, and explaining the terms of the new contract. They also have a notary with them, to facilitate the work of getting the contracts signed, without the cost of a notary or the expense of a trip to Klamath Falls.

This work is being carried on in a spirit of co-operation, in order that the farmers will sign up the new contracts before November 15th, and thus be assured of securing the benefits provided under the new extension act.

What's Before the Nation Tomorrow

Congressional and Senatorial Contests Hottest

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—For the first time in the history of the United States the voters tomorrow will directly select one-third of the membership of the United States senate.

In consequence added interest is felt in the outcome. In addition to the senators an entire new house of representatives is to be elected. While the European war has interfered to a great extent with the general interest the last week of the campaign witnessed an old fashioned revival of spirit. Present indications are that nearly a normal vote will be cast.

In addition to the national feature of the campaign there are many bitter state contests. In six states, Ohio, Colorado, California, Missouri, Washington and Oregon the voters will pass upon the question of prohibition of the liquor traffic.

Women's suffrage is a distinct factor in seven states. In Ohio, Nebraska, Montana and Nevada the women feel certain that they will win. In North and South Dakota and in Missouri the other states where constitutional amendments will be voted on, they frankly admit that they will probably be defeated.

The states which will elect United States senators are Kentucky, where a selection is to be made to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Bradley; Alabama, where the seat of the late Senator Joseph F. Johnston will be filled, and Georgia, where the successor of the late Senator A. O. Bacon will be chosen, and the following, where senators for the full term of six years will be named: Oregon, Arkansas, Alabama, Florida, Oklahoma, Nevada, North Carolina, Indiana, South Carolina, Georgia, Maryland, Arizona, Missouri, Colorado, Louisiana, the incumbents now being democrats; Idaho, Connecticut, Kansas, Ohio, South Dakota, Iowa, Vermont, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Washington, Pennsylvania, California,

New York, Illinois, Utah and Wisconsin, where republicans now hold the toga.

The general campaigns which ended Saturday night have been marked by far less bitterness than in recent years. The issue, so far as national affairs are concerned, has been clear cut. President Wilson, in writing a blanket letter of endorsement for the democratic representatives, characterized their work as "progressive," and he assumed the responsibility for all the legislation enacted by them. The republicans generally accepted this issue, and the tariff was again one of the chief factors on the stump.

Both sides are confident. Democratic congressional headquarters admits that it expects to lose a few members of the house. The party leaders will not be sorry as the unworldly majority has been a source of real trouble to them. But they deny the republican claim that their control of either the senate or the house is in jeopardy. Incidentally Oscar W. Underwood, the democratic house leader, will be elevated to the senator-
