

County Fair Board seat will open in '08

A position on the five-person board that oversees the Columbia County Event Complex and the annual Fair & Rodeo in St. Helens will be available at the end of the year. This volunteer position works collaboratively with four other board members to manage the 70 acre property and to oversee the Fair Administrator, who manages the day-to-day operations.

Applications will be accepted through the end of month at either the County Commissioners' office in the Columbia County Courthouse, or at the Event Complex. Candidates must have a genuine interest in the Event Complex and the Columbia County Fair & Rodeo, work well in a team environment, and be willing to serve a three year term. Current board members include Deloris Bellingham of Vernonia, Deb Parmley of Scappoose, Evelyn Hudson of Scappoose, Henry Heimuller of St. Helens and David Thompson Jr. of Clatskanie, whose term expires at the end of the year.

Although the Columbia County Fair generated over $74,000 in ticket sales this past year that isn't the only event held at the Columbia County Event Complex. Activities on the grounds happen throughout the year, which helps to support the complex and other local businesses and non-profits in the county.

The complex had 563 rentals last year (not including the fair), which is calculated by the number of activities on the grounds each day of the year, bringing in over 57,000 people. Activities include Little League and Youth Soccer games and practices, stock car races, and the rental of the buildings and grounds for both public and private events such as fundraisers and wedding receptions. Twenty-six organizations used the facility to raise funds that were directly reinvested into the community.

Currently, the Fair Board has negotiated a new contract with the Columbia County Racing Association and final drafts on lease agreements with the St. Helens Little League and Youth Soccer Association are in the works.

Little change in County job rates

Columbia County's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was essentially unchanged at 6.2 percent in October from the previous month (5.9%) and from one year before (5.8%). The rate was higher than the statewide rate (5.5%) and the national rate (4.7%).

Market-based approach is goal of Ecosystem Services Council

An alliance of business, environmental and government leaders in Oregon are joining forces to form the Ecosystem Services Council. These organizations represent the nation's first not-for-profit efforts to establish an ecosystem services marketplace – with the goal of organizing market-based efforts that promote clean air, clean water, land protection and habitat restoration. The work of the Council takes market initiatives beyond the frenetic energy of carbon markets to support investment in whole ecosystems.

Market-based efforts that encourage environmental restoration are growing rapidly at all levels. Globally, the World Bank estimates that $30 billion moved through carbon markets in 2006. In Oregon, an unmet demand of $30 million persists for the wetland mitigation credits necessary for future development. Locally, Clean Water Services, a public water-resources utility in Oregon, used market-based approaches to restore 35 miles of streams for $6 million instead of spending $60 million on industrial-engineering to meet water quality standards.

To unify these global, state
