

Roberts selected new Seaside High principal

By R.J. Marx

The Seaside School District named Jeff Roberts principal for the 2015-16 school year. Currently the high school's assistant principal, Roberts will replace Sheila Roley, who announced her plan to retire in January. Her retirement is effective June 30.

Superintendent Doug Dougherty said both the school board and the administration were involved in the selection process.

"Jeff is very involved with our community," Dougherty said. "Both he and his wife Nissa. I would say what has impressed us all is Jeff's desire to really support students. For an assistant principal in charge of discipline, he is one of the most supportive people. The students love him."

Dougherty said Robert is involved in a providing activities and programs for students with a wide range of interests.

"He has been working so closely with Sheila, and Sheila has supported him 100 percent, involving him in day to day decisions for quite some time," Dougherty said.

A graduate of Linfield College, Roberts received his master's degree in teaching at Pacific University. He began his teaching career at Centennial High School in Portland and later Sherwood High School.

Roberts has spent the past four and a half years as the assistant principal at Seaside High School. As an administrator, he said, he has "been provided an opportunity to positively impact every student that walks through the door of the high school," not only those he is contact with on a daily basis in the classroom.

"Having that connection to each student has been the best part about moving from the classroom," Roberts said. "Additionally, the opportunity to participate in the hiring process has been great and incredibly insightful. We have hired some amazing new talent at the high school in recent years, and I have really enjoyed having the opportunity to learn from them."

As he transitions to principal, he said he believes his role will shift from being responsible for the day-to-day operation of the institution, to setting the vision and putting things in place "to move toward that vision," he said.

"I'm looking forward to working collaboratively with my staff to set a vision and working diligently towards the goal of providing each student that comes through our doors a relevant and meaningful education," Roberts said.

He said Roley has been a good mentor since she hired him in 2011, and she has included him in many aspects of school leadership to prepare him to take over as principal. She has taught him, he said, "how to remain calm in the face of the storm" and "when to charge into a situation that needs to be dealt with and when to be patient and observe."

"Her compassion for all students is unrivaled and her decisions have always been soundly cemented in 'what's best for kids,'" Roberts said, adding he warned Roley her number will be the first one listed on the speed dial when he starts his new job.

Roberts, his wife Nissa and daughter McKenna reside in Gearhart.

Salary will be determined at a later date.
