Black Tie and Blue Jeans will benefit for Columbia Tech Center

Columbia Foundation's fourth annual "Black Tie and Blue Jeans" benefit dinner and auction is set for Saturday, August 4, 2001 from 5:30 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. at the Deer Island Stock Ranch. The evening will feature piano music by Patricia Nash McAlister and a new, fun dance band, Cool Changes. Guests will enjoy a full dinner, assorted desserts, a no-host bar, raffle drawing, as well as live and silent auctions. Individual tickets go on sale June 1, 2001.

The Foundation board invites you to participate in this event to support the educational and community building activities of the Columbia Foundation. The Foundation offers community classes, leadership development seminars and free meeting space to the community. They provide internet service and free computer tech support.

Corporate tables are now on sale for $600. Friends tables ensure group seating for 8 individuals; cost is $480 ($60 per individual ticket). Attend and spend with a spouse or friend; individual tickets are $60 per person.

Corporate sponsors are also needed for the event. Sponsors donate $2,000 to $10,000 and receive promotional credits in various publications and forums.

The Foundation seeks generous donations from the community to create exciting auction and raffle packages.

The Columbia Foundation and Technology Center have special needs to raise funds in 2001. Support is sought to help pay for 20 new computers, new classes, lab scholarships and technology updates needed in the community.
