Three Seaside running backs make all-league

The Banks Braves are set to defend their 4A football state championship this weekend, when they face La Grande at Hermiston High School (Saturday, 6 p.m.).

Banks won its second straight Cowapa League title with a 5-0 league record, and recently swept the league's Player of the Year awards.

Banks senior Jarred Evans was named Offensive Player of the Year, and senior teammate Bryson Cook was selected as the Defensive Player of the Year.

Banks coach Cole Linehan shared the league's Coach of the Year award with Seaside's Aaron Tanabe, who led the Gulls to a 4-1 league record, 4-5 overall.

Seaside lost in the opening round of the state playoffs, even with three all-league running backs on the roster.

Juniors Aedyn Cook and Andrew Teubner earned first team all-league honors, all-league team.

Seniors Luke Nelson and David Toyooka were selected as first team defensive linemen, and Gulls' senior Brayden Johnson was selected as an honorable mention defensive back.

The Sunset Empire Park and Recreation board of directors voted to prohibit the use of metal cleats on Broadway Field.

No metal cleats at Broadway Field

Effective Jan. 1, the Sunset Empire Park and Recreation District will prohibit the use of metal cleats on Broadway Field.

Metal cleats harm the field and causes additional maintenance and resources by the district, the district's board of directors determined on Tuesday, Nov. 19, in unanimously voting for Resolution No. 2019-09.

Skyler Archibald, the district's executive director, said that district users, including Seaside Kids and the Seaside School District, are aware of the upcoming change.

"If there's a situation, we'll have to stop the tournament and ask those players to use different shoes for the tournament," Archibald said. "If we catch someone using metal cleats, we'll remove them for the rest of the day, a second time, we'll trespass them from the field."

Board member John Chapman said he was concerned about clarifying potential penalties and action for those who violate the policy.

"We need something that states a guideline for failure to obey the rule," he said. "If you go to a hotel room and you ruin the bed, you're going to pay for the bed. If you wear metal cleats on the field and you rip up the turf you make cuts in it, you've got to pay the cost of repair it, whether it's $3,000 or $4,000, you've got to pay for it. If there's no recourse, who's paying that bill?"

"If we've had teams, programs and tournaments not adhere, we have billed those teams directly for the staff time it took to repair the field," Archibald said.

After the vote for the new policy, board members agreed to determine a penalty structure in subsequent weeks.

"I wish that we had done this sooner, to be honest," Archibald said. "But it's better late than never."
