

New system designed to block telemarketing calls to residences

A new service is available to Oregon consumers who want to limit the number of telemarketing calls they receive at home.

The "black dot" law formerly used has been replaced with the Oregon "No Call" List program. With some exceptions, telephone solicitors are prohibited from calling consumers who register with the program.

The exceptions are:

- If you asked the telemarketer to call;
  - If the call is on behalf of a public agency or charitable organization you belong to, or to which you have previously donated, or to which you expressed an interest in donating;
  - The call is a political poll or opinion survey unrelated to the marketing of property, goods or services;
  - The call is from a business you have patronized previously.
- Residential phone subscribers may register by calling the list administrator at 1-877-700-6622 to have a registration form mailed to their home.

Consumers may also visit the Oregon No Call website at www.ornocall.com.

The program requires a non-refundable registration fee of $6.50 for the first year and $3.00 per year for each additional year they remain on the list.

Registration forms may also be obtained by calling the Attorney General's toll-free consumer hotline at 1-877-877-9392 or 229-5576 in the Portland area. A list of the most frequently asked questions about the "No Call" program is available on the Department of Justice website, www.doj.state.or.us.

New version of Oregon Blue Book available online

The new online version of the Oregon Blue Book is now available.

The latest edition of the Blue Book contains several new features, including a page designed just for kids. Online users can now also access county and community profile information through a link to the Oregon Economic and Community Development Department web page. The Secretary of State's office is also in the process of providing links to information about the workings of individual state agencies. Soon the history, administrative rules, budget information, audit reports and public records of a particular agency will be available through the online Blue Book.

The Blue Book, published biennially since 1911, is Oregon's official government directory and encyclopedia of history and facts. The online edition can be seen at <http://www.bluebook.state.or.us>. The printed version will continue to be produced every two years.

Position open on Banks council

City Councilor Evelyn Maller has resigned from the Banks City Council. At a special City Council meeting on Feb. 22, the council received a letter from Maller which cited personal and family issues as the reasons for her resignation.

Mayor Ray Deeth will appoint a replacement, subject to the Council's approval. Interested persons should contact Banks City Hall prior to the next City Council meeting on March 14 at 324-5112.
