Learn to write or "Word" at home

Take advantage of a flexible schedule and discover the writer hidden within, in Portland Community College's upcoming online writing class.

If you've dreamed of writing creatively, the non-credit Beginning Writer's Workshop course is a great place to start. Instructor Ann Linquist will introduce students to the writing life and cover how to improve writing skills and new ways to stretch your creative muscles.

Working with a word processing program is essential in today's high tech environment. If you need to start from the beginning or just need to update your skills, Portland Community College will offer an online non-credit Word 2003 class this Word 2003: Level I shows students how to create and modify documents in Word 2003, the most popular wordprocessing program available. Join instructor Craig Power to learn the basics and quickly become proficient.

Held entirely online via the Internet, these six-week classes offer the flexibility to open lessons whenever your schedule allows and feature discussion boards with the instructor and other students. These classes will be offered May 17 through June 23. Cost is $85. To register, email ddavis@pcc. edu, or visit www.ourcourses cometoyou.com.

Although the weather wasn't cooperating on April 29, being wet and cool, the Bike Rodeo drew around 100 children and adults and was deemed a success by the police department.

Girls: Wear the Jamboree crown

The Vernonia Jamboree Committee wants to bring back the tradition of a Jamboree Princess Court to celebrate the 50th anniversary. Eligible participants are girls living in the Vernonia area who will be in high school (grades 9-12) during the 2006-07 school year, and who would proudly represent Vernonia during Jamboree weekend and at a few other summer community events.

Applications are available at

Vernonia High School and Middle School offices and at Vernonia City Hall. Applications must be turned in at City Hall by May 12, at 5:00 p.m.
