Johnson will continue as Vernonia Interim administrator

With Vernonia's new City Council in place, the first regular city council meeting of the year took place on January 5. The only change to the council is that Kevin Hudson replaced Steve Whiteman. Mayor Sally Harrison and Councilors Randy Parrow and Kevin Hudson had already been sworn in at an emergency meeting on January 1. That meeting was necessitated by storm forecasts (see related story on recent weather events). Councilor Cindy Ball was elected council president. The council president presides over meetings whenever the mayor is unable to attend.

Kevin Hudson, above, is the newest Vernonia City Councilor.

Vernonia's Interim Chief of Police Mike Kay swore in the newest member of Vernonia's police force, Sean Carnahan. Carnahan had been volunteering as a reserve officer during December and went on the payroll as of January 1.

New members were appointed to city committees. Dan Brown and Sharon Parrow were re-appointed to the Planning Commission and a new member, Alan MacComb, was appointed. With these appointments, there is still one opening on the Planning Commission. Karen Wall-Mains was appointed to the Vernonia Community Learning Center Committee and Jerry Keenon and Scott Laird were re-appointed to the Parks Committee.

Michael and Jenny Skillin, who have been Anderson Park Hosts for about a month, told council they were unsure why they have been asked to leave and requested an extension. Interim City Administrator Jim Johnson told the Skillins that the City has decided to "look at a different direction" for park hosting and approved a 30-day extension for the Skillins to relocate.

After one letter from a multi-unit rental owner and one in attendance at the meeting told council that their utility bills went up $360.00 and $540.00, Johnson told council that this was caused by the city changing over to charge per equivalent dwelling unit (EDU) rather than per meter. Johnson agreed to send this issue back to the Public Works Committee for review.

In other business, council;

• heard that the second reading of the "dangerous building" ordinance would be delayed while the city attorney reviewed the impact of an existing ordinance (855) on this new ordinance.

• heard from Johnson that he will be able to continue as Interim City Administrator for up to another six months, if needed, while council continues work to hire a city administrator.

The next regular council meeting will be held January 19 at City Hall starting at 7:00 p.m.

Community relieved that preparations were not needed

dle School cafeteria, and about 170 citizens were given information about the preparedness measures that were in place. Shelters were ready if needed, school was cancelled for Thursday, January 8, to reduce traffic in case of high water. Citizen comments were positive about the efforts made to prepare, the CAN phone system and the public meeting.

When morning came on January 8, it was obvious that the storm had stalled over Washington, which experienced heavy flooding. Vernonia area residents heaved a sigh of relief as the Nehalem crested at 11 feet, again causing only minor flooding to low-lying areas. With that storm past, subsequent forecasts have been for mostly clear skies and no large storm systems.
