

Oregon Trail Rally comes back in April

The Oregon Rally Group will again be hosting the Oregon Trail Rally, Round 3 of the Rally America National Championship, in April 2007, including a day in Vernonia. This year the event is being expanded to cover four days, with press and fan events on April 19 and the rally itself on April 20-22.

April 19 sees a return of the popular Rally Fan Appreciation Day, an exhibition of rally cars in Portland's Pioneer Courthouse Square from 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. That same afternoon, selected drivers will be giving demonstration drives.

Friday afternoon sees the ceremonial start of the Oregon Trail Rally at Portland International Raceway (PIR). As with the 2006 event, this will include a mix of tarmac, gravel, dirt and grass, using portions of the motocross course and access roads as well as portions of the racing surface used in American Le Mans Series and Champ Car competition. The PIR stages end after dark, so rally fans will have the opportunity to see these exciting cars with full rally lights blazing through the night.

According to Scott Fisher, Oregon Rally Group Press Officer, "Due in no small part to Vernonia's graciousness in letting us set up there, the Oregon Trail Rally was selected as the 2006 Rally of the Year for the Rally America National Championship series. We're all proud, but we couldn't do it without the help of your town."

The Rally will be coming through Vernonia, and will announce the stages with spectator viewing in the area as the date nears.

This rally car showed up at the 2006 service area set up at Vernonia schools with a few more bumps and scrapes than it started with during that year's Oregon Trail Rally.
