Time to check headlight adjustment

When the rains fall and the sun is setting much sooner, the importance of properly working headlights is increased. Make sure all car lights work and work as they were designed. If you have lifted your truck, make sure the headlights are adjusted to meet original specifications. Headlights should not be aimed into the on-coming lane of traffic or too far down the road. This can cause other drivers to have wrecks. Before you lift the truck chassis you should note where the headlights hit on the ground in front and then adjust them to match that after the lift. If you have already lifted your truck, you can get the specifications from a dealer. Having maladjusted headlights violates section 811.515 of the motor vehicle code. Have a safe fall.

Oregon State Police

Aug. 30 - Benjamin Victorine, Robert Eide, Kennedy Ragsdale and John Ragsdale, all of Vernonia, while trespassing, unlawfully harvested a bull elk. Victorine was cited for unlawful taking of a bull elk and hunting on enclosed land of another. Eide and both Ragsdales were cited for aiding in a wildlife crime. The elk was seized.
