Patch of water
 A Portland man said he "hit a patch of water" and lost control of the wheel Dec. 10 at 8:42 p.m. while traveling west on U.S. Highway 26 near milepost 10. Their car crossed the eastbound lane of traffic and struck a speed limit sign, coming to rest in the eastbound traffic lane. Hamlet firefighters and a State trooper responded to the scene. Gary's Towing removed the car. The driver was issued a citation. It's unknown how he and his passenger, a woman from Colorado, left the scene. No injuries were reported.

Hit-and-run
 A two-car hit-and-run accident happened Dec. 11 at 11:01 a.m. on U.S. Highway 26 at milepost 13. One car, which has not been identified, was headed westbound when it crossed the double yellow line into eastbound traffic, sideswiping another car. The 65-year-old driver of that vehicle said his Ford truck sustained minor damage.

Altered license plate
 While patrolling U.S. Highway 101 near Avenue N Dec. 11 at 6:37 p.m. in Seaside, a trooper saw a car with an illegally altered license plate. A traffic stop was conducted. The driver said his license was suspended. His car was left with a friend who drove it to his place of employment. The driver was given a criminal citation and left with jail personnel.

Charged by elk
 A Cannon Beach woman reported Dec. 11 at 8:31 she was charged by three elk while walking her dog in the Les Shirley Park. She said they were in the grassy area and she didn't realize they were there because it was dark. She said when she and the dog got too close, the elk became aggressive and she became separated from her dog. The elk "rolled" the dog multiple times and brushed against her as they ran past. She said she wasn't injured and didn't know if the dog was injured. A report of the incident was made and copied to Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife in Tillamook and Oregon State Police.

Elk is struck
 A Subaru negotiating a curve on U.S. Highway 101 near milepost 34 in Cannon Beach struck an elk Dec. 12 at 7:29 a.m. The car was significantly damaged but the driver wasn't hurt. The Subaru was able to be driven from the scene. No word about the elk.

Careless driving
 A 38-year-old Seaside man was cited for careless driving, driving uninsured, and driving with a suspended license Dec. 17 at 6:36 p.m. on U.S. Highway 101, milepost 17. Police say the driver of the first car was traveling southbound and got into the left lane to pass when it immediately struck another car stopped waiting to turn east on to Sandy Ridge Road. Both vehicles were totaled. The driver of the second car was taken by Medix to Seaside Providence Hospital and was later released. Triangle Towing removed both cars from the scene.

Driver in ditch
 While patrolling the U.S. Highway 101 in Seaside Dec. 20 at 6:11 p.m., a trooper came upon a crashed vehicle near Avenue N. The driver of a Toyota Camry mistook the turn for Avenue N and landed in a ditch on the northbound shoulder. Tow was called by Seaside police to get the Camry out of the ditch. It was drivable and didn't appear damaged. The driver, a 20-year-old female from Warrenton, was given case information. Neither she or her 23-year-old male passenger were injured.

Del Rey Beach rollover
 Troopers went to Del Rey Beach Dec. 21 at 4:01 p.m. for a reported rollover. The driver of a black Jeep Cherokee was doing donuts on the beach when he lost control and the Jeep rolled over. After being attended to by medical personnel, a 16-year-old male juvenile from Seaside was given citations and crash information before he was taken to the hospital. Sons of Beaches towed the Jeep from the beach where it was left with the driver's father who arranged for tow to meet him at the Del Rey Beach access.

Investigation widens in search for missing vet

Evan Goin.

A ground search for a missing veteran, Evan Goin, has ended, but the investigation remains ongoing, Clatsop County Sheriff Matt Phillips said.

"As far as ground search, we don't have any clues," Phillips said last week. "We didn't find anything while we were pounding the ground."

"Oftentimes with missing persons, you'll find a backpack, a jacket or hat or something that they left somewhere that tells you, 'Well, they left the house and they went in this direction. We'll keep looking that way.' We got nothing." Goin was reported missing from his home off U.S. Highway 26 near milepost

6 after a welfare check earlier this month.

Goin is a supply specialist and liaison officer with the Oregon National Guard at Camp Rilea.

Several searches of the area were unsuccessful.

Goin, 44, is described as 5 feet 7 inches tall and about 170 pounds. He was last seen at home on Dec. 13, according to family.

Phillips said his office looked at high probability leads first, and is following up on interviews with friends and acquaintances. "We're following up on those leads," Phillips said. "We're trying to get bank records. It's a full investigation."

Brown extends pandemic emergency

By PETER WONG
 Oregon Capital Bureau

Gov. Kate Brown has extended a declaration of emergency as the omicron variant emerges in the coronavirus pandemic.

The latest order will remain in effect through June 30 — more than two years after the first one, at the onset of the pandemic in March 2020 — unless rescinded or extended.

Brown said in a statement released last week that the extension was necessary to allow for flexibility in the response to a surge of cases and hospitalizations. But she said the potential surge need not be as severe if people get vaccinated, get a booster shot and wear masks.

"As Oregon prepares for what could be our worst surge in hospitalizations during this pandemic, I know that this is not the beginning of the new year any of us had hoped for," the governor said.

"Time and again over the last two years, Oregonians have proven that we will stand with each other in our most difficult times. Your actions have saved lives, and it is because we have worked together to keep each other safe that Oregon still has some of the lowest infection and mortality rates in the nation."

The declaration will enable the state to use SERV-OR volunteer medical providers in hospitals, provide flexibility in state licensing of health professionals, and ensure access to federal disaster relief funds, such as enhanced food benefits under the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program.

Brown had rescinded most of her other COVID-related emergency declarations at the end of June.
