

Council tables sign ordinance for further study

The February 16 Vernonia City Council meeting started with council choosing Randy Parrow to act as Council President for 2010. It was also announced that two councilor positions, plus the mayor's position, will be up for a vote in November.

City Administrator Bob Young told council that changes to the proposed new sign ordinance will be held until after staff has reviewed the ordinance more and Paul Koch gives his Main Street presentation. City Attorney Jeff Bennett added that the sign ordinance is part of land use and, as such, is regulated by state land use rules, which require that criteria must be included for ways to appeal decisions made under the ordinance.

Mayor Sally Harrison added that, as part of the Main Street project, there will be Town Halls held for the public.

Police Chief Frank Grace told council that, "Police work is challenging and dangerous" and, "takes lots of training." He went on to say that the Vernonia officers are well trained and know how to do their jobs. Grace said he wanted, "to put wraps on the taser incident last year" and told council that the person who was tased recently pleaded no contest to attempted assault on a police officer and guilty to resisting arrest. "That puts this to rest," finished Grace.

Captain Mike Kay told council that there will be a concert with three bands on July 4, before the fireworks. He is calling this event, "Vernonia's Great American Bash," and would like to see a car show and motorcycle show that day also.

Young said that funds remaining from a grant for sewer, which was thought to be $200,000, has been found to be over $500,000, a happy occurrence.

In other business, council:

- approved the Mayor's appointment of Jill Hult to the Vernonia Community Learning Center committee;

- gave approval for the purchase of 16 fire rings (at $75.00 each) for Anderson Park. Council was told Parks SDC funds would be used for this purpose.

The next council meeting is scheduled for March 1, starting at 7:00 p.m. at City Hall.
