Food Preservation & Safety Hotline

If you plan to can vegetables, meats, fish, soups, stews and other low acid foods, it is necessary to use a pressure canner. If your canner is a dial gauge model, it needs to be tested for accuracy at least once a year.

For all of your questions about food preservation, the Oregon State University food preservation/safety hotline will be open July 16 through Oct. 19, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday (except holidays): 1-800-354-7319
