Eva Millikan

Oct. 15, 1930 — March 21, 2015

Eva Millikan

Eva Millikan of King City, formerly a longtime resident of Seaside, died March 21, 2015, after a battle with cancer. Eva was born in San Jose, Calif., to Elwood and Helen Duff Baugh, a banker and a Christian evangelist. Eva was just 10 years old and her brother Gordon, 8, when her father died in an accident. The siblings attended Prairie Bible Institute (PBI) in Calgary, Alberta, for high school. There, in the frigid winters of Alberta, Eva's warm disposition earned her the nickname Sunny.

Upon graduation from PBI, Eva attended Pacific College (now George Fox University) and traveled the U.S. for her mother's growing organization, Stonecroft Ministries. In her travels, she was befriended by aviation magnate Glen L. Martin of Baltimore, Md., who introduced her to East Coast society. Eva was never tempted by wealth, once saying to Mr. Martin, "I am going to be one of the few people you know who doesn't care about your money."

On a summer evening at Cannon Beach Conference Center, Sunny Baugh met a handsome young man on a Harley, Ben Millikan, who had attended the evening service. The shy Ben and effervescent Eva hit it off right away and soon they married and settled in Seaside. While Ben ran their business, M and M Auto Company, Eva dedicated herself to raising their two children. Later, she began working to put the kids through college, and enjoyed it so much she never looked back. Eva loved her staff at the Pig 'N Pancake, and many of them remember the support and encouragement she offered. Regular customers recall her elegance, her warm greetings and her sense of humor.

Upon retirement, Eva and Ben spent time traveling and dancing with the Traditional Jazz Society, where they had many friends. While driving through the desert Southwest, Eva and Ben happened upon a little palm-ringed oasis called Lake Tamerisk near Palm Springs, Calif., which became their winter home for 22 years. Eva was finally able to defrost after her high school years in Canada.

Eva lived a life of grace, love and joyfulness. In addition to her husband of 60 years, Eva will be missed by her two children and their spouses, Sue and husband Mike Adams of Frederick, Md., Ron and wife Renee of Portland, five grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. Her brother Gordon Baugh and wife, Katherine, reside in Newberg, Ore.

A private service has been held.

Sylvia Beatrice Kallina Goodman

June 4, 1921 — March 1, 2015

Sylvia Goodman

Sylvia was born June 4, 1921, in Garwood, Texas. The middle child of John Kallina and Anna Dornak Kallina, she had two brothers, Johnny and Buren.

Sylvia left home to attend Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos the summer she turned 16. Graduating with honors, she began teaching home economics in the Texas public school system by the age of 20. She met her husband, Henry Harris Goodman Jr., while boarding at his family home during college.

With World War II looming, Sylvia took the train to Baltimore and married Harris on Dec., 20, 1944, prior to Harris attending mid-shipman's school and receiving his commission as Naval lieutenant. Nine months later their first daughter, Sylvia June, was born, followed closely by Sharon Kay and Virginia Adele.

After the war, the family moved to Austin, Texas, and Sylvia raised the three girls while Harris completed his Ph.D. in chemistry. They subsequently moved to Wilmington, Del., where Harris was a research chemist for DuPont, and their fourth daughter, Susan Jean, was born.

In the 1960s the family moved to Bloomfield Hills, Mich., their home for 25 years. Sylvia became active in the local schools, community, and St. Owens Catholic Church. Here, her faith grew and she came to know and love Jesus personally, developing lifelong friendships in her prayer group.

Drawn by the beautiful scenery, Sylvia and Harris retired and moved to Cannon Beach. They loved the beautiful coastal scenery of Cannon Beach and developing many close friendships at both the Community Presbyterian Church and St. Peter the Fisherman Catholic Church. Sylvia was also actively involved in the Cannon Beach Garden Club, Library Club, Presbyterian Women's group and the Seaside Hospital Auxiliary.

Sylvia loved her four daughters and their husbands, June and Bart Blout, Sharon and Paul Kinnison, Ginny and Jim Chenet, and Susan and Mark Johnson. She treasured her seven grandsons, Kyle and Matt Chenet, Kevin Kinnison and Colin Kinnison, Garrett Johnson and Michael Johnson and Jonathon Blout, and her one granddaughter, Kim Chenet.

A devoted wife, mother, and grandmother, Sylvia often wrote letters to her family. She had an innate sense of style, loved flowers, gardening, and sewing, and enjoyed traveling with Harris. Sylvia was independent and strong, choosing to live by herself for seven years in her Cannon Beach home.

Sylvia appreciated the many family and friends who helped her maintain her independence in Cannon Beach. She was especially grateful to the memory care staff at Hearthstone Murray Hill in Beaverton, for their care and affection. As Sylvia's health declined, she consistently expressed love to her family and those caring for her.

"Mom, you are lovely, smart, strong, determined, resourceful and brave. You have a compassionate heart, always caring for your family and community. Thank you for sharing your love of flowers, nature, beauty and your faith with all of us. We miss you and love you! We are forever blessed." ~ Your Loving Family.

A memorial service was held Thursday, April 2, at Cannon Beach Community Church.

Remembrances may be made to Cannon Beach Community Church at 132 E. Washington St., P.O. Box 37, Cannon Beach, OR 97110.

Local woman gets Scouting's top volunteer mentor award

Youth mentor Laurie Kautz, of the Fort Clatsop District, Cascade Pacific Council of the Boy Scouts of America, was presented the prestigious Silver Beaver award for her volunteer efforts in February at a special recognition ceremony in her honor.

The award is the top award that a local Boy Scout council can bestow upon a volunteer mentor. Recipients are selected by confidential nominations of adult peers, and only one award may be presented for every 60 troops, making it a prominent honor.

Kautz became a Scout in Portland in the 1980s as a Sea Scout. She has served as a pack committee and den leader for Pack 540. She has served the Ft. Clatsop District as the Popcorn Kernel, day camp director, Cub Scout leader trainer and is currently the district program chair.

Kautz's prime focus has been on children with disabilities. She has two autistic children and has used her passion and knowledge of autism to support the Gearhart and Seaside school districts. She is an active member of the PTA promoting autistic children programs. She has helped Scouting and community leaders by bringing experts to present courses on the support autistic children.

As a Coast Guard member during the Portland flood of 1997, she worked search and rescue, did property watch and assisted with debris removal. As a member of the Coast Guard Reserve she earned the rank of Bos'n Mate Second Class. Kautz has worked with the local Sea Scouts and other venturing units to do joint activities, and has involved a venturing crew to help with Cub Scout recruiting.

Youth mentor Laurie Kautz is the recipient of Scouting's highest award.
