ty jail.

By contrast, a defendant in civil litigation is not incarcerated. In general, civil penalties only reimburse the plaintiff for losses caused by the defendant's behavior. Punitive damages are never awarded in a civil case under contract law. In a civil case, there is a possibility of punitive damages, if the defendant's conduct is really bad and had either (1) a malicious intent (i.e., desire to cause harm), (2) gross negligence (i.e., conscious indifference), or (3) a willful disregard for the rights of others.

Sheriff's deputies are authorized to execute the provisions of the law (civil and criminal), and may even use force when the use of that force is necessary to carry out their authorized actions. But
