ALL FUNERAL HOMES ARE NOT THE SAME

We are finding that the traditional independent, family-owned funeral homes are being swallowed up by large chains or conglomerates. In Washington County alone, corporations own and control 70% of the funeral homes, including those in the communities of Hillsboro, Beaverton, and Tigard. The remaining three family-owned and operated, full service firms are in Forest Grove and Sherwood.

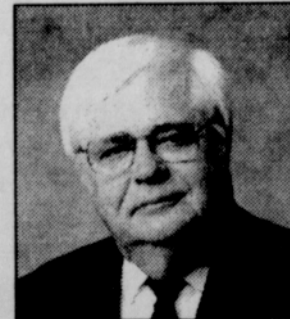

It may be difficult to know who owns a funeral home because the name does not change when a corporation buys the business. Corporations rely on the goodwill the previous owners have established in the community - goodwill which was created by quality service, community involvement, reasonable prices, and the owner's personal attention.

Forest Grove Memorial Chapel and Fuiten, Rose & Hoyt Funeral Home of Forest Grove and Vernonia are owned by the Rose and Hoyt families. We strive for quality, compassion, integrity and value in the service we provide. If you have questions or would like to know who owns a particular funeral home, please call us. We can honor funeral plans written by other funeral homes, and we are always available to provide information at no cost or obligation.
