

Salt Makers return in September

On Sept. 10 and Sept. 11, the Seaside Museum, assisted by a grant from the City of Seaside Tourism Advisory Committee, will sponsor the Lewis and Clark Salt Makers. Members of the Pacific Northwest Living Historians will create and share the experience of the exploration group, bringing to life the salt camp the explorers established more than 200 years ago.

The program will be held Sept. 10, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sept. 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The event site will be on the Seaside beach west of the Avenue U and Prom intersection.

Visitors to the program will enter the camp and find members of the Pacific Northwest Living Historians busy making salt, as they boil sea water over a fire just as the men of the Lewis and Clark expedition did in 1806. The interpreters will also share the history and stories of the legendary expedition with everyone who comes to the beach.

Current guidelines regarding face coverings and open fires will be followed.

Seaside Museum photos provide glimpse into the past

Summer brings the Seaside Museum & Historical Society Annual Raffle fundraiser.

Proceeds from the raffle will help continue to refresh and add new exhibits to the museum.

As Buehlers leave, choral director is sought

After 12 years of outstanding service to the Cannon Beach Chorus and the North Oregon Coast communities, John Buehler and Susan Buehler have moved to Newberg to be closer to family. As music educators, they shared their many talents and love of music in schools, churches and the community.

The Cannon Beach Chorus is actively searching for a new director and accompanist to begin in September.

The former conductor of the Cannon Beach Chorus, John Buehler built the Cannon Beach Chorus to a rich 60-voice ensemble, as he also supported local high school choral programs and church music.

Susan Buehler was the consummate accompanist for the Cannon Beach Chorus. Both the Seaside Calvary Episcopal Church and the Cannon Beach Community Church benefited from her expertise on the organ. Local high school choral programs also enjoyed her piano accompaniment.

at the Trail's End gallery in Gearhart.

Stenberg began studying at the Academy of Art College in San Francisco and graduated with a bachelor's degree in Fine Arts from Northeastern State University of Oklahoma. In 2015, she earned her Masters of Fine Arts degree from the Academy of Art University.

The judged show is the only time during the year that are invited to submit artwork at the gallery, a nonprofit organization owned and operated by members.

The other top honor, the Mayor's Award, selected by Gearhart Mayor Kerry Smith, was given to Cecilia Henle for her work titled "Chickadee Fluffed." Henle's work, in ink, watercolor, pastel and oil, has been exhibited and collected across the U.S. and Europe for more than 20 years.

The Trail's End Judged Show attracted work from 54 artists around Oregon and Washington. The association is the longest active art organization on the North Coast.

Grants available for child care providers

Current and aspiring child care providers are invited to apply for a grant through the new program to help stabilize funding.

The program has been developed in response to the scarcity of child care options throughout Clatsop County. Grant money has come from the county, Providence Seaside Hospital and Columbia Memorial Hospital.

The grants are available to center-based or in-home providers looking after children from 6 weeks to 12 years old. For more information about the program online, visit nworegon.org/childcare-grants-program-in-clatsop-county.

For questions about completing the application, email the program manager at ClatsopChildCareGrants@gmail.com or Northwest Regional Child Care Resource and Referral at nwregionalecrrr@nwresd.k12.or.us.

The deadline to submit an application is 5 p.m. on Aug. 26.

Park district awarded grants

The Sunset Park and Recreation District was one of 15 organizations nationwide to be awarded a $90,000 Community Wellness Hub Grant from the National Recreation and Park Association.

The grant focuses on connections between community organizations and expanding access to healthy food. Increasing access to healthy food has long been a priority for the park district through the meals program and the Seaside Farmers Market.

In partnership with Meals on Wheels, the meals program provides over 20,000 meals annually to those in need.

This year the park district also partnered with Helping Hands Reentry Outreach to provide meals to the warming center in Seaside during colder months.

The district also received $100,000 from the Oregon Association of Education Service Districts through the Oregon Community Summer Grant Program. Funds go to youth program staffing and costs for K-5 summer camps and support scholarships for low income families to access these programs.

Funds enhance children's experiences through field trips and supplies for arts, social and emotional learning, outdoor and environmental education, science and sports and recreation activities.

County seeks input on geologic hazards

People are invited to take a survey to help the Clatsop County Community Development Department better understand the area's geologic hazards in the county's unincorporated areas.

The survey is part of an update to the mapping and regulations of the county's Geologic Hazards Overlay, the county said in a statement.

Pickleball lessons in Gearhart

Local pickleball enthusiast Meyer Freeman announced the launch of Playful Pickleball, offering friendly pickleball lessons for beginners and intermediate players in Gearhart and Astoria.

The fastest-growing sport in the nation with 4.8 million participants, pickleball has exploded in popularity over the past five years — driven by a short learning curve, exciting rapid-fire rallies and increased demand for outdoor social experiences.

Freeman began playing pickleball two years ago in Gearhart. Last year he teamed with Richard Marshall of Seaside to win the men's 4.0 doubles gold medal at the 2021 Dinko de Mayo tournament in Long Beach, Washington.

Survey participants can also weigh in on development regulations and requirements and offer their opinion on certificates of compliance and hazard disclosure statements. Residents and property owners are asked to share their concerns.

The survey will be live on the county website until Sept. 5, the county said. Reach out to Senior Planner Ian Sisson at isisson@co.clatsop.or.us or 503-325-8611 with questions.

'Run for Change' assists homeless

The fifth annual Run for Change, a beach run benefiting charity, will be held on Saturday, Sept. 3 at 9 a.m.,

with check-in beginning at 8 a.m.

The family-friendly race presented by the Sunset Empire Park and Recreation District begins on the beach at 12th Avenue and the Prom. Participants run the length of the beach to Avenue U and back to complete the 5K.

The goal for this year's Run for Change is to raise awareness about and benefit Helping Hands Reentry Centers, a local organization which assists the homeless.

Helping Hands offers emergency shelter and an opportunity to enter a long-term reentry program that leads to sustainable housing.

In the past, the park district and Helping Hands Reentry Centers have partnered to provide hot meals on Thanksgiving and meals for the warming center in Seaside.
