The Pagan Hell.

By Henry M. Tichenor.

To own a slave and a master be, to rule for the passing hour, To ride on the backs of misery in the purple robe of power—For this are Caesar's ghostly wars, for this is the rich man made, And the victim's blood and the begger's sores are the coin of the savage trade!
For broad is the run of the Pagan hell, and little we've changed the pace; And the chasm in which the pagans fell still yawns in the self-same place;
And the beggar's sores and the crimson stains still reckon the destine cost,
And the victor settles his scridid gains in the wreck of a soul that's lost.
When we shall live the other creed, that the Christ man told us of,
And banish the demon god of greed for the beautiful God of love, The journey—never long at best—how glad will the journey be,
And the shades of night, and the soul at rest, and the stars of eternity.

Rome's Arrogant Claims.

The trouble with the Roman Catholic church is that it seeks to be both a church and a political party. Its arrogant claims of being the only true Christian church, intolerant, as they are, might be treated with indifference; but when for its head it asserts temporal power and civil authority, introducing itself by logical consequence into the political affairs of every country which it enters, a position is assumed which cannot be allowed any church whatsoever. If it must assume such a position, its members must not complain if it is met with political opposition not offered to any other church.
This is why such great men as Gladstone, Bismarck, Juarez, Diaz, Garibaldi, and the ruling statesmen in France have resisted its pretensions.

Since the Spanish-American War and the acquisition by the United States of colonies where Romanism has been the established religion, it has been more aggressive than ever in our political affairs. The peril of Romanism to our institutions is not an imaginary danger, conceived by the heated brains of fanatics; it is a real and constant menace.
It must be resisted in our country, as it has been resisted in England, Germany, France, Italy, Mexico, Portugal—as it has been resisted in every country where it has secured any considerable following. If it were willing to take its place as a church along with all the other churches, it would be improper to meet it with any other attitude than that in which we meet all the other churches; but it is not willing to be only a church.
Putting itself in a class to itself by its political animus, it must take all that such an improper position makes inevitable; it cannot claim the political exemptions of a church while it asserts political claims as well as churchly prerogatives.

Declare Priest Influenced Will.

Spokane, Wash.

Editor of Silverton Journal.

Here is an article I clipped from the Spokane Daily Chroni-cal, about a well fed priest at Butte, Montana. It shows their godly acts when it comes to robbing their members. What they say is all right, for a priest is (w)holy man.

Alleging undue influence on the part of Father A. R. Coop-man of Anaconda, in that while acting as her spiritual adviser and confessor, he drew up a will himself and caused her to sign it while she was on her deathbed, a number of heirs this morning petitioned the district court in Anaconda to set aside the will of Mrs. Kate Ruddan, the sister of the late Marcus Daly, copper king. Mrs. Ruddan died in Anaconda September 27, 1912, aged 65. In the petition, which was filed by attorney T. J. Walker and Frank C. Walker, the petitioning heirs state that the will was drafted by Father Coopman and that it was signed during the hours of the night five days before her death, at a time when her spiritual adviser had complete domination over her and when none of her kin was present.

In addition to asking the court to set aside the will, the petitioners pray that Father Coopman be removed as executor. The petition was presented to Judge Winston in Anaconda at noon today and the court entered an order citing Father Coopman to appear before him October 27.
While there are 13 heirs mentioned in the petition, the latter is brought on behalf of four.
Mrs. Mary Daly of Brooklyn, a sister of the deceased; Michael J. O'Farrell of Butte, a nephew, and Marcus and Charles O'Farrell, grandnephews. As the latter are under age, suit on their behalf is brought through Michael J. O'Farrell as guardian.

Among the heirs are: Mary Gerard of New York, a niece of the deceased and wife of the ambassador to Germany, $6000; Countess Harriet Sigra of Hungary, a niece, $1; Marcus Daly of New York, nephew, $1; Hon-ora Daly of County Cavan, Ireland, a sister, $1; Luke Daly of County Cavan, Ireland, a brother, $1; Mary O'Farrell, a sister, now known as "Sister Mary Victor," of Notre Dame, Ind., $1; three children of the late Madge Brown, a niece, $1 each. The children reside in New York.

The estate left by Mrs. Rud-den is estimated to be worth about $30,000. Under her will two-thirds of this goes to Father Coopman, $6000 to Mrs. Gerard and the remaining 12 heirs are cut off with $1 each.

Liquor Arithmetic.

"Boy at the head of the class, what are we paying for liquor as a nation?"

"$900,000,000 annually."

"Step up to the blackboard, my boy. First take a rule and measure this silver dollar. How thick is it?"

"Nearly an eighth of an inch."

"Well sir how many of them can you put in an inch?"

"Between eight and nine."

"Give the benefit of the doubt; call it nine. How many inches would it require to pile these $900,000,000 in?"

"100,000,000 inches."

"How many feet would that be?"

"8,333,333 feet."

"How many rods is that?"

"505,050 rods."

"How many miles is that?"

"1,578 miles."

"Miles of what?"

"1,578 miles of silver dollars, laid down, packed closely together, our national liquor bill would make. This is only one year's grog bill."

Boys, if you need facts about this temperance question, nail that to a post and read it occasionally. It would take ten men with scoop shovels to throw away money as fast as we are wasting it for grog.—Christian Observer.
