When life and death
are on the line...
so is Columbia 9-1-1.

*On November 12, 1996,
Jack Graff had some pain in his chest.
Worried it might be something serious,
his wife Mary dialed 9-1-1.*

She was right.

*Jack was having a heart attack.
With Mary on one end of the line and Columbia 9-1-1 on the other,
Jack received the help he so desperately needed.*

Now Mary Graff has one last thing to say to everyone at Columbia 9-1-1.

*"My husband wouldn't be here today without you.
How many times can you say thank you for that?"*

While aches and pains may be a fact of life,
sometimes they are also a warning.

Columbia 9-1-1 processes nearly 30,000 requests for help each year - many of which come from seniors or people caring for older adults.

If you have any questions about when you,
your parent or grandparent should call 9-1-1, please call 397-1521 or 1-800-696-7795.

Gladys' Family Cookbook is here!
Pick it up at The INDEPENDENT,
$8.00 per copy, or call 429-6541.
Makes a great gift for showers,
birthdays, or for no reason at all!
