April Fools' concert will feature vacuum cleaners!!

Vacuum cleaners? Cell phones? A floor polisher? Rifles?

These will all become orchestral instruments in a program of musical wit, when the Oregon Symphony presents its April Fools' concert Monday, April 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the Arlene Schnitzer Concert Hall, with Resident Conductor Murry Sidlin.

A hilarious program of music chosen by Sidlin will include Malcolm Arnold's "The Grand, Grand Overture," originally composed for a one-night music festival dedicated to "funny" music. The work employs three vacuum cleaners, a floor polisher, rifle shots and assorted percussion instruments. It culminates in mayhem as the piece echoes Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture" and the rifles "silence" the vacuum cleaners one by one.

The program will also include a new version of Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf," called "Peter vs. the Wolf," in which the Wolf is on trial for "Duckicide," followed by Peter Schickele's (PDQ Bach) "Iphigenia in Brooklyn," a witty spoof of the cantata form for "bargain countertenor."

The concert will end with a performance of the renowned final movement of Hayden's "Farewell" Symphony, in which players sneak off the stage one by one by a variety of contemporary comical ruses that update Haydn's original instructions.

Ticket prices range from $19 to $57. They may be purchased at the Oregon Symphony Ticket Office, 923 S.W. Washington, Portland, Monday through Saturday, 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.; by phone at 503-228-1353 or 800-228-734; from Ticketmaster at 503-790-ARTS or Ticketmaster Online: www.orsymphony.org
