

"Beach Walk" by Susan Thomas at A Great Gallery.

ArtWalk features exhibits inspired by the natural world

Seaside Signal

Gearhart's First Saturday Art Walk takes place from 2-5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 3. Wander through town and enjoy refreshments and art from participating merchants.

A Great Gallery, 576 Pacific Way, 503-709-2840, agreatgallery.com.

It's time to celebrate the beach. Pastel artist and gallery owner Susan Thomas has captured that essence in her new piece. Refreshments and chocolate will be served.

Pacific Crest Cottage - 726 Pacific Way - 503-738-6560.

Pacific Crest Cottage hosts Denise Monaghan, a local artist and graduate of Minneapolis College of Art and Design. Monaghan is inspired by the natural world and captures the spirit of animal imagery. "Eyes have the same function in all organisms, but the eyes of animals tell silent stories." Meet Monaghan during Art Walk.

The Natural Nook, 738 Pacific Way, 503-738-5332, naturalnook65@gmail.com.

The gallery represents more than 20 talented local consignment artists year-round. Stop in to see their latest endeavors.

Trails End Art Association, 656 "A" Street, 503-717-9458, trailsendart.org.

Trail's End Art Association invites the public to its 69th Annual Judged Show. This is an opportunity to view the best work of many regional artists.

The distinguishing judges this year are professional artist and Astoria's Imogen Gallery owner, Teri Sund; professional artist and Neskowin's Hawk Creek Gallery owner, Michael Schlichting and Astoria professional fine arts photographer, Dr. Dwight Caswell. The show also celebrates the artists work as it creates an opportunity for the community to purchase original art at a reasonable price.

The show runs Aug. 3-24 with a gala and opening reception from 2-5 p.m. during Art Walk. Cash and gift awards will be presented to artists at 3 p.m. Saturday. The show can also be seen 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday.

Movie: Filmmaker finds inspiration in Seaside

The film shoot lasted 18 days, including three days in and around Portland, on the coast — including Manzanita, Arch Cape and Hug Point — and Seaside.

"It was so great to shoot in this area, not only for the incredible natural beauty, but also for the welcoming reception we got from everyone," he said. "Everyone was so supportive. Half the people we talked to were artists themselves. It was so fun."

The story follows Daphne (DeBose), who moves in with her boyfriend, Roger (Shingledecker), when he inherits his childhood beach house.

The two decide to start a family and a new life, but when they run into a local woman who works at the arcade, Daphne realizes Roger hasn't been completely honest about his romantic past.

Now Daphne must risk everything to fight for her relationship, and her life.

Zalutsky said he had "so much fun" making "Seaside."

"I hadn't made a movie in Oregon before, so it was just incredible to be able to do that in my home state with friends and family around," he said. "My dad came to the set one day to watch, which he hadn't done before, so that meant a lot to me."

Zalutsky credited his "fantastic crew" of producer Alyssa Roehrenbeck; cameraman Phil Anderson; sound designer Quentin Chiappetta; and editors Maeve O'Boyle and Jordan Montminy. Jordan Beswick and Simon Max Hill cast the film; the music is by Megan Diana McGeorge.

"We had great support from Tim Williams at the Oregon Film Commission,"

Actress Ariana DeBose in Seaside.

Alyssa Roehrenbeck

Nutty Trimarco (production assistant), Sam Zalutsky (director), Bob Olin (actor, Officer Gray), Brandon Bondehagen (first assistant camera).

Zalutsky added.

Family members donated houses in Arch Cape, including his own family's home. "You couldn't ask for a more gorgeous place to film."

He said it was a thrill to shoot in one of his favorite childhood locations, Funland! in downtown Seaside.

"They were so welcoming and nice," Zalutsky recalled. "We shot on the beach. We shot in the Seaside police station. It was amazing! We would never have the money to shoot in these places in New York. It just wouldn't have been possible."

Zalutsky relayed that for a couple of scenes, including the most dramatic ones, they shot in a large cave at Hug Point.

"I wrote the script with that cave in mind, but then didn't even think that a cave on the coast might have complications from the tides," he said. "So we had to schedule those scenes really carefully, haul a bunch of lights and other equipment from the parking lot to the cave, and make sure we did it all within the few hours we had before high tide."

While the scenes "look amazing," he doubts he will ever shoot in a "tide-dependent" cave again.

"Seaside" was a "micro budget film," he said.

"We raised a portion of the budget from a small group of investors, my husband and I put in some money, we got a lot of in kind donations from vendors in Portland and the Coast, a lot of donated locations, and we also did a Kickstarter campaign to finish the movie."

Zalutsky is proud of his cast and crew's accomplishments outside of his film. Ariana DeBose is currently shooting the role of Anita in Steven Spielberg's "West Side Story," and was an original cast member on Broadway in "Hamilton." Steffanie Leigh is from Talent, Oregon, and played the most recent Mary Poppins on Broadway.

The score was created by Megan Diana McGeorge, a Portland musician who created the "Piano, Push, Play" series in PDX.

"Seaside" is getting a digital release from Gravitas Ventures; you can check it out at iTunes, <https://apple.co/31agh9H>.
